The New York World says Mark Hanna "knows nothing of the higher politics or of the moral and intellectual influences which move the people." The esteemed World should know that the Republican machine manager who depended on moral and intellectual influences would mistake his calling and be as much out of place as an elephant at a chrysanthemum show. Mark knew what he was there for, what he had to depend on, and attended to business. In that party dollars discount by large odds moral and intellectual influences.

A little while ago Mr. Cleveland issued a proclamation urging us all to return thanks because we had been walloped by Mark Hanna, and now Henry Watterson wants us to observe the 8th of January as a day of fasting and prayer, This transit from gay to grave, from rejoicing to humiliation, from praises to supplications, is entirely too sudden for the average American who can't exactly understand why that portion of the Democratic party which isn't sad on account of the spoils they didn't get should wear sackcloth and ashes for side of the insurgents; he think the even one day. As a party it is quite

> Mr. Hanna has given offense to some of the Washington Republicans by selecting a "sound money" Democrat as chairman of the committee of arrangements for the inauguration ceremonies on the 4th of March. This is, of course, as a recognition of the services rendered by the aforesaid s. m. D's. We presume that he would somewhat broaden the recognition by permitting some of them to walk in the procession.

In talking about his connection with the McKinley boom for the Presidency Mark Hanna said he decided to begin that work two years ago, and when he talked about it Mr. McKinley put "his honor" in his keeping, and said "there are some things I will not do for the Presidency." But he did all that his manager required him to do and did it without growling as far as the public

One by one the gold organs are lining up for the war on the greenbacks. The New York Times toes the mark thus: "Every agency engaged in the campaign of education on the principles of sound currency should be maintained in steady activity until the cancellation of every legal-tender note presented and redeemed is made secure." They piped very low on this before the election.

Chicago is counting her big vote at the last election as proof that she has more people than New York. But it musn't be torgotten that Illinois was one of the pivotal States in this election and Cook county the pivotal one in Illinois, which brought Hanna to the fore with his cash and other seductions to swell the vote.

There were two Republican Presi dential electoral tickets in the field in South Carolina at the last election, the Lily Whites, which received 5, 099 votes, and the Black and Tans, which scored 4,215. Both distanced the Palmer decoy ticket, which got

MR. CHAS. M. BONHAM.

His Dead Body Found in the River Near the Foot of Nun Street-Coroner's Inquest - Accidental Drowning the Verdict-The Man and Woman Under Arrest Discharged from Custody.

The mystery attending the disappearance of Mr. Chas. M. Bonham last Friday night (as told in the STAR) was cleared up Sunday afternoon by the discovery of his dead body in the river near the foot of Ann street.

At an early hour last Friday morning, Mr. Bonham left his truck farm, about four miles from the city, and came to town, bringing with him about $61 in money. He was last seen alive that night about 7.80 o'clock, by two colored women, Rena Pearsall and Mary Jane Battle, in a shed used as a warehouse for naval stores on Water between Ann and Nun streets, talking with another colored woman, Ross Ella

Hill. Between 8 and 9 o'clock of the same night Mr. Bonham's horse and cart were found near the railroad track on Water street, between Ann and Nun. Diligent search was made for the owner, but proved fruitless. Foul play was sus pected, and a warrant was issued for the woman (Rose Eila Hill), who was arrested and placed in the guard bouse. The woman denied that she had been in company with Mr. Bonham and claimed an alibi, saying that she was with a sailor, Bob McKendrick, on Friday night. Kendrick was also arrested, but failed to verify the Hill woman's state-

All day Saturday search was made for Mr. Bonham, but without success. Sunday afternoon the river near where he was seen last was dragged by Larry Lowe, and about 4.30 p. m. the body was found.

Coroner Jacobs, who was present, viewed the body and had it removed to an undertaker's shop on North Third street, where it was examined by Dr. Shepard, who did not, however, deem an autopsy necessary. After being prepared for burial the body was removed to the late home of the deceased. Dr. Suepard said there were no marks of violence on the body. tax receipts for about $38.74, a pint found on his person after death.

