Net Becaipts at the Perts-New York Sur's Beview of the Cotton Market.

By Telegraph to the Morning Stat. NEW YORK, October 9 -The following are the total net receipt at the ports since September 1, 1898: Galveston 322,494; New Orleans, 890,858; Mobile, 48 061; Savannah, 190,060; Charleston, 111,183; Wilmington, 62 518; Norfolk, 187,195; Baltimore, 4,805; New York, 12,991; Boston, 10,544; Newport News, 887; Philadelphia, 3,099; West Point, 50; Brunswick, 5 881; Port Royal, 5,904; Pensacola, 1.004; Texas City, 18,045,

Total, 1,320 539. NEW YORK, October 9.- The Sur says: Spot prices here were unchanged. Future prices here opened unchanged to 6 points higher, lost the improvement and declined 4 to 8 points, but later rallied and advanced, closing steady at a net change of 8 to 10 points, with sales of 820 100 bales. The speculation to-day was fairly active, and the fluctustions in prices very frequent and at times sharp. At the opening prices were somewhat firmer, but the decline in Liverpool together with local and Liverpool seiling, soon caused an easier tone, and prices weakened and declined. Stop orders were reported, accelerating the downward movement, and the report that Neill will issue a crop estimate of 8,500 000 to 9,000,000 bales contributed to depress prices. But at the de-cline shorts covered freely, and prices ralised and advanced. New Orleans bought assisting the rise, and there was also good buying for Wall street account. The last orices were about the best of

GEORGIA ELECTION.

Official Returns Show That the Democratic Majority Will Be Over Fifty Thousand.

ATLANTA, GA., October 9 .- Official returns from a majority of the counties of the State show that the Democratic majarity for the State ticket in Wednesday's election will run slightly over 50,-Gavernor Atkinson's majority falls below this by several thousand, but this fact is due to a local fight on the head of the ticket. Later returns make practically no change in the complexion of the Legislature. One notable feature is the fact that the Democrats have carried the Teath district, which is Watson's district, and is the closest through the State. The result in the October elections seem to insure the election of W. H. Fleming in this district, and that means a solid delegation in the lower

The people who got up early to see William J. Bryan would not let him sleep this morning. They banged on the windows of his private car at Marshalltown up to the time from which he left here at 148 a. m., and it was hardly day break when it was renewed at Little station, where the train halted on its way to this city. There were crowds at Wall, Lake Odelbolt, Arthur, Battle Creek, Danbury, Mapleton. Onawa and Whitin. Mr. Bryan was obliged to rise early in response to shouts at several stations of "Trot him out" and "Let's see him." He made a number of brie speeches. It was raining hard, a chill cold rain when the candidate reached Sioux City at 10.20 this morning. He was escorted to the big train shed of the Union passenger station, and, mounted on a truck, he addressed an audience of several thousand persons huddled together there. After an introduction by Judge Van Wagenen, candidate for Congress in the Eleventh Iowa district, Mr. Bryan

"Fellow-citizens: If our opponents are right in the declaration that the gold standard ought to be maintained in this country until foreign nations consent to its abandonment, then, my friends, the election of an advocate of the free coinage of silver would be an injury to the country. If, on the other hand, we are no permanent relief until we have remints on equal terms with gold, I say if we are right, then the maintenan of the gold standard is a crime against the American people. (Cheers) In the discussion of a great question like this there are several things which throw light upon the controversy. If you go into court and find a witness who is willing to clearly state what he knows, who gives his testimony without evasion If, on the other hand, you find a witness who deals in ambiguous phrases, who attempts to evade questions and who at-tempts to cover up his ideas with words of a doubtful meaning, you doubt the honesty and sincerity of the witness. So, in a controversy like this, when our people who advocate free coinage openly declare what they want, why they want

But when our opponents try to secure a gold standard without daring to advocate it, when they talk about sound money when they mean gold, when they talk about an honest dollar when they mean the most dishonest dollar there is in the land to-day (cheers), you have a right to question their sincerity.

