7. The effect of free coinage by this country would be to force European countries to follow our example in remonetizing silver as they did in demonetizing it. The leading commercial nations of Europe have a larger and more valuable trade with the silver using nations of the East and with the silver using countries South of us than we have and the remonetization of silver, or free coinage, would give us such a vantage ground with those nations that European nations would be compelled to adopt bimetallism in self defence. The other nations would hardly wait for England to do it if we lead the way. But even if they should not, that would not adversely affect our trade, for trade between nations is practically a bartering of one commodity for another, comparatively little money changing hands. The "balance" of trade is simply the difference in the value or price of the commodities bought or sold. If they preferred to continue the present from us as they do now, and pay us as they do now, for they do not buy anything from us that they do not need, nor anything that they can buy vantage to themselves. If they can buy wheat, corn, meat, &c., on better terms in other countries than they can in this, they will buy there, whether we have the single gold or the bimetallic standard. But if they should remonetize silver, the increase in the volume of currency which would result from that would so the condition of the people of Europe

MINOR MENTION.

Hon. Tom Watson is not honest.

In his speeches in Texas he devoted much of his time to denouncing the Democratic party and practically ignoring the existence of the Republican party. But this was, perhaps, because there was then a fusion being hatched up between the Populists of that State and the Repulicans with which the Hon. Tom doubtless had a good deal to do. He is now moving around in Kansas. In his speech at Iola, Thursday, he justified the present existence of the Populist party by the statement that "the Republicans had betrayed the people by the crime of '73 and the Democrats by the crime of '93." As a matter of fact, while the Republican party did betray the people by the crime of '73, the statement as it applies to the existence of the Populist party has no truth in it. The Populist party was organized before the "crime of '93" and the silver question made no figure in it. While it formally declares for the free coinage of silver, the Government ownership of railroads, telegrapus, &c., notes directly by the Government without the intermediate agency of banks were regarded and contended for as the looming issues. In the Presidential campaign four years ago its stumpers in the South pooh-poohed free coinage as a very small matter, over which it wasn't worth while to waste time discussing. But while the Democratic national platform of 1892 denounced the Sherman act as a "cowardly makeshift" and declared that it ought to be repealed, the Hon. Tom Watson knows that a majority of the Democrats in Congress were opposed system, they would still have to buy to silver countries.

COCKRAN ON SLAVEHOLDERS. -Will you submit to this conspiracy between the professional farmers, the farmers who cultivate the quarrels of their neighbhrs, farmers who labor with their jaws, Populist agitators of the West, and the unreconciled slave-holders of the South? This is a conspiracy between professional farmers, who want to pay low wages, and the unreconciled slave-holders, who would like to pay no wages at all. - (Extract from the speech of Bourke Cockran, delivered in New York August 18th.)

Every Democratic paper should print from other countries with more adand every Democratic speaker should read to his audiences, the following letter written by President Cleveland in 1893 to the editor of the Atlanta Consti-"GRAY GABLES, BUZZARD BAY, Mass.

July 16, 1892.-Clark Howell, Esq.-My Dear Sir: The receipt of your recent letter has gratified me exceedingly. It has a tone of true Democracy about it and is pervaded with the sort of Democratic frankness which is very pleasing. "I think the underlying principles of party organization & what you so ad mirably express as an acceptance of the arbitrament of the National Convention. On the other hand, it is as fully the duty of one opposed to shut his mind and heart to any feeling of irritation or resentment that might be allowed to grow out of opposition based upon honest judgment and a conscientious desire for party success. "I am not surprised, though I am gratified by the announcement that from this time to the close of the campaign your own service and the invaluable influence of the Constitution will be devoted to the fight for Democratic success. It honestly seems to me that Democrats who are not at this time loval to the cause are recreant to their country. "Personal advancement of man is nothing; the triumph of the principles we advocate is everything. "Hoping that we may congratulate each other on a a glorious result in November, I am, yours sincerely, GROVER CLEVELAND."

SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED. A correspondent asks for information on the following questions:

1. Was the coinage of silver suspended at an / time between 1806 and 1878? If so, wh,? 2. If so, what circulated as a substitute for silver? 3. What do Treasury Notes represent, and why were they issued? And when were they issued? 4. What countries suspended the coinage of siver about the time the U. S Government demonetized it? 5. To which countries are the pro ducts of America exported, principally and what products are exported? 6. From which countries do we re ceive ou: principal importations?

