MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS Of the Carolina Inter-State Building and

The meeting was called to order by Charles E, Borden, president, who proceeded to appoint a committee, to verify Hoge, M. Cronly and E. S. Tennant. The committee reported 1,548 shares the chairman announced that the direcrepresent the absent stockholders.

Messrs. John D. Bellamy and D. A. Covington made the point and contended that such appointment could not be made, a majority of the Board of Directors not being present. The charter requires nine directors, and only four directors were present. The point was also made that the meeting could not be made a formal meeting, and that only an informal discussion of the affairs of the Association been represented at the annual meeting of charge. in July, and hence no adjourned meeting could be held legally.

The chairman overruled these points. The report of the committee on proxies was adopted and the meeting declared organized for business, a quorum being secured by the appointment of proxies for absent stockholders by three of the directors. The annual report and statements were read and adopted. The chair announced that since the call for the adjourned meeting had been issued a temporary receiver of the Association had been appointed, and therefore resolutions were introduced to allow the directors to wind up the Association's affairs upon a plan out-- Mr. W. NAVAL RESERVES.

Ready for the Cruise-The Amphitrite Wil Arrive To-day at Southport. The Naval Reserves are ready to go on the cruise of 1895. The Wilmington Reserves will lead off by assembling this afternoon at their Armory, going aboard and taking charge to prepare for the visiting companies. The W. N. & N. R. R. has offered free transportation to visiting reserves.

Lieut. W. J. Griffin, of the Elizabeth City Reserves, telegraphs that he will arrive to-day. He was the former commander of the Pasquotank Rifles. A letter has been written to Governor Carr and Adjutant General Cameron, asking them to meet the Amphitrite in Wilmington, but no answer has so far been received. The Amphitrite will arrive here to-day, and Capt. Harper, the navigator for the battalion, has been detailed to meet her at Southport.

Commander Wise, of the Amphitrite, wrote Commander Winslow as to the possibilities of coming up to Wilmington, and to suggest a programme for the reserves while on board his ship each morning. He suggests that the Naval Battalion join the Amphitrite at Southport, in order to give them training more conveniently in target practice. Of course Commander Winslow, the Reserves and the entire community would rather have them come to Wilmington, but nothing is certain. An exact programme will not be determined upon until the Amphitrite arrives, and her coming to the city depends upon the decision feached by Commander Wise, who has everything in charge.

Yesterday afternoon while a crowd of Naval Reserves and others were on board the monitor Nantucket, a pet dog owned by Mr. Fred Harper suddenly showed symptoms of hydrophobia and soon cleared the deck, snapping and biting at every one within reach. After making a tour of the hurricane deck, the dog plunged to the lower deck and thence to the river, but was caught by a negro named Joe McNeil, who carried him to the corner of Front and Church streets, where he was compelled to release the dog, owing to its frantic efforts to bite him. The dog was shot later in the evening.

PROBABLY A MURDER.

Death of Sarah Sweat, Colored, Suppose to Have Been Caused By Irjuries Received at the Hands of Edward Dickson. Colored.

Coroner Jacobs will hold an inquest o-day upon the body of a colored woman, Sarah Sweat, wife of William Sweat, who died yesterday under circumstances which lead to the belief that her death resulted from violence at the hands of Edward Dickson, colored. The Sweats live on Campbell street near Ninth, and Dickson boarded with them, Last Tuesday night while Sweat was absent from home, his wife and Dickson had a dispute about the latter not paying his board. Dickson knocked the woman down, and notwithstanding her delicate condition, beat her so severely that she was compelled to take to her bed, where she remained until her death. Dickson was arrested several days ago on a warrant for assault and battery, issued by Justice Bunting on complaint of Sweat, and was released under bond.

And Warns Planters to Hold Back Their Crop and Not Be Frightened by the Eight Million "Bugaboo." [New Orleans Times Democrat.]