t and how they expect to get it: when

My friends, men who have a cause in which they believe, are not ashamed to state their belief, and when you find-written on Republican banners that deceptive phrase "sound money," you have a right to believe that the men who use the term use it because they are not willing to tell the American people what they mean by sound money. (Cheers.) "We believe in sound money, and we believe that the free coinage of silver 16 to 1 gives us a sounder money than can be had by the gold standard. We believe in a safe financial system, but we believe that in order to be safe a financial system must have a loundation broad enough for that to rest upon. (Cheers.) "Our opponents tell you that they want bimetallism whenever the foreign nations will consent to it, and yet they secretly use every effort to fasten the gold standard upon the American people. (Applause.) Let me ask you this question, and you can repeat it to the advocates of the Republican platform: Is the gold standard a good thing?' (Cries of 'No! No!' from the crowd and one cry of 'Yes!)

'My Republican friend says the gold standard is a good thing. I ask him why the Republican party promised to get rid of the gold standard as soon as they could? (Cheers.) Departing from their platform, the Republicans will tell you that gold is good money because it is good all over the world. My friends, no money is good which rises in value and robs the producers of this country to the benefit of the bondholders.

They say the gold dollar is honest. No dollar is honest which rises in value and gives an uncarned advantage to the man who loans money and imposes an unjust burden on the man who agrees to pay. (Cheers) There is something necessary money besides quality. There must be quantity as well as quality to money." On the conclusion of his speech Mr. Bryan returned to his train, which left

D., October 10 .-Elk Point was the first place at which the Bryan special stopped after it cross-ed the Missouri from Iowa into South Dakota. And the crowd that had braved the rain to see the candidate heard him make a little speech.

"You will see men who handle money and own money and change money, who are auxious for money to rise in value," he said. "You see men who handle corn and raise corn, who are anxious to have corn rise in value. The people who raise corn have a right to protect themselves and to prevent an additional fall in the price of corn. The more nations there are which demand gold, the greater will be the difficulty to get it. and the more of our corn will it buy. If your taxes would fall, if your debts would fall as your corn fell, you might the time has come when the farmer is called upon to defend himself and his family and his people around him by the use of the ballot." Back in o Iowa again and another speech was given the people at Hawarden, where great enthusiasm was shown. The suggestive name of Canton was that of the next stopping point. Canton is in Suuth Dakota. Major McKinley had friends there, some of them wearing hats of golden hue, and a few shouted for the Republican candidate when Mr. Bryan concluded his brief remarks.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Rosebery at a Meeting in Edinburgh. By Cable to the Morning Star

EDINBURGH, October 9.- Speaking in this city to-night, Lord Rosebery, the ex-Prime Minister, discussed the remedies that had been suggested for the settlement of the Turkish question. He adduced reasons against nearly every one of the remedies. Regarding the proposal that Russia should take possession of Constantinople, Lord Rosebery said that the late government (his own) had been extremely anxious to arrive at an entente with Russia and he was still in every way hopeful that a satisfactory understanding between Great Britain and be reached. He urged the advocates of the proposal, however, to remember the reatment that had been accorded the Poles by the Russians. Moreover, he asked, how is Great Britain to give to Russia what is not hers?

Avowing veneration and unaltered riendship for Mr. Gladstone, Lord Rosebery said that he could not agree with the proposal made by the latter in his Liverpool speech to withdraw the British ambassador from Constantia nople, or to threaten action which could not be effected if the Powers did not approve. Such a course would lead to humiliation. He differed with Mr. Gladstone in the opinion that Great Britain was bound by the Cyprus convention to intervene in Turkey. This convention had been a dead letter ever since it had been signed. He did not desire especially the retention of Cyprus, and would willingly give it to another Power, except Turkey, as the price of a European concert.

