Wheat Closed a Shade Higher Than the Closing Quotations Friday-May Corn Declined-Oats and Pork Products Closed Higher. By Telegraph to the Morning Star, CHICAGO, November 7 .- At the close of to-day's half session the wheat market rested with just a shade better prices quoted than at the end yesterday. But from the opening until the final trade was made, the action was rapid and most erratic. Liverpool's advance 1%@2d, did not meet expectations, and although there was a buil feeling at the start, the disappointment at the absence of vigor abroad soon found expression in a swift decline of almost a cent. : At the expiration of the first hour an advance, which was ascribed to Brad-16c higher. Provisions displayed a little strength at the opening, but soon lost it on moderate seiling. Higher hog prices were instrumental in causing a slight advance in this market, but that gain disappeared within the first half hour. Later there was a fair recovery. January pork closed at 10c higher, January lard and ribs each 21/2 higher. Domestic markets were quiet and steady.

SPOTS AND FUTURES. The Visible Supply of Cotton-Crop in Sight Sun's Review of the Market.

Telegraph to the Morning Star EW YORK, November 7 .- The total sible supply of cotton for the world is 8 225,221 bales, of which 2,925,111 are American, against 8,863,165 and 3,061,-865 respectively last year. Receipts of cotton this week at all interior towns, 187,974 bales. Receipts from the plantations, 317,944 bales. Crop in sight, 3,-

The New York Sun says: Spot cotton here was unchanged. Liverpool was unchanged on the spot, with sales of 8,000 bales. Futures there declined one to two points. The exports were 21,835 bales. The receipts at New Orleans on Monday are estimated at 14,000 to 16 000 bales, against 10 427 last week and 12,439 last year. Houston expects on Monday 4 800 to 5 500 bales, against 10,642 last week and 6 615 last year. In New Orleans January declined two points, but recovered this and advanced

The Shetucket woollen mills at Greenville, Mass., idle since July 13th, will begin operation on November 16th on full time. The woo'len and cotton mills of the Ipswich, Mass., corporation will resume operations early next week, employing 1,000 men. The Fall River spinning mills and the Slaterville cotton mills at North Smithfield will run on full time Monday and thereafter.

Northern spinners have taken thus far this season 476,203 bales, against 463,254 last season. The exports from the ports thus far this season aggregate 1,503,796 bales, against 932,906 in the same time last season. To-day futures here opened four to five points lower, recovered the lost on most months, but later reacted and closed quiet and steady at a net decline of two to three points, with sales of 78 100 bales The speculation to-day was quiet and featureless. At the opening prices declined slightly. The Liverpool market was lower and some selling orders were received from that market, but in the absence of any decided selling pressure for local account, prices rallied on predictions of colder weather and frosts in South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama Mississippi, Louisiana and Eistern Texas. Before the close, however, the market reacted again on a large estimate of the port receipts for the coming week, the estimates ranging from 280,000 to 300 000.

THE IRISH QUESTION COMES UP IN AN ACUTE FORM.

A Pamine Impending-The Turkish Ques tion-Negotiations for a Congress of the Powers-British Occupation of Egypt to Be Prolonged With a Free Hand to Extend to the Upper

Nile. By Cable to the Morning Star, LONDON, November 7.-The everlasting Irish question is coming up in an acute form, through the old and too familiar occurrence of an Irish famine. The Bishop of Raphoe, in a recent appeal for subscriptions in aid of the Irish party fund, spoke of the bleak prospects before the agricultural population as operating against the fund. The Bishop hardly seems to have realized how desperate the situation is. The correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, one tional papers in England, declares that

Cash oats were firm and 10 the west and northwest occurred before the bad weather set in, and at a time when little could be predicted of the harvests. Since then he has obtained reports from official sources-from landlord sources-which can only be described as misleading. The farmers on many of the large estates have apprised Their landlord's agents that no rent can be paid this year because no rent has been earned. But the landlords have entered into a combination for wholesale pressure on the tenants. Using their utmost privileges under the ejectment decrees by the thousand, and an eviction campaign, such as has rarely ever been witnessed in Ireland, is now in progress in many districts. As soon as the rigors of Winter set in the demand for relief will be clamorous. The Government will be compelled to intervene before Parliament opens, or face an accusation of reckless indifference to soffering such as ought to overwhelm any English ministry. With this famine impending, combined with the revelations of the Foreigns Relation Commission, showing how Ireland is annually bled of millions of money to the advantage of Great Britain, it will be no wonder if Irish discontent assumes a more ation for home rule.

