Floured

A flour covered battalion of small boys moved along the Western boulevard, near Ninety-second street, yesterday afternoon, that would have proved an inspiration to any artist. A little chap of five years had been commissioned to purchase a paper bag of flour at the corner grocery, 'and as he was on his way home he dropped the parcel, and his wails summoned a flock of sympathizing and diminutive friends, who rallied to the rescue. There were only three pounds of flour in the bag to begin with, and perhaps never since flour was invented has so small an amount covered such an area. Every chap scooped up what he could in his little grimy hands, and during the operation the 5-year-old looked or hopefully. Flour never looked so white before, and he had no idea there was so much flour in the world, for although there were six friends they couldn't begin to lift it all with their 12 small black paws. The baby brain grasped the hopeless truth. and with renewed wails he directed his erring and flour tipped toes home-

Spectators gathered all along the line as this miller's brigade moved up the street. The loud ories testified to the boy's distress and were responded to by the mother, who grasped the situation at once. When she laughed everybody laughed, and then everybody threw away flour, and everybody brushed everybody, and the wind blew the rest of i away.

The sun came out, and that was all.-New York Press.

Nichols As a Christian name Nicholas positively came over with the conqueror. He landed in the parish of St. Nicholas, at Pevensey. Domesday book contains only one Nicolas, undisfigured as yet by that intrusive aspirate, which has also taken undue posseswhere we must see the great cathedral, and then to London for a day, and up to York and so to Edinburgh for Sunday. Then through the Trossachs by and over Loch Katrine and Loch Lomond to Glasgow and thence, with a break at the English lakes, to Liverpool, again arriving on Friday, and setting sail on Saturda afternoon for home. This trip is not recommended to inv lids, but people in reasonably rugged health are quite equal to it. There are no long railway journeys in it, as we count length. The trip might be made more comfortable by leaving out the Scotch part of it and staying longer in some of the continental towns.

All this, however, will serve only as a first suggestion. The wise traveler will provide himself with guidebooks, and with these experienced counselors he will map out his own journey in his own way. That indeed is one of the chief delights, for one of the most interesting parts of every well planned European trip is the joy of getting ready .- Pittsburg Dispatch.

Irrepressible

There are ludicrous as well as pathetic incidents in courtrooms, as Mr. Joseph Willard, who was clerk of Massachusetts courts for many years, bears witness in a recent volume. One of the funniest as well as one of the noisiest scenes in which he ever took part was when a certain Mr. H- was trying a case before Judge ____, for slander His principal witness was an impetuous

Irish woman. She talked so fast that Judge C---- could not write down har testimony and attempted in vain to check her. "Stop! Stop!" he cried again and again. rapping sharply on his desk. But the torrent of words went on. "Old woman, hush up!" he shouted in exasperation But it was useless. At last he threw down his pen, exhausted, and cried out, "There, Mr. H-, you set her going, now stop
