WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOV. 8, 1896

THAT PROMISED PROSPERITY. We have not the slightest doubt that there will be improvement in the condition of business in this country, for things could not be much worse than they have been for some time and are now without the bottom dropping out, but we are not looking for the "flood" of prosperity that some of the organs in their exhilaration over the so-called "sound money" victory are predicting. We do believe that if Wm. J. Bryan had been elected it would have been, notwithstanding the lurid predictions of disaster, the beginning of an era of prosperity such as this country has not seen since the policy of contracting the currency was inaugurated, for then the condition necessary to prosperity would have been met, that is, an expansion of the currency and the breaking up of the monopoly in money. On what do they base the predictions of great prosperity? On the "restoration of confidence" by the election of McKinley and the verdict of the popular ballot for "sound money," which means gold. This will have some effect, no doubt, as any verdict would, for any verdict is better than none and continued agitation, the result of which was uncertain. It may, perhaps, make it easier to borrow money in Europe on American securities, but they who congratulated the country on that, thereby confess that we have not money enough in this country and justify the contention for an expansion of the currency, one of the basic reasons for the demand for the free comage of silver.

We are told that many of the man ufactories started up the day after the election and went to work filling the orders conditioned upon the election of McKi iley, but these orders were not for something that was no wanted, but for something that was wanted, but not immediately, some thing which could be waited on a few weeks, the opportunity being taken advantage of in the meantime to make the filling contingent upon the election of McKinley as one of th ways to bring pressure to bear upon the employes to vote the Republican ticket. It doubtless worked pretty well, and now the orders are being filled, which would have been filled all the same, if Bryan had been elected.

We are told also that the railroads have given large orders for rails, and rolling stock, for which they say there will be great need, as they anticipate a heavy business. We sin cerely hope this is true, but we have a lingering recollection of the confi dent predictions of the great prosperity which was to come to us when the Sherman Act was repealed and we think it was right after that that the Western railroads put in orders for large numbers of cars to be in readiness for the extraordinary amount of freight they expected to handle, and then came the panic and industrial collapse.

We are not apprehensive of any panic or industrial collapse now, but as we stated, look for improvement in business. We fail, however, to see where this predicted flood of prosperity is to come from or what is to make it, and we trust we will not be classed with the calamity howlers or the croakers if we confess that we can't see it, for we do not like either of them, and would always prefer to look on the bright side than on the dark, even if we had to stretch our neck to do it. But what is going to breath new life into our industries and give this fresh stimulus to business? We are right on the verge of winter when thousands of men who are employed the rest of the year will become idle. Earning nothing, they will be compelled to economize in their expenditures. Some of the farmers may have a little more money than they had this time last year because of the higher price of grain, but most of this has passed out of the hands of the farmers and gone iato the hands of the speculators who have made the profits that have been made or will make the profits that are to be made. Much of this grain has already been exported. The farmers who were able to hold may have held for higher prices, and buyers in the interior may have held for the same reason, and the railroads will, of course, have this to haul to the seaboard, but this will not make a business much more extraordinary than that of other years.

There is a reported shortage in the wheat supply of Europe, caused by the shortage in the producing countries, which has caused the advance in the price of wheat and will probably keep it up, but they are not making a rush for it, and thus avoid booming prices. So much for the Western farmer.

platform exponents have to get the though higher than it was this time last year is not high enough to put money enough in the pocket of the grower to make him proud after the cost of production is taken out. prospect of its commanding a very by some of the Republican man-high price. As this is the South's agers, that there are enough of the other kind.

main dependence there is no indica-of a system of development, the opening of mines, building of railroads, mills, furnaces, &c., all of which are dependent ease with which it can be commanded. When money becomes so hoard it then it will be turned loose and put into the channels of business and this will not be until it becomes abundant enough to make it "cheap. Even if all the hoarded gold and greenbacks were turned loose, there is not money enough in this country, especially since the money it has is practically controlled by a comparatively few men who can manipulate it in their own interest.

