It will not take Palmer and Buckner long to count the votes they received.

The Palmer and Buckner vote will First Ward-1st div.. 154 be an interesting reminiscence. It might be exhibited as a dwarf in the freak shows "Poor . Nast!" exclaims the paragraph man of the Philadelphia Fourth Ward-1st div.. 180 Times. What's the matter? Has he been doing something Nasty?

When the Czar of Russla was in Paris he received 90,000 telegrams, but as he was not required to read them this did not interfere with the festivities.

Mark Hanna's pampas grass didn't figure much in the past campaign but Mark did. He figured up about $20,000,000, to put in the pot for McKinley.

St. Louis trots out the veteran Voter, and is proud of him. He is 108 years old, has voted in twentytwo Presidential elections, and cast his twenty-third for Bryan.

There is a family in Pennsylvania which contributed McKinley votes, representing four generations of that family. Another proof that stupidity is transmitted in some families.

Emily Baneker Played to a Good House

Last Night in "Our Flat," Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a good sized audience was at the Opera House last night to see the American commedienne, Emily Bancker, and her company of supporting players. in the roaring farce, "Our Flat," and was rewarded with one of the funniest of farcial comedies. "Our Flat" relates the story of a young couple who marry for love and love alone. With their liabilities many, assets lew, an unforgiving father-in-law and many a creditor, they proceed to make life "blissful." Miss Bancker, who is an actress of rare ability, played the role of Margery Sylvester, the loving wife. Her conception of the character was nicely conceived and executed, and must surely win praise from the pen of Bryan 9.067; Russell, 1.014; Watson, the best of critics. Next to Miss the greatest success. His portrayal of 1894. Nathaniel Glover, manager of the Star Theatre, was ludicrous in the extreme, In fact the whole supporting company sustained their roles well, especially Mr. Raymond Capp, as Reginald Sylvester, and Miss Ada Craven, as Bella. During the third act Miss Bancker ann Mr. Bereslord introduced travestics on grand opera, and the separation scene from Pinero's play. "The Ploffigate." They received a double encore, which they certainly deserved.
