Mr. Crisp says that financial legislation must in its nature be in the way of an experiment, and candidly admits that there is a good deal in that question which he has not mastered. This is an exhibition of modesty on the part of Mr. Crisp in striking contrast to the egotism of those who know it all.

Senator Allison, whom the Republicans of Iowa are booming for the Presidential nomination, says he can't see where President Cleveland stands on the silver question. Perhaps Mr. Allison would oblige an inquiring public to let it know where he stands on that question, for although he has done some talking on it he hasn't said yet.

There is a squabble in the Patent office at Washington over a machine that will grind out five miles of cigarettes a day, running the tobacco out in a continuous little twist, wrapping it with paper, aud cutting it off the desired lengths. The Greensboro Record has been enlarged from a six to a seven column paper, an evidence of prosperity upon which we congratulate it, and on which it deserves to be congratulated, for it has earned it. There is no better afternoon paper published in North Carolina. Many attempts have been made to establish daily papers in Greensboro, but the Record s the only one that has succeeded, day. which is another proof of its solid merit.

An Indiana couple which recently had a triplet addition of girls to the family, and called them respectively Ruth, Esther and Frances, were presented by Mr. Cleveland with $500 to help educate the girls if they live. This is practical and substantial encouragement of one of the infant industries anyway.

[Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., May 9-The Confederate Monument was suc the beginning of the end of the whole cessfully unveiled yesterday. A photograph was taken of it and the white covering replaced in a very short time.

The work was highly successful. Friday being a State holiday, all State buildings and banks will be closed. The exercises here will be very appropriate. Capt. C. B. Denson will deliver an address on the Life and Character of Gen. W. H. C. Whiting. The speaking will be at Metropolitan Hall where some of the best vocalists in the city will participate in the ceremony. A procession will be formed, including the Governor and his staff, prominent citizens, city officers, and military organizations, which will proceed to the cemeteries where Confederates are buried and decorate the graves.

Mr. Augustus Bradley, a prominent pharmacist, writes an open letter taking to task Dr. John B. Carr for holding the position of pharmacist at the Insane Asylum. Mr. Bradley accuses Dr. Carr of evading the spirit of the law in holding the position of pharmacist. He also calls on him to resign.

The concert Friday night promises to be one of unusual importance. Many artists from different Southern States will be here to participate. Mitteldorfer, the Richmond decorator, began to ornament the stores today with bunting, flags, etc. Those decorated make a handsome appearance. The executive committee of the State Fair meets here to-night. Mr. J. S. Carr, the President of the Association. is already here. Unless the citizens of Raleigh put up $2,500 there will probably be no State Fair. It is thought that the amount can be secured with some effort on behalf of the managers.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. T. Cook's case was not near so strong a one as Ewart's. Mr. Robert Stiles, of Richmond, the attorney for the Western Union, has asked the Clerk of the Supreme Court for an entire copy of the record of the Leavel vs. the W. U. T. Co. It will be remembered that the Supreme Court decided against the telegraph company charging 50 cents for a message from here to Elizabeth City. The company has never complied with the Court's decision, and the officers have been summoned to appear before the Railway Commission on the 21st, for contempt. The action case is thought to be the first step towards carrying the matter to the United States Supreme Court. Mr. W. C. McMackin, the newly elected Street Commissioner for the City of Raleigh, has not accepted the position, and he says, he thinks he will not do so. Mr. McMackin is at present at the head of the construction of roads for the township on a larger salary than he
