Base Ball To-Day.
To-day is the day for a great game of ball, so the cracks say. The Confidence team, which won the last game, is anxious and willing to play the Wilmington team, which has been crippled by the boys leaving for school, but the following team has been selected to compete with the Confidence team, which is well known: James Allen, catcher; Wright, of Seattle, Wash.; and Brown, of Savannah, pitcher; Furlong, 1st base; Graham, 2nd base; Johnson, 3rd base; Bray, short stop; Reynolds, left field; Beery, center field; Oldham, right field; Stevens, Delano and other good players, substitutes.

The Confidence team has Zellers, catcher; Watson, pitcher, and an exceedingly strong team. This is the last game of the season, and the price of admission has been reduced to fifteen cents. Mr.
Brown, of Savannah, and Mr. Wright, formerly of Wilmington, will do the grand act for the Wilmington team, as pitchers, and a first class game can be expected.

An Atlanta, Ga., mill man purchased a bale of new crop cotton this year. He knew it was not thoroughly dried and sunned, but he took it for an experiment. The bale weighed 339 pounds.
He had it opened and sunned and then re-baled. This time it weighed only 500 pounds, having lost the 89 pounds by sunning. He admits that the loss in weight in this particular instance is an exceptionally heavy one, but it points a moral.

Weather Bureau Report.
The cool wave mentioned as in the Northwest Thursday moved almost due east, and was felt extensively yesterday morning in the upper Mississippi valley, Lake region and in the New England States, while the temperature changed very little in other localities. Very light rains have fallen in the lake region, especially along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, with generally clear weather in all other sections of the map. The weather conditions generally clear in nearly all sections of the cotton belt, except near the coast, where light rains are reported. The indications are for fair weather in this vicinity to-day, with slightly cooler temperature.

New Steamship Line.
The New York Maritime Register, of the 11th inst., says: "Austro-American Regular Steamship Line Between Austria and America" is the name of the new company, the sailing programme of which has been approved by the maritime authorities at Trieste. The service will commence with the present cotton season, and the American ports of call will be New Orleans, Galveston, Mobile, Brunswick, Savannah, Charleston, Wilmington, Norfolk and Newport News.
The sailings at first will be at intervals of about six weeks' duration."

For the Penitentiary.
Sheriff Walker of Brunswick county, passed through Wilmington yesterday for Raleigh with two prisoners for the State penitentiary, tried, convicted and sentenced at the term of court just closed in Southport. One of the prisoners, Lorenzo Gibbs, colored, has seven years to serve for manslaughter, and the other, R. S. Hewitt, white, is sent upper months for obtaining goods on false pretences.

City Court.
Mayor Fishballe presided in the City Court yesterday morning.
Rose King and Sarah Walker, colored women, found guilty of disorderly conduct, were each sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00, or work twenty days on the streets.

Alice Sampson and Malissa Pigford, both colored, and both disorderly characters, were fined $10 each, or to work twenty days on the streets.

Minister Ransom.
Minister Ransom, the Charlotte Observer says, passed through this city yesterday morning on the venetian "Veal" at last on his return to Mexico. He talked with several people whom he knew about the station, and seemed in good spirits. Surprise was expressed that some of his friends were not down is the greatest exhibition ever yet conducted, comprising some fifty odd caravans.

SITUATION IN COTTON
Becoming Decidedly Mixed at New Orleans and New York—Crop Accounts from the Southwest Show No Improvement—Contingencies That Will Determine the Course of the Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.
DEAR SIR:—In our letter of last week the stock of cotton at Fall River should have been stated as 114,979 bales, instead of 144,879, as erroneously printed.

So much has been said, and well said, on the subject of the consumption of American cotton in the world that it seems a pity to call attention to the estimates furnished by the Chronicle in its annual review of the cotton market.

It has been generally stated that the consumption of American cotton ranged from 9,700,000 bales to 10,000,000 bales.
The Chronicle estimates the entire consumption of all growths, on page 408, at 13,579,000 bales of 400 pounds. If these bales were all American, at 500 pounds each, the consumption would represent 10,069,500 bales of 400 pounds.

There are just as many people looking for houses to rent this year as ever. If you have a vacant house to

SILVER CONVENTION
ALL THE TALK NOW IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH.

Loose Harris Tells What He Thinks He Knows About It—Walter Stone's Embellishment—Tobacco Break—Pilot Otto Mills Enlarges.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 13, 1895.
Silver is all one can hear these days.

I had an interesting talk with J. C. Logan Harris, one of the old time Republicans, who first favored the Fusion movement. Mr. Harris said that he had been misquoted in reference to carrying fifty negroes to the Silver Convention.

He said that a number of leading negroes had written him asking if they were invited and if they could attend. His reply was that they were invited as much so as anybody and he advised them to be here. Furthermore, stated that he knew of several leading colored men who were ardent silverites and that they would be on hand.

Mr. Harris was asked as to the importance of the convention and what he thought would be the outcome of it.

He said that the meeting is naturally an important one. I understand that it is the intention of those who are getting up the convention to come here and pass resolutions declaring that they will vote for no national candidates, members of the Legislature, etc., unless they are honest silver men.

Continuing, Mr. Harris said that such action would not amount to a row of pins. "If they are honest and sincere, they will do more than that. Your correspondent was asked to learn his ideas of American cotton was in 1894, 958,884,631 bales, to be increased or diminished by the portion of American cotton used in Europe, which is naturally determined by the price, as compared with that of other growths.

In anticipation of an unfavorable Bureau report, our market advanced rapidly during the early part of the week covered by this letter, but upon its publication, the market fell back and a decline so rapid that the greater portion of the advance has been lost, and the local trade is at fault as to the future course of the market. Crop accounts from the South show no improvement, in fact, they show some complaint, where a short American crop was expected to bring high prices. Therefore, the situation is becoming decidedly mixed, as New Orleans and New York are both at higher prices than the spinner at home or abroad is willing to pay for cotton, and an unwelcome portion of the early receipts is being pointed towards these two markets. If the spinner becomes alarmed at the prospect of a crop less than 10,000,000 bales, then he will be obliged to enter the markets in competition with the speculator. On the other hand, if the anxiety of the planter to raise prices forces him to reduce the sale will create the impression that the damage to the crop has been overestimated, he will naturally take a more liberal view of cotton as possible, and the strength of the faith in ultimately higher prices will be tested. In the meantime, the front prices for cotton are being so closely watched, as an early frost would be more disastrous now than for many years.

The Charlotte Observer gives this account of the game played Thursday:

"Yesterday's ball game between Wilmington and the Quicksaves was 'a comedy of errors.' Almost every ball hit was productive of a fumble or wild throw, and often both. It was the worst exhibition of the kind ever seen here, and it is hoped it will never be repeated. The Quicksaves won by a score of 14 to 18, after apparently losing it in the first three innings. With the score 10 to 3 against them at the end of the third inning the Quicksaves played an uphill game, finally winning as above stated."