Lord Salisbury in his speech at the Guildhall on Monday on the occasion of the banquet to be given by the new Lord Mayor of Landon, will not, according to the belief of the Ministeralists, make any allusion to the abandonment by Great Britain of the island of Cyprus. Indeed the statement made yesterday by the officials of the Foreign Office be true there is no foundation whatever for the report, which was first published in the Truth and then copied by the Daily Graphic. It does not require any political acumes to see that no reference will be made to the evacuation of Cyprus. It is highly probable, however. that Lord Salisbury will, in his speech attack the Porte as destroying the value of the Anglo-Turkish Convention of 1878, under which Cyprus was turned over to the British for administrative

The negotiations for the holding of a conference of the Powers on the Turk. ish question progresses on the lines be fore mentioned in this cable correspondence; that is to say, the proposals made by Lord Salisbury that the clauses of the treaty of Paris giving the Porte power to refuse the passage of the Dardanelles to warships shall be rescinded, that the dministration of the Turkish provinces shall be under the supervision of the European Powers, and that the consideration by any conference of these proposals shall not include any reference to the British occupation of Egypt. Judging from the last information obtainable, it is believed that the Czar's influence has brought about an arrangement of the Anglo-French differences regarding Egypt. This implies a pro-longation of the British occupation of Egypt, with a free hand to extend it to the whole of the upper Nile.

PARIS, November 7.-Advices received here from Constantinople show that when the Sultan received a report of the speech delivered by M. Hanotaux, the French foreign minister, in the Chamber of Deputies last Tuesday in response to an interpellation de manding to know what action France would take in defence of the Armenians, he sent one of his secretaries to M. Cambon, the French ambassador, who impressed upon the secretary the urgency that existed for the Sultan to adopt measures that would reassure public opinion and satisfy Europe.

The Turkish Ambassadar in Paris has now informed M. Hanotaux that the Sultan has decided upon carrying out the following reforms: The release of prisoners throughout the empire against whom no charges are preferred; to instruct the police that peaceable Armenians are not to be persecuted; to convoke an Armenian assembly to elect a patriarch: to court-marshal Mazhr Bey for allowing Father Salvator to be murdered; to dismiss the Vali of Diarbekir for the share he took in the disorders there; to precisely instruct the Valis to suppress violence; to undertake the indemnification of the Roman Catholic convent in Anatolia which was damaged during the outbreaks; to assist the inhabitants of the districts which suffered most and to publish a decree ordering the prompt execution in Anatolia of the reforms granted in 1895 and the extension of these reforms to the whole em

