AND THEY STILL KEEP AT IT.

Doing more business than they ever did before. Say, Jim, do you know what makes it? No. I do not know! Everybody says the times are harder than they ever saw them. Well, Jim, will tell you what I think keeps their store cowded an the time. Well I wish you would tell me: other merchants can do it. Well it is simply this, they do business on the one price system and they buy their goods with the bard cash and get them so cheap they can make prices that other merchants can't reach. Say, Jim, do you know one of the firm has been in New York nearly one month buying the bigest bargains you ever saw. He has learned all the holes and corners where there is bargains to be found. He struck an auction where they were selling a lot of goods that insurance companies were having sold and stepped in and bought. A big lot of fine Kid Gloves that the merchants sold for $1.00, now they will sell them to you for 33c for ladies and 29c for men. A lot of remnants in black Satteen at 3 and 5c per vard A fine line of Silk Scarfs for Gentlemen for 10c each. A fine line of Boys' and Girl's Tamashanta Caps for 25c, worth elsewhere $1.00. One thousand five hundred Women's French Felt Hats at 10c each. Four hundred snow white French Felt Hats for $5c. A whole stock of Ribbons for fully half price for 3c per vard. Forty rolls of the best seamless Matting at 10c per yard. A fine line of Window Shades at 20c. 25 and 35c, these Shades are extra cheap. Well it would do you good to look over their Dress Goods and see what nice selections they have. All grades of light weight and colored in Spring Goods. All the Crincle Crepes. Fine Satteens, all colors, from 81/2 to 20c. Fine Ginghams from 4 to 9c. A lovely line of Silks for Ladies from 29 to 40c. They have everything you want in Dress Goods, from the cheapest to the best. I tell you, Jim, that is why they are doing such fige cash business. They carry what the people want and prices that the people can buy at. Well if that is the case we will do our trading with them altogether in the future. Say, Sally, where did you say that place was at. Why it is on Front street, opposite the Market House.

Stole Twenty Fowls. At an early hour Sunday morning thieves raided the poultry house of Mrs. H. D. Gilbert, who resides on Fifth between Dock and Orange streets and carried off twenty fine fowls, not even leaving the old rooster to announce the approaching dawn. Although the poultry louse is very near the dwelling the movements of the thieves were not heard. Mr. Robert M. Gilbert, whose business keeps him down town very late Saturday nights, did not reach home until after midnight, and although he passed within a few feet of the poultry house, there was nothing to excite his suspicions; and it is presumed the theft was committed some time after he re-

School House Burned. The public school building for white children in Pender county, near Cowpen's landing on Northeast river, some fourteen miles from Wilmington, was destroyed by fire last Monday night. Everything in the house-school furniture and books-was also burned. The school term was to end to-day and teachers and pupils had made extensive preparations for an entertainment, to which many persons had been invited.

The cause of the fire is not known. New Infantry Tactics. Capt. T. W. Jones, the U. S. Army officer in charge of the North Carolina State Guard, says the News and Observer, says that the "new tactics" for infantry which were adopted some three years ago may soon be superseded by a still later set. Col. Otis. U. S. A., has been for some time experimenting in this direction at Fort Sheridan, Chicago. The ements have not yet been given out, and are awaited with interest by military men.

The Building and Loan Bill. The Charlotte News says: "The building and loan people of Charlotte are very much exercised over the bill that was published in the News a few days ago, and that is said to be the bill as passed by the Legislature. Mr. Wittcowsky says that if it is the bill passed. then it was railroaded through, and the bill as finally agreed upon and signed by all parties concerned was stolen and the objectionable bill smuggled through in its place." A Grand Successs!

This was the general verdict by all regarding the last grand opening of the dry goods firm of Katz & Polvogt. They intend to surpass all previous eftorts this week. Their opening takes place Thursday and Friday evenings, 8 to 10 o'clock. The firm will welcome all their friends and patrons.