Lord Rosebery further declared that he was emphatically opposed to isolated action by Great Britain on the Turkish question and would fight the proposa that she act alone. This action would mean a European war, with the slaugh ter of hundreds of thousands, threaten the existence of Great Britain, and perhaps precede the extermination of the Armenians. He could conceive of nothng more futile, dangerous and disastrous than such a policy. Any British Minister incurring a European war, except through the necessity of interests distinctly British. would be a criminal to his country and to his position. He believed that any just war would have the assistance of the British colonies. He doubted that a war in behalf of the Armenians would elicit such assistance. The panacea was concerted action by the Powers nearest interested. This could not be long postponed. Lord Rosebery then referred to his retirement from the leadership of the Liberal party, saying that the difference of opinion on the Eastern question was only one of a series of incidents that had induced him to resign the leadership. He added that he had not received the loyal support that a people needed, t he was to lead his party successfully His Government in its early days had been defeated by its own followers. The policy he had suggested for the election had not been adopted. Finally, Mr. Gladstone had innocently administered the coup de grace. The internal differences in the party had been equal to the external differences. His action had been so hampered as to render his position untenable. He had tendered his resignation to his colleagues after the election.

The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution expressing gratitude for the manner in which Lord Rosebery had the Liberal party, deeply regretting his re-tirement and earnestly hoping that he would reconsider his action and resume the leadership.

Lord Rosebery replied that his was the result of mature reflection and had been taken with the conviction of its

A special to the Atlanta Constitution The word has been flashed from Republican headquarters in New York to Republican headquarters here that there is "trouble in Ohio." This statement is accompanied by inormation from Indiana and Michigan which shows beyond a doubt that Bryan's chances are best in those two States. Very unfavorable reports have been received by the Republican managers from the lower part of this State, and they concede that the great labor vote of Chicago is against them. The result is consternation. The Restaggers for two days, and the evidence of this is to be seen on all sides. It begins to look as if the Republicans are at last realizing what the Democratic managers have always said; and that is that Illinois Indiana. Michigan and Min nesota, and even Onio, are strictly debatable ground, with the chances in most of these States slightly in favor of De-

A special correspondent to the St Louis Republic wrote from Washin gton a few days ago declaring that "Beria" Wilkins, proprietor of the Washington Post, says: "A careful poll of Oaio, made to ascertain the true situation, gives the State to Bryan by 85,000 majority. If the Republic ins can take any omfort from the situation in the State of their nominees, they are welcome

This was surprising news and was not given very much credence, though Mr. Wilkins is himself an Onio man. it has since developed, however, that he obtained his information from high Republican sources in Ohio.

Mark Hanna is beginning to realize the troubles of a boodle campaign. He finds that his agents are not too truth ful. For its ance, until a month ago he firmly believed that the railroad em loyes had been thoroughly converted. Suddenly he saw a few straws which set him to studying the wind. Then he took a half dozen of his shrewdest and most trusted agents and set them moving through Iowa, Islinois, Indiana and Ohio, without knowledge of each other's movements. Their reports, separately and from the same districts, showed that the railway employes, outside of the passenger train conductors, were practically solid for Beyan, and that the conductors had a majority the same way. Similar eports showed that the farmers were al nost on the verge of a mass movement in the same direction, and that the break had already come in formidable propor-

Then, it is said. Mr. Hanna adopted the shrewd plan of telling the railroad bosses to become conciliatory, and next he set the factors to work to ease the sgricultural situation. He knew that the low prices were a great moving factor with the farmers. Wheat must be started up, and wheat was started up. It will be kept advancing until the election is over. Corn, it is believed, is to be taken next, and by October 15th there will be a spurt in that grain. Five million dollars spent in booming wheat and corn would be a cheap investment, if it only resulted in carrying the grain belt for McKinley.

WASHINGTON NEWS. President Cleveland Beturns to the White House-A Cabinet Meeting.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star. WASHINGTON, October 9.-The big flag floated over the White House this morning for the first time since June 80, and announced that the Chief Executive had returned from his 101 days' vacation. The President and his private secretary. Mr. Thurber, reached Washington at 7.40 a. m., after a good night's rest in a private car which had been attached to the midnight train for New York. No one accompanied them and immediately after their breakfast on arrival at the White House they entered their adjoining offices and began the routine of public business. The President never looked better than to-day. Mrs. Cleveland and the children are expected home on Saturday. There is no accumulation of business awaiting the President's attention, the routine having been carried on at Gray Gables as usual. The President's return was so timed as to resume the regular Friday cabinet meeting at 11 o'clock to-day. There were three absentees from the meeting, Secretaries Francis, Morton and Lamont. The meeting to-day was said to be of an informal character. Most of the unfinished business in all the departments represented was canvassed with a view to leaving as few unsettled questions as possible upon the reassemling of Congress.

