THE NAVAL RESERVES

Lieut. Winslow's Case—agreed before the Supreme Court for the Plaintiff by Mr. George Rountree—The State's Contention.

RALIGH, March 13.—In the Supreme Court here to-day argument was begun in the case of Francis Winslow against Gov. Carr. Winslow is a retired naval officer who commanded the North Carolina Naval Reserves and whose commission was revoked by the Governor, "for the good of the service."

Winslow applied for a permanent injunction to restrain the officer next in command from promulgating the order and removing him. In the Starruck, a few days ago, declined to grant such injunction and Winslow appealed. George Rountree, his counsel, argued to-day that the Governor has not the power to revoke a commission, save in time of war, unless upon the abandonment of the organization, or upon the finding of a court martial or court of inquiry. Counsel for the State will argue that there is no precedent in the books for such action as this; that the Governor has power to revoke the commission, as the Naval Reserves, constituting part of the State Guard, are always on a war footing, liable to be called into service at any moment. The revocation of Winslow's commission, it will be further argued, was not a dishonorable discharge, but was done because he was antagonistic to the Adjutant General and his feelings made him insubordinate.

THE COLD WAVE

It probably caused Great Damage to Truck Farms South of Wilmington.

The cold wave lowered the temperature yesterday morning in the Wilmington section to 36 degrees. The Weather Bureau reported frost south to Pennsylvania, Florida, with freezing temperature in the Carolinas and Georgia.

There was no frost here, a high wind prevailing Wednesday night and yesterday morning. But the conditions last night indicated frost this morning.

No advice was received yesterday as to the effects of the cold wave and frost south of Wilmington; but the damage must have been serious to truck growers in Florida, Georgia and even South Carolina. The Charleston News and Courier says one day or two ago said, "the Florida planters are already shipping at big prices. The Charleston truck farmers have already planted their potato crops and they are now putting down the bean crop. The berries are fruiting and it is expected that both crops may bear. The fields are alive with people killing up for cucumbers, melons, squash, mangoes and many other plants which the soil gives to the industrious farmer."

The steamer Commodore. The alleged filibustering steamer Commodore left Charleston, S. C., yesterday morning, loaded with arms and ammunition. A Press dispatch to the STAR says: The Commodore went to sea a few minutes after 7 o'clock a. m. She left her dock two days ago with the intention of going to sea. At first she was detained by the lack of a second engineer and subsequently the weather outside was too rough. She is regularly cleared from this port for Tampa. The Cubans here say that she will return to Charleston in two weeks. There seems to be no doubt that she is carrying arms to Cuba, but just how she proposes to get there is not one except her captain knows.

RALEIGH HAPPENINGS

MRS. ARRINGTON CHARGES EX-JUDGE WHITAKER WITH PERJURY.

The Judge Acquitted on Trial in a Master's Court—Public Library—Base Ball—University Fraternities—Pop-Fop Populists.

[Star Correspondence] RALEIGH, N. C., March 9. Mrs. Arrington, having remained in the depths of quietude for several months, promises to come to the surface of notoriety to-day with a full fledged sensation. Mrs. Patsy D. B. says she will warrant ex-Judge Spier Whitaker for perjury and expects to have a preliminary trial this morning before a magistrate. She does not seem able to keep out of the courts.

Recently, Mr. B. F. Montague gave $100 towards the establishment of a public library. This nucleus was augmented to-day by a gift of $100 from Col. Thos. S. Keane, clerk of the Supreme Court. Several of our best citizens are behind the move and the enterprise will likely be successful.

The University of North Carolina and the Princeton base ball teams will play a match game in line for Col. Dockery. The fraternities at Chapel Hill are considering the question of erecting fraternal buildings for the fraternities are contemplating the erection of their own building at an early date.

The Republican Executive Committee have decided for Russell and Fusion in the contest for Governor. The late Claude D. Coker, son of Col. O. H. D. Coker, has been in the city several days. He is said to be working to get the Curtis stone, so as to allow of a free and uninterrupted passage, while foot passengers and bicyclists—a new element of trouble—should have some enough to avoid getting in the way for the few seconds required for the apparatus to fly past.

In London and other European towns and cities it is fully understood that whoever is run down, or whose car or vehicle is crashed into by a fire engine has no one but himself or his driver to blame. In these countries the police take care that no obstructions of any sort block the way of the fire fighters to the scene of their work. The American police might well follow their example by making an occasional arrest of an obstinate truck man or motor man who plays the part of an obstructor.