There will be improvement in business: we feel satisfied of that, but not so suddenly nor so much as to make us giddy with prosperity.

MINOR MENTION.

The Kothschilds and other money magnates of Europe who are interested in the perpetuation of the gold standard, are rejoicing in the socalled "sound money" victory last Tuesday, while the advocates of bimetallism over there are correspondingly depressed, for they regard the verdict of the voters of this country as a serious obstacle to the progress of the cause in those countrues where a fight was being made for it. Dr. Otto Arendt, one of the most prominent bimetallists in Germany, is quoted as saying:

"I have heard the news with unleigned sorrow. The defeat of the silver movement in the United States will undoubt edly react unfavorably upon the bimetallic movement in Germany and the remainder of Europe. Still I do not despair. Bimetallism will not be long

Notwithstanding the discourage ment he takes a hopeful view. The main obstacle in the way is Great Britain, which adheres to the gold standard because the financial policy of that country is dominated by the money lenders. And the bimetallists of that country and of other countries were anxious for some recognized commercial power, to lead the way which might be followed by others, and thus force Great Britain | the world in Gulledge's and they to yield, or stand out alone. Hence have the sympathy of the good citithey rejolced when the Democratic party of this country declared for bimetallism, regardless of other nations. If bimetallism had triumphed there is no doubt that Germany and other European nations would soon have followed.

Wm. J. Bryan belongs to the never despair order of men, who although defeated never surrender. His address published vesterday shows the metal and the unconquerable spirit of the man, and is fitting culmination of the magnificent record he made from the hour the Democratic standard was placed in his hands until it was certain that it had gone down in defeat, temporarily lowered but not dishonored. The cause of the gold standard has for the time being triumphed, triumphed by methods that have now become historic, but the cause of bimetallism is not dead, for there can be no enduring prosperity in this country until that becomes the recognized and established policy. There may be "makeshifts," suggestions of expediency, but the people who have been promised so much in the event that the gold standard triumphed, will remember these promises and hold the promisers up to them. The responsibility is upon the statesmen of the Republican party now; they can no more influence the people with predictions of disaster or seductive promises of prosperity. Now that they have the opportunity they will be judged by what they do, not by what they pro-

One of the grim post-electionokes is the suggestion of some of the Northern "sound money" organs which during the campaign were emptying their slush pots on "repudiators," "communists" and "anarchists," that the Democrats get together now and "reorganize," on the "Indianapolis platform," the representatives of which-decoys Palmer and Buckner-didn't get funeral, didn't carry a State nor as far as heard from a county or election precinct in the United States. That would be a nice platform to ge upon wouldn't it, even if the question of principle were entirely ignored, and politics only considered This would be the bobtailest tail, so to speak, on record, wagging the biggest dog that tail ever wagged. Oh, no, none of that. It is too ridiculous even for a joke. And then again we have Grover Cleveland and John G. Carlisle, hastening to chop off the heads of Federal office holders who happened to hold opinions contrary to theirs, and had the independence to express them, which indicates the purning desire these Indianapolis

The Democrats would give Guthrie their support more willingly than to either Dockery or Mott. We do not know how Senator Pritchard feels towards Guthrie, or whether he would support him, but the Populist machine runners in this State have spite against him, growing out of the address he issued advising Populists to vote for free silver Democrats for Congress in preference to Populisk decoys, and they will do what they can to knife him.

The Emperor of China appointed L. Hung Chang Minister of Foreign Affairs, and then docked him a year's salary for going into the Summer Palace of the Empress Dowager, without observing due ceremony But if Li is as cute as he is said to be, it will not take him long to knock down enough to get even.

He died Sunday evening after a rapid decline, a victim of that dread disease, typhoid fever. ---Friday evening while on his way home from the Fair, some words passed between Mr. Jas. A. Kitchen, votes enough to make a respectable of Alma, and a party of negroes, who had also been imbibing too freely. He was set upon by the crowd, severely beaten and received a pistol shot through the arm.

