A PLEA AND A CONFESSION.

Mr. Wm. C. Whitney, of New York, seems to be very much distressed at the situation as he finds it, and seems also to be under the impression that the only way to save the country from the advancing free silver columns is by an alliance between the Republicans and the "sound money" Democrats, on nonpartizan lines. He is also very much distressed that the gentlemen who are engineering candidate McKinley's business for him have shown so little disposition to meet the ad-'vances of the "sound money" Democrats and tumble into their embrace.

The amusing part of all this busi ness is that a man of Mr. Whitney's experience and knowledge the men who are running the Republican party, should have so utterly failed to grasp their true inwardness as to suppose for a moment that they would sink partisanship when there was any doubt as to how the sinking of the partisanship might pan out. They are in politics for business, not as a matter of sentiment or fun. If they make any experiments they want to have some pretty good reason to believe that the experiments would be safe, and they wouldn't like to take the word or the proffered aid of Mr. Whitney as the assurance.

Mr. Whitney has recently issued an appeal to the Republicans in which he reproaches them for failing to realize the impending danger, as shown in their indifference to the offered aid of the "sound money" kickers who went to Chicago and found an obstinate majority who could neither be persuaded, coaxed nor driven from their purpose by threats. This appeal is unique as coming from a man of Mr. Whitney's reputation as an able leader and great politician. It is both a plea and a confession, a plea to practical, cold-blooded politicians who will laugh at its unsophisticated innocence, and a confession of the strength and the onward progress of the free silver sentiment.

I think events and the course of the Republican leaders are making a third ticket inevitable. The general situation is far worse to day, in my opinion, than it was ten days ago. The Republican managers and candidates have shown no realizing sense of the situation. They have failed to avail of a great opportunity for benefiting the country. If the present condition of affairs continues for any length of time sound money Democrats are bound to organize and it cannot be prevented. The truth is there does not seem to be in the East a tariff would, under the present conditions, cut a grotesque figure, and as the representative of "sound money" after his votes in Congress and his stradding since he would be even more grotesque. If Mr. Whitney wants to do anything on the kicking line he should do the bold and consistent thing and boost a third ticket.