M. Hanotoux thanked the ambassador for the information and told him that he had precisely instructed M Camon to watch the application of these preliminary measures. In his speech to the Deputies in response to the interpellation, which was submitted by M. Denys, Deputy for Cochin, China, and supported by Delafosse, Hubbard and others, M. Hanotoux said that the Armenian movement would not have taken upon itself such an intensity i contact with Europe had not imbued certain Armenians with a desire for independence. The excesses of the Ottoman Government, he said, had furnished legitimate motives for complaint, and when the question assumed an aspect of grave importance England concert was established among the Pow--Spirits ers, and in October, 1895, an understand ing was reached with the Porte that the latter would grant reforms, which unhappily had not yet been applied. Owing to the anarchy which reigned, trouble ensued and France was bound to use language, the strong significance of which Turkey understood. The Powers, he said, were convinced of the necessity of solid union, but there must be no iso lated action and no interference with the integrity of the Empire. "Among the fertile results of the recent visit of the Emperor of Russia to Paris," M. Hanotaux said, "may be mentioned the precise exchange of views in sity of his assuring the security of all his subjects of whatever race. But violence will not aid the task of Europe. France does not forget the traditions of the religious protectorate which she exercises in the Orient, nor the bonds which unite her to the Ottoman Empire, but she must proportion her efforts to the extent of all tasks devolving upon her." NEW YORK, November 7 .- While the Clyde steamer Oneida, bound for Wilmington, N. C., with a general cargo, was passing down East river this afternoon the Atlantic Line ship Olive pulled out from her pier at the foot of Congress street, Brooklyn, and was swinging around, so as to head down the stream. Owing to the strong current her bow was swung against the forequarter of the Oneida, balging several plates above the water line and carrying away six or eight feet of the Oneida's rail and also disarranging the steamer's steering gear. The Olive proceeded down the bay, but was no reported as having passed outside of the Hook, and it is supposed that the captain dropped anchor somewhere down the bay, having ascertained that the injuries to his vessel would prevent him going to sea. By Telegraph to the Morning Star. ! SHENANDOAH, PA., November 7.-Eighty miners had a thrilling experience and miraculous escape from drowning in Packer No. 2 colliery to-day. The recent rains had caused the flooding of part of the mine and a dam was built in No. 1, west gangway, to head off the flood and give the pumps a better chance to catch up. Edward Wilson, a miner employed in No. 4 gangway, noticed the water rapidy rising in this place, and investigation showed that the breastwork in No. 1 was breaking. Wilson immediately gave the alarm inside, but the water rose with such rapidity that the miners were bliged to wade several hundred feet through water up to their neck, and before they reached the bottom of the slope were frequently obliged to swim.

How Thrifty Paris Makes It Cheaper For the Stranger to Stay Than to Go-An American Who Best the Game - The Way It Is Done In England.

Before going abroad it is meet that the unsuspecting native should under-stand one of the ways he is expected to add to the income of thrifty France if he means to stay in that country. This is jest illustrated by a veritable experince. A New Yorker engaged an apartment that had been previously occupied by a member of his own family. When the time came for giving it up, the china was all spread out on the table, and monsieur, madame and the concierge and candles went through the rooms looking for the damages that would have to be settled for before the stranger left. They found the chairs were so injured they would have to be reseated-so much. There was a crack in the mirror over the mantel. A new glass would be necessary-so much. Passing their hands under each of the pieces of china they discovered so many nicks and disfigurements that a new set of china must be bought-so much. "Very well," said the American, settling the bill at once.

"Now I have paid for the chairs, for the new glass and the china, haven't I?" "Yes. Monsieur was very amiable." "Then they're mine. I always did want to smash china. Here goes." Raising his cane he brought it down on the table, and the china flew into fragments. 'This is my mirror. I'll break that too." Whack went the mirror. The group was speechless, but they were not through with this madman plying his cane. One by one he stuck it through the seats of the chairs, wrecking them

"They are all paid for, you know," he said, with a gratified smile. For, you see, his relatives had told him that when they gave up the apartment they, too, had paid for reseating the chairs, replacing the glass and for the damaged

Doubtless the articles had been paid for many times. Many of the owners of these lodgings have secondhand stores, and from these the rooms are furnished. One set of broken down chairs give place to another, decrepit sofa succeeds de crepit sofa, and each is a constant source

After a time the wary stranger learns to protect himself. The manner is tedious, but measurably effective. One fam ily, after a residence of nine years, has reduced it to a science. When engaging an apartment one day is devoted to go ing through it with the owner and lo cating and registering all the blemishes. Even the stains on the walls are numbered, with descriptive attachments. The proprietors invariably protest against such minuteness. "Ah, madame, between ladies, between persons of character!" But the mistress unrelentingly pursues her way. When she gives up the apartment and the pursuit for damages begins, she has with her her register, and drawn horses could not make her pay for a stain if it is recorded in

In England the matter is not such personal one. When a house, lodging or an apartment is given up, each party is represented by an agent, paid at the rate of a guinea a day and expenses. These agents are left to themselves. One of the requirements is that everything must be touched, to assure by persona contact its state. A wall cabinet filled with curios must be opened and a finge laid on each piece in order to keep with in the law. These agents, who are usually fat and easy going, have an amicable, sociable time. They are full of apolo gies, each to the other.