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock an inuest was held at the Court House, the following being impannelled as a jury by Coroner Jacobs: Dan'l Quinlivan (foreman), I. W. Galloway, Chas. Collins, Thos. C. Miller (col), Alfred A Jordan (col.) and Isaac Brinkley (col.) The jury then adjourned until 12 m. At 18 o'clock the jury reassembled father, Chas, M. Bonham. W. K. Vann, testified: "I was with Mr. Bonham Friday night last about 7 80 o'clock at Mr. A. C. Wessell's store. We talked about a set of harness which he was thinking of buying from me. I took a drink with him and a man named Martin. Saw Bonham take out a purse, the same as the one that was found on him Sunday, and pay the barkeeper fit teen cents. He had both paper and silver money in the purse. He was not drunk but had been drinking." Fritz Punke, who clerks for Mr. Wessell, and Martin Adams (colored), corroborated Mr. Vann's statement. W. H. Todd testified: "Last Friday night the captain of the three-masted schooner Wm. T. Green, lying at Northrop's mill, and on which I was employed as watchman, sent me up to Mrs. Williamson's on an errand. While I was walking on the dummy railway track, which runs up Water street, I came across a horse and cart between Ann and Nan streets. The horse was without a bridle and grazing alongside the track. Took hold of the horse and turned him around and lead him up Water street. I hollowed for its owner. but received no reply. I met a man who told me the horse and cart belonged to Mr. Chas. Boaham. I then blew my police whistle. Officer Wm. Murray and two women came up. When the trio walked up, the two women. Rena Pearsall and Mary Jane Battle, said. There is the horse and cart now. then left the horse and cart with Police Officer Kuhl, who had in the meantime come up, and west with the two women back to where I had found the horse and cart, and by the light of a torch searched the yard, but found nothing. One of the women said. 'I believe that woman Ella has drowned him.' We then went to hunt for Rose Etla Hill, and after searching two dance halls finally arrested her on Nutt street near Grace. Sie accompanied us back to the yard and we made another search, but again found nothing. Rena Pearsall and Mary Jane Battle pointed out the place where they said they had seen Rose E la Hill and Mr. Bonham talking. The Hill woman said she didn't know anything about it. She appeared to be perfectly cool, but gave two different names."

Rena Pearsall testified: "Mary Jane Battle and myself were walking up the dummy railroad track on Water street last Friday night between 8 and 9 o'clock. We saw a horse and cart | caught up with them, and have led since. standing at a gate. We heard some They now have one majority, the figures one talking. A man got out of the standing 9 for the Biues" to 8 for the cart and commenced talking with Rose Etla Hill. As we moved off we heard them talking underneath the rosin shed, which is near by. We then went and told Police Officer Murray. We started on back, but met Mr. Todd with a horse and cart." [She corroborated the rest of

Mr. Todd's testimony.] R. A. Biddle testified that he saw two men carry Mr. Bonham out of Mr. Wessell's store, Friday night, and put him in his cart. The horse went tonouncement in another column for full ward's Front street. Mr. Bonham was under the influence of liquor.

last I was sitting down by a spring near the foot of Ann street. I heard a fuss, and looked around but saw nothing.

Rose Ella Hill testified: "Friday night

Walked down the dummy track nearly to the gas house, and then turned around and walked back again. I walked up and down the track about four times; saw the horse and cart each time, and at last walked down to Mrs. Williamson's dance hall. After staying there a little while I again walked down the track. Between Ann and Nun streets I saw the cirt again; an old man was kneeling down beside it.

Chief of Police Jno. R. Melton and Robt, McKendrick also testified. The jury, after being out about thirty minutes, returned a verdict of accidental drowning. Rose Hilland Robt. McKendrick were then discharged from custody. .

OPERA HOUSE. Miss Minnie Maddern Fisks in "The Right to Happiness"-The Adapter of the Play, Miss Marguerite Merrington, Among

Her Auditore.

Those who braved the storm last night n order to see Minnie Maddern Fiske and her fine support at the Opera House were indeed fortunate. "The Right to Happiness," the play presented, is a comedy of sentiment adapted from the German by Marguerite Merrington. Mrs. Fiske is an actress of ability and is one of the few actresses on the stage today who can intermix pathos with comedy and vice versa. As Madeline, the cripple, she fully displayed her power as an actress. Mrs. Fiske's support was very fine. In Mr. Jas. H. Colville and Mr. Raymond Winfield she possesses a right and left bower of the very best. The other roles in the cast were also in the hands of competent players. At the end of the second act Mrs. Fiske was obliged to resoond to an encore.

The famous American dramatist and adapter of the beautiful play, Miss Margurite Merrington, of New York city, was present and occupied a seat in the parquet during the performance. Miss Mer-While in the city Friday Mr. Bonham rington, besides having adapted "The collected rents for different stores | Right to Happiness," is the author of E. owned by him, but only $3.61 in money, H.