WHAT A BULLDOG DID.

Was Small Game For This Partie ular Canine. There were five officers from For Reno and four from Fort Kearney, and seven or eight citizens from the east who had come out for a hunt, and we had pitched our camp on the eastern base of the Big Horn mountains, at the headwaters of Clear Fork river. One of the civilians, who hailed from Boston, had brought along his bulldog, and though he was guyed and ridiculed a hundred times over he insisted that the do should be taken along on the hunt. "You just wait!" he replied to all sar-eastic remarks. "I want to see him tackle a bear, and if he gets a chance to it's dollars to cents that he comes out One day six of us went off up the mountain, and the owner of the balldog was one of the party. His dog was at we were out for the climb more than in expectation of sighting game no one objected. We had reached a point a thousand feet above camp and directly over it when a big cinnamon bear which had been snoozing alongside of a rock started up with a "woof!" Before any one had scarcely got sight of him or realized what sort of game it was the bulldog rushed forward and tackled him, getting a tail hold. "Stu-boy! Hang to him! Now's your show!" yelled the man from Boston, and the bulldog got a death grip.

Old cinnamon hadn't his nerve with him that day, and the first move he made was down hill. At his first plunge he started a good sized bowlder from its bed, and 100 feet down he dislodged a great mass of earth. That was the start of an avalanche. Earth, rocks, trees and bowlders began to move, and a strip 300 feet wide went booming down into the valley. The men in camp heard and saw it in time to escape, but it swept away every tent we had and filled the bed of the creek 80 feet deep with debris.

"Not an ounce of provisions, a cooking utensil nor a blanket was saved. Where our camp had stood was a mass of earth and rock 15 feet deep. We got down as soon as possible, and men were sent off to Reno to bring back a new outfit. No one ever expected to see that bulldog again, of course, but three hours later he walked in among us as if nothing had happened and hadn't so much as a scratch on him. We looked and looked, but no one spoke for two or three minutes. Then the man from Boston suddenly remarked:

"'I told you he'd get away with a bear, but I wasn't so sure about an avalanche. I've raised his price to $8,000, and I don't care to sell at that!" "-Detroit Free Press.

Stove Colors. In view of the fact, says an Austria-Hungarian journal, that black iron stoves do not in all cases suit a room which is painted in light colors, and of the attempts made unsuccessfully to use upon them a water glass paint, Herr Kratzer, a Leipsic chemist, has been experimenting in this direction with very satisfactory results. The colors, he finds, may be blue white, borium sulphate, zinc white, borium chromate, yellow ocher, uranium oxide, green chromium oxide, cobalt green, green ultramarine, ultramarine blue, cadmiun oxide for yellow brown, English red or caput mortuum for brown, brown oxide of manganese, burned terra di siena, red iron colors, chrome red. These are to be mixed with warm soft water, distilled or rain, and diluted 33 degrees or sulphur free water glass. Thus one part of water glass may be mixed with two of warm soft water and one part of bronze powder be worked up with 50, by weight, of the diluted water glass. It may be necessary to give the color a thorough preliminary wetting with very soft water, particularly if the color be an earthy one, and the better this is done the better will the color mix with the water glass, but no more color should be mixed than can be used within two to four hours. The iron should be perfectly free from grease and rust, and should be treated with a scratch brush-then three coats, at 12 hour in-Men and Their Hats.

"Well, well," remarked a leading hatter the other day, "everybody has smiled at the vanity of women as they take long and fond glances at their reflections in the store windows, but woman is not a marker for the ordinary man. The uglier a man is the longer it takes him to suit himself with a hat and the oftener does he look into the glass while buying one. I have an unusually prepossessing customer who would exhaust the patience of a Job. He came into the store the day after the styles arrived and consumed two hours and ten minutes in getting a hat that pleased him. The next day he returned the hat and had one made to order. This man is so ugly that nothing could improve his looks but a mask."-Philadelphia Record.