Gladness Comes With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

CONNECTS THE BRAIN. The Little Organ That Enables the Her

ispheres to Act In Harmony. Near the base of every well organize human brain there is situated a curious little spongy body called the corpus cal-losum. The existence of this peculiar organ, if organ it may properly be called, at the base of the thought laboratory has been known to the physiologists, anatomists and neurologists for several centuries, but up to a period comparatively recent it has defied the efforts of the scien tists in their endeavors to ascertain its uses in the human anatomy. Like the uses in the human anatomy. Like the vermiform appendix, the thyroid gland, the tonsils and the spleen, this corpus callosum was long believed to be an organ absolutely useless. But nineteenth century study and investigation have let in a flood of light on many subjects heretoford considered "dark, deep and unfathomable," and the mystery of this little body in the brain is only one of the many that have been cleared up. It is now known that the two so called "hemispheres" of the brain, had they no means of intercom-munication, would each be perfect and separate brains, the one absolutely inde-pendent of the other. But they have a mode of intercommunication, and that means is furnished by the once supposed to be useless corpus callosum.

This all important little organ consists of a double chain of white nerve fibers and it is through these that the two portions (hemispheres) of the brain are enabled t act in harmony by being continually brought into anatomical and physiologica relations with each other. Several years ago a well known Philadelphia physician and surgeon, Dr. A. H. Stevens, made the announcement that in his belief the corpus callogum was the seat of the soul. His peculiar ideas were given quite an airing through the press at that time, but the whole theory fell pretty flat when Dr. A. F. Sawyer of San Francisco proved that a certain west coast worthy had survived 20. years after having the entire corpus cal-losum shot out of his thought tank and that another had lived 11 years after sus taining a similar injury. The psychological gists were pretty well agreed that a man's life would terminate the moment his soul made its exit on the lead of a pistol ca tridge. It was these well attested cases of men living after losing the corpus callosum that caused Dr. Stevens' "soul theory" to relapse into obscurity.-St. Louis Re-

SMUGGLING BY RAILWAY. Engineering Appliances as Carriers of Con

There is a story of several years' standing to the effect that at one time a locomotive on one of the lines running across the German-Russian frontier was use most successfully as a carrier of contraband goods, and that the fraud so long practiced was discovered only while overhauling the engine in the repair shops. The exact circumstances cannot now be called to mind, though the essential fact of such illegal use having been made of a legitimate piece of engineering work is brought back to memory by a recently published item which chronicles a somewhat similar bit

The Belgian customs authorities, it appears, knew for a long time that large quantities of jewelry were smuggled over the French border, but how it was done puzzled them. The other day, as the train ran into Quevy, the border town, a customs inspector took it into his head, more through officiousnes than suspicion, to open the chest. To his amazement it was filled to the lid with watches, chains, rings, bracelets and all kinds of dutiable jewelry. It was found that the foreman porter at Quevy had for a long period been carrying on a contraband traffic for a well known Paris jew eler, who, it is said, has had to disgorg heavily, both in jewelry and hard cash, in ence of the disclosure of his frauds. consequence of the disc —Cassier's Magazine.

body of vicious humors that cause kidney and liver complaints. Oaly a great remedy based on a deep knowledge of these diseases could do the work that Paine's celery compound is now doing. Better nutrition for the nerves, an awakened appetite, purified blood and complete assimilation—these follow the nscientions use of Paine's celery com pound as surely as day follows night. If you are alarmed by a throbbing of the heart, an irritable stomach, or general debility, be fair with yourself, use the best means there is, examine what Paine's celery compound is doing. It C.W. Yates & Co., has cured an astonishing number of men and women of Bright's disease, rheumatism, neuralgia, heart and liver trouble. No sufferer can pass lightly over the remarkable record that Paine's celery compound has to show to every sick and ailing person. Among the thousands of testimonials received this year is one recently sent by Congressman John C. Bell, of Colorado who says he has used three bottles of this best of all remedies for dyspepsia and rheumatism, with the most satisfac tory results. Among the testimonials received since January there have been no less than 16 from Congressmen from differert States.