7. What would be the effect of the free coinage of silver in America upon those countries; and what would be the effect upon American markets if such countries should refuse to return to the silver standard? 1. No. Between 1806 and 1834 the coinage of the silver dollar was suspended, because silver was at a premium and the silver dollars were exported to meet the demand abroad for silver, but the coinage of the lesser coins went on.

2. Silver continued to circulate, but in addition to that there were the bank notes which formed the principal part of the currency.

3. There are two kinds of Treasury notes, one commonly known as the "greenback" issued under acts of 1862 and 1863 to raise money to carry on the war. Of these $450,-000,000 were issued, $346,000,000 of which are still outstanding. The others are the notes issued under the act of 1890, known as the Sherman act, to pay for the silver bullion purchased as provided for in that act.

These amount to $155,931,000. 4. Germany followed the United substitute, and he knows, too, that States in going to the gold standard. it was only after a hard and pro-France shortly afterwards ceased the tracted fight that these Democrats coinage of silver, but retained the were defeated, and that the defeat double standard. Since then Auswas accomplished with Republican tria-Hungary, Russia, Sweden, Norvotes which were cast for the unway, Denmark, Belgium, Switzerconditional repeal and thus made land, and others of the lesser powers the "crime of '93" possible. Hon. Tom many gave for it, viz: to place her Watson knows all this while he is monetary system in harmony with that of Great Britain. But they all use silver largely, and some more silver than gold.

I want to say to you to-day that I am a protectionist, I have not changed my views upon that question. But let me tell you that the Wi'son tariff bill is not a free trade bill. It is a better bill for the manufacturers of this country-I do not speak of the farmers-than the Republican bill of 1888. The great bugbear is free trade. You cannot have free trade and everybody knows it. You will have the bond issue under the next administration if Mr. McKinley is elected.

The following defence of and tribute to William Jennings Bryan they also found it expedient to omit:

I say to you here now, after an ac quaintance of more than seven years with Mr. Bryan, and a pretty close acquaintance with him, too, that in the whole ranks of the Democracy there was not a man better equipped and more worthy of nomination than he He who calls him an Anarchist is a slanderer of the vilest character. There is no man in the State of Illinois who has a better moral character than Mr. Bryan. There is no man in the State of Illinois who has got more intellect, more moral courage He may not be an Abraham Lincoln but he has got all the elements that made Abraham Lincoln great. If he is elected President he will see to it that there is fair dealing. There will be no bonds sold at a discount to syndicate friends. I was delighted with his nomination and I shall be delighted with his

They found it expedient to print that lie about Mr. Bryan's being in the pay of the silver mine owners until Mr. Bryan published his unequivocal and emphatic denial, and then they had to cease circulating it, although some of them tried to justify the publicity they had given it.

The gold countries of Europe do not want the United States to enter upon the free coinage of silver, neither do the silver using countries, and both practically for the same reason, that they both have an advantage over the United States with its present monetary system. With the gold standard, the gold countries have no fear of the United States seriously interfering with their trade in the silver using countries, while the silver countries fear that if the United States adopt bimetallism they would lose some of the advantages which they now have by virtue of their silver standard. The Mexican prive him of church privileges. It is of Mexicans on that subject, and doubtless the views of other silver countries, such as China and Japan, in the following:

Many American papers now quoting this journal do not comprehend our position. We are for gold in the United States and for silver in Mexico. This is not inconsistent, for we naturally desire the continuance of the gold standstimulate industry and so improve ard in the great republic, our best customer, and we selfishly desire for Mexico the exclusive use and profit of the silver standard for at least twenty-five years afford to live better, to eat more, and more. Mr. Bryan would undoubtedly appoint a Secretary of the Treasury who would exercise the option as to the redemption of United States notes in gold or silver, instead of giv. ing it to the gold speculators in New York. This would discourage the hiding of gold for speculative purposes and there would be plenty of it in the Treasury .-- Cincinnati Enthe sub-treasury, and the issuing of quirer, Dem.