MESSRS. EDITORS-The committee appointed by a mass meeting of Democrats, representing all shades of that faith were sent to Raleigh to assist our Representative there in defeating the amendment to our city charter. The result of that visit has become history. They regarded it their duty to make a report to those who sent them and in doing so, they could not make a true and faithful statement without reflecting upon the fidelity of the man who had Kenansville, are in the city on a visit to been sent there as the exponent of the political views held by Democrats and to stand between us and the vampires who would suck the blood from the veins of our State and municipality and restore us to the thraldom of the reconstruction period. In making such report we indulged in no epithet. We simply stated facts as they occurred in as plain terms as possible, leaving those interested to draw their own conclusions. But Mr. McClammy, in his reply in Sunday's papers characterizes this report as "unwarranted" and "unjust." He is unfortunate in the the use of his adjectives, because he can but admit that it was not only warranted, but our duty as a committee to make a report; and we respectfully submit to any person with discernment that he has not disproved a single charge made nor has he established the existence of malice in a single phrase, word or illustration in the entire report-therefore in the nature of things it could not be "unjust." The fact is, if the truth is known, his objection to the article is that it is too just, frank and faithful to suit him; therehe could not answer it. It the absolute unvarnished truth and that is what hurts. The committee consisted of four, three of whom were his political allies in the last election, and contributed as much of their means, influence and personal work to his election as any other three in the city, and for personal reasons as well as political had a right to expect hearty cooperation from him in any scheme which they might propose to him, especially when they represented a mass meeting of Democrats. But on the contrary, we assert here, what we did not in our report, that at no time did he voluntarily confer with us, never a single time came to our room, though he was invited, but systematically avoided us, and it was with the greatest difficulty we could get him to talk with us coherently on the subject. We understand very well that he may claim that we have no right to put our construction on his conduct; but we say that we have had sufficient dealings with men to know when they are sincere in their professions and especially when the actions are exactly the reverse of the professions. "Actions speak louder than words." Now as to the charges which

Mr. McClammy has avoided. We charged him with not showing sufficient interest in the welfare of our city to be present at the committee meeting on Monday morning when the amendment to our charter was being discussed. He says there were Demo crats. Populists and Republicans or that committee. He knew that the bill had already passed the Senate, and had been brought over to the House, and he could have made arrangements with the committee to have a hearing when the consideration of the bil came up-had he felt so disposed, yet he either did not know it was in session or did not feel sufficient interest to be present. In either case he is culpable, but we think his subsequent conduct justifies the belief that he did not care to be there, for it is well-known that these meetings are public, and well advertised, and the man who does not know what is going on, is either physically or mentally incapacitated. It matters not to him, and affords him no excuse, if it was our opinion that "it was a foregone conclusion before the committee: he should have fought to the death this proposition to turn over our city to our political ene He says that there was a unanimous report by the committee in favor of the amendment." We repeat emphatically that it is all the more shame to him that he was not there to explain to the Democrats and Populists the true intenand meaning of the act. We have understood that Judge Russell was there and made about a two-minutes' speech and said that it was a very harmless little affair and was not objectionable to anyone. We charged that he made the impression on Democrats, Populists and Republicans alike that he was in favor of the bill, and we prove this by showing that he used the same argument against t that French did for it, and cited two instances—one Republican who had voted with us and against the amendment, who after a private conversation with McClammy changed his vote and one other member who had intended voting against the amendment, after consulting with McClammy, voted stood up like a true and honest man, and for it. He treats this vital issue with a lence in his reply, because he knows it is the truth and can be verified. We charged him with having promised the committee that on the third reading that we should have half an hour in which to discuss the merits of the bill, (which had never been done) but he avoids saying why French called the previous question immediately upon the announcement of the bill. Was it for the purpose of extricating him from the awkward and perilous position he had assumed, or did he make the positive statement to the committee that we would be allowed the half hour for debate, without the right to do so? In either case the committee were deceived and Democratic interests suffered correspondingly. In reply to the reference to Mr. Boney, it is evident that it was for the purpose of deflecting the mind from the main question and to stir up strife between the conflicting elements of the Democratic party, and we will not be a party to this scheme. We will only reassert that we made no compromises, nor did we make any promises inconsistent with Democratic faith.

We are for unity. As regards the last sentence of Mr. McClammy's card, we would only say that it is no argument; it is neither premise nor conclusion. It is simply a man of straw erected by himself for the purpose of tearing down himself, and he proceeds to do so in his characteristic manner and language, and then sits down exhausted, feeling that by this one fell blow he had knocked the props from under the report of the committee, and it must of necessity tumble. When it comes to a question of veracity between the five persons concerned, we are going to let our neighbors and friends decide, and we will be willing before the decision is made to give bond, the one for the other, with all our worldly effects, and be satisfied with their verdict.