"Now, dear sir, we are not going t draw the lines too tight!" "We, on our part, are quite sure tha you are disposed to be quite fair." Thus they glide swiftly through the piles of bed linen, over the stacks of china and make haste to go out and have a two hoars' lunch together. - New York Ad Of Course There Will. Now comes the word of another dis covery, which if true will excel in interest and importance the celebrated discovery of Roentgen, the X rays. It is said that a photographer named Rogers set up a postage stamp and fixed his gaze upon it for a moment. Then photographic plate was put where the stampahad been. For several minutes the photographer fixed his gaze intently upon this plate and held his mind in tently upon the image of the stamp at the same time. When the plate was de veloped, two impressions, one for each eye, were found upon it, each distinctly resembling a postage stamp. And this idea can thus be carried out ad infinitum, it is claimed. A poet can dispense with the pen by affixing upon the sensitive plates the beautiful images that arise in his brain. Criminals may thus be forced to yield up the secrets of their past lives. The lover can give proof of his faithfulness, and so on into the inexhaustible field of the marvelous. Of course there will be skeptics on all this for awhile. - Cincinnati Times-Star. Hydrogen Peroxide. The bleaching agent of the future says a writer in one of the textile journals, is hydrogen peroxide, and it is even now considerably used in wool bleaching. The yarn is steeped in a so lution of hydrogen peroxide to which a little ammonia has been added, thereby causing the decomposition of the peroxide into water and oxygen. The latter, being in its nascent state, readily at tacks the coloring of the wool and forms a colorless oxidation product. This is permanent white, and should tinting be ecessary it can be done after the bleach ing. The bleached yarn is sometimes washed in acidified water. From time to time various additions have been recommended for the peroxide bath, but with very little or no advantage. The bleaching solution is to be kept alkaline -indeed the more alkaline the liquor the quicker is the oxygen liberated; hence too much ammonia is almost as bad as too little.

A Study In Touching the Button. To recognize a person's voice over a telephone is not regarded as at all strange, and there are times when one can identify a voice conveyed even from a long distance positively as to be able to swear to the identification in a court of law and have the testimony accepted. But to be able to recognize a person's "ring" is quite another thing. An elevator boy in one of the office buildings declares that he can almost invariably tell by the manner in which a person rings the electric bell connected with the elevator by touching the button whether that person is a man or a woman. He can also tell in the sam manner many times just who the person is if one who frequently rides with him. The practiced ear of the telephone girl will also tell her at times who it is that rings up "Central."-Buffalo Courier.

The Fish She Wanted. A lady entered a south end fish market and asked for two pounds of headacke. She meant haddock, but she pronounced the word wrong. While there she said that the fish in this country contained more bones than those in the old country. This may be considered a "fish" story, but it isn't.—New Bed-

Wanted Full Equivalent. What people in the country don't know about their neighbors may safely be put down as not worth knowing. Some city people who had gone to the country to live were in the babit of getting their coffee from town by the quantity. Once the coffee did not arrive in season, and, as the materfamilias "always had a headache unless she had coffee at breakfast, ' she sent to a friendly neighbor and asked for the loan of a small quantity of coffee. The neighbor got the coffee, but in handing it over to the borrower she said;

"We're real glad to lend you this, but when you return it you must remember that we pay 42 cents a pound for our coffee, and you pay only 38, and give us enough more to make up."-Boston Transcript.

Gladness Comes With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper ef forts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts— rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, prompt ly removes. That is why it is the onl remedy with millions of families, and i everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its bene-ficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the gent cle, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative. one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely