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 25 .- Hon. Hector D. Lane, President of the American Cotton Growers' Protective Association, arrived in the city this morning from Mobile, where he has been in attendance upon a meeting of Alabama's Commissioners of Cotton States' Exposition at Atlanta, of which board Mr. Lane is general manager for Alabama, Upon being asked as to the condition of the cotton crop, the market, etc., Mr Lane made the following reply:

"I am very glad that you suggested this subject. It is one of intense interest to the South, and in which I am exceedingly interested, especially so occu pying the position that I do as president of the Cotton Growers' Protective Association. I have just read with a great deal of interest, not unmixed with some surprise, Mr. H. M. Neill's letter of July 20th, to The Times-Democrat. This has been looked for for some days, as it is well known that Mr. Neill periodically perpetrates just such, about the opening of the cotton market every year. Mr. Neill is a 'bear," the pet bear of a coterie of speculative gamblers and English manufacturers; and his gyrations are annually costing impoverished Southern planters millions of dollars of their hard earnings. He is now paving the way with all the astuteness of the professional to frighten farmers by using between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000 crop

"bugaboo" into marketing their whole crop in the early months, receiving then what they can get from the hands of their masters, but later when the practical demonstration comes of the production, ond the crop is safely in the hands of the speculator and manufacturer to see values rise a cent and one-half or "Mr. Neill naively remarks in his letter in reference to decreased acreage, 'that there was so much noise made that speculators took hold of the market and ran it up, and thus induced the planter to reconsider and plant more.'

"This coming from Mr. Neill should certainly be a warning to cotton grow ers of the cunning and the methods practiced by speculators. I called this turn on these gentlemen last Spring and addressed a letter to the cotton growers of the South, advising them that this was a trick and a device to circumven a decrease of the acreage, and as Mr. Neill now frankly admits that such was true, coming as it does from 'their friend the enemy,' I hope in future they will heed such warnings,

"Mr. Neill advises the world that Texas has only decreased her acreage per cent. The speculators were just little late in their efforts to prevent a decrease as far as relates to Texas, for they had substantially planted their crop when values commenced to rise have spent five weeks in Texas since the planting season commenced, and I state without fear of honest contradiction that the decrease in that State is not less than 16 per cent. Mr. Neill accepts Texas as a criteron, In view of this fact, I shall make a trip to Texas in the next tew days and shall investigate the conditions to my own personal sat-

"To my mind to make an 8,000,000 crop superior weather to last year's phenomenal conditions must prevail hereafter. Killing frosts must be two weeks to one month late, and without such conditions the crop may be easily under

7,500,000, if not 7,000,000. "Europe will take this past year, 6,800, 000 America's cotton, while North and South America, Canada and Mexico will take 3,100,000 bales, and with improving trade America will surely take 3,300,000 bales, which would leave only 4,700,000 bales for export, even if 8,000,000 was raised, which is practically impossible. If the crop is only 7,250,000, then less than 4,000,000 would be available for ex-

"A scramble for cotton would set in such as has not been seen since 1870, as Europe is entirely dependent on the South for her supplies of raw cotton, as statistics show that her importation this year from India, Egypt, Brazil, etc., is only equal to 1,600,000 bales of American cotton. "The manufacturers of Europe are selling their goods months and months ahead without protecting themselves by the purchase of raw cotton, expecting that the necessities of the planter will force him to sell at any price that the mill owners and speculators choose to

"Now, I advise and sincerely hope that the cotton growers will move their crop on the market just as slowly as they can possibly afford, and not allow themselves to be terrorized into rushing t all on the market during the early months, but to hold back 25 to 50 per cent, of what they usually market, and thus by a judicious distribution we will realize handsome returns.'

The Quarantine Station.

The station will occupy a are a guarantee of the Company's space one way between the upper end of Battery Island and Prince's creek light, on the east side of the channel. The pier, which will be six hundred feet in length, will run north by northwest, and be in water from eighteen inches to twenty feet in depth.

In the contract, as let by the Government, the attendants and medical quarters are not included in the bid. The station to be constructed will consist o a pier, above mentioned, a hospital build-An artesian well will be sunk at the station, and both the flow and character of water coming from this well will be noted with interest.

Mr. Frank Baldwin, the contractor, is here and will this week have four test piles driven, in order to determine the length of the piles necessary to be used. CAROLINA MUTUAL Fire Insurance Company, of Charlotte, N. C.

The CAROLINA MUTUAL is a strong NORTH CAROLINA Company. It is, however, a stock company, and issues absolutely non-participating and non-assessable policies. Its mutual feature consists in a charter provision, that one-third of its directors must be POLICY-HOLDERS who are NOT stockholders elected by the POLICY-HOLDERS; this is a very strong point, the policy-holders who have great interests at stake, have a share in the management of the Company, and will always know its condition Better than this, the CAROLINA MUTUAL deposits all premiums received at this agency to their credit with the WILMINGTON SAVINGS AND TRUST COMPANY.