[Special Star Telegram] Mrs. Fannie Ivey, aged seventy-two years, was burned to death to-day. At the magistrate's trial, ex Judge Spier Whitaker was acquitted of the charge of perjury made by Mrs. Arrington.

THE CONFEDERATE MUSEUM

The Confederate Memorial Literary Society received in June, 1894, from the city of Richmond, the mansion which was occupied by the Hon. Jefferson Davis as his residence while he was President of the Confederacy—one of the handsomest houses in Richmond, and standing in spacious grounds.

With indefatigable energy this Society raised the funds necessary to make the house a fire proof museum, where Confederate relics, Southern memorials, and the archives of the Southern Historical Society are collected and carefully preserved.

A room, bearing the distinctive name, shield and colors of the State it represents, is assigned to each State of the Confederacy, and is a repository for memorials from that State. A Regent and a Vice-Regent are appointed to represent each State and to assume the care and expense of their respective rooms—collecting, donating, or otherwise contributing of what they think will make their rooms attractive.

The North Carolina room is a magnificent room, but it is empty and is neglected. The State is far from furnishing relics of the terrible struggle and some little money is an absolute necessity now, if we would sustain our reputation among the other States.

The old North State gave more soldiers than almost any other State, and the hearts and homes must be full of sweet memories of the brave. The women here have started this work of love; will not the men and women of the State take up the work and make North Carolina the most beautiful of Original documents, pictures, music books written during the war or about the war, arms, articles of any kind that will add to the interest and value of living of the people and soldiers of the Southern States, from 1861 to 1865, are valuable and interesting. The Society suggests that these contributions be given as a memorial of some soldier, sailor, or patriot; some battle, siege, or march—the memory of which the donor desires to preserve. To each article should be attached the name of the person who gives it, and a record of the person, custom, or event it commemorates.

Should such memoranda exceed a convenient length, they may be recorded in the books of the Society. For further information, apply to Mrs. Thos. D. Neal, 408 E. Main street, Richmond, Va., Vice Regent of North Carolina.

PENDER POINTS

The Death of M. J. McGlammy—High School Exercises—Standard Gate Factory—Superior Court—The Berry Crop.

[Star Correspondence] BURGAW, March 13. Our people are still sad over the untimely end of our distinguished citizen Maj. McGlammy.

Our high school closes on the evening of the 30th inst. The efficient teachers, Misses Betna and Ethel Herring, have given entire satisfaction. Preparations are being made for a concert by the children, followed by a festival for the benefit of the Baptist Church here; a big time is expected.

Our Standard gate factory is in operation. It has turned out five hundred gates and promises a good many more. One gate was sent to a prisoner in jail for costs, and he will be out in a day or so. Our jail doors are wide open for the prisoners to be beaten by any county in Eastern Carolina.

The berry crop so far is elegant and with good weather the yield will be big here. Already truck drivers are numerous in the land. J. T. C.

One cent a word. Hereafter advertisements to go in our "Business Locals" department will be charged one cent per word for each insertion; but no advertisement, however short, will be taken for less than 20 cents. This is a reduction from former rates and it is also a convenience to advertisers, who can calculate the exact cost of their advertisements, which must be paid for always in advance.

SPREAD IN GOING TO FIRES

A Division of Sentiment—But Reels and Engines Should Make Good Time—Extinguishers and Fire-works.

The Fire Service Review thus discusses an interesting question as all residents of cities: How great should be the speed at which the fire apparatus should hasten to a fire? This question is being mooted more or less seriously in several quarters. In some, loss of life has resulted from an engine running people down; in others, only loss of property in the shape of a horse, carriage or wagon.

In each instance, however, there has been an outcry against the driver of the fire engine or hook and ladder truck, and complaint has gone up against the accustomed practice of racing to a fire. On the other hand, as every second gained in attacking a fire is a matter of life and death, it is equally loud outcry would be raised, if the department drove to its destination at a speed only a little beyond that of an ordinary vehicle. Thus the fireman are impaled on the horns of a dilemma. The opinion is that in making for a fire the utmost speed consistent with safety to the firemen should be indulged in, at least, the saving of life and property is to be the first consideration. The danger to foot passengers and to traffic should be as much as possible all the street or carriage way would take care to give to the fire apparatus that right of way to which it is entitled. The clang of the bell, the blowing of the whistle, the rattling of the hose, or the rattle of the engine, hose, wagon, or truck, should be enough to attract the attention of those on the street or carriage way, so as to allow of a free and uninterrupted passage, while foot passengers and bicyclists—a new element of trouble—should have some enough to avoid getting in the way for the few seconds required for the apparatus to fly past.
