THE STAR is in receipt of the Norember edition of "Cotton Facts" by Mr. Alfred B. Shepperson, Cotton Exchange Building, New York. Mr. Shepperson is one of the recognized authorities on this subject, and this book contains a large amount of information, condensed and conveniently compiled, which the cotton handlers and cotton growers will find valuable. As a comprehensive book for ready reference, it is all that need be desired.

Proceedings of the Regular Monthly Meeting Held Yesterday, of the Brach Swept Away. The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday at 19 30 p. m., President Jas. H. Howell, Jr., of Wilmingtonians. the special committee appointed at the last meeting to correspond with Samuel Spencer, Esq , president of the Southern Railway Company, and Messrs. Wm. Johnson & Co., of Liverpool, making inquiry and suggestion as to the port of Wilmington, reported that the committee had written to Messra. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

DEAR SIR:—We are in receipt of yours, but are not likely to have any business with your port. Yours, truly. Wm. Johnston & Co. SOUTHERN RAILWAY CO.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT, NEW YORK November 29. Mr. A. J Howell Ir., Wilmington Cham DEAR SIR:-I have your letter of the 14th instant, the contents of which are noted with interest. In making the arrangements to which you refer for lines of steamers from Southern ports to European ports, the port of Wilmington did not enter into our calculations for the reason that the Southern Railway has no entrance into that port, and has no particular affiliations or business with lines running

Of course, you will understand that the Southern Railway Company does not undertake to control the ocean carriage from any port, but has simply made arrangements for connections at he ports in which it is specially inter-

Messrs. William Johnston & Co., who represent the steamship portion of the through line to Europe, have widened out these arrangements so as to em-brace ports at which the Southern Railway has no interest and nower. I can only suggest that your commit

The Southern Railway Company has only undertaken to deal with Messrs. William Johnston & Co. with reference to the ports of Norfolk and Brunswick. as we are unable to deliver freights to steamship companies at any other ports and, therefore, do not see how we could materially assist you in the master of steamship lines to and from Wilmington.

Yours, very truly, S. SPENCER, President. On motion of Mr. Don McRae, a committee consisting of Messrs. Wm. French, E.S. Tennent and F. P. Huggins, was appointed to try and induce the steamship line which will run from Boston to Wilmington and thence to Charleston

Great Damage to Co tages of Summer Residents at Osean View-A Large Part The northeast gale that prevailed along the coast last Tuesday swept Wrightsville beach with resistless fury, causing great damage to property at Ocean View, a Summer resort dear to ary. It will elect a United States A gentleman who visited the place resterday tells the STAR that the beach in front of the cottages, extending from Mr. Fishblate's cottage on the north to Mrs. Mayo's hotel on the scu b, is washed away. The cottages of Mr. A M. Waddell. Jr., Mr. Walters, Mr. Corbett, Mr. J. H. Chadbourn, Mr. W. H. Chadboura and Mr. C. C. Livingstone have the appearance of having been built on a chiff-six feet above the a daily newspaper. ocean. The waves went under every one of these houses.

Mr. Jis Sprunt's cottage was under mined and is standing at an angle, with the front down on the beach and the rear high on the hil.

At Mr. F. W. Foster's cottage it was sound that nearly all the under pinning was washed out and the house was supported only by the posts of the front prazza and at the rear. If the tide last | the history of North Carolina daily night did not throw it down it was thought probable that the house would break in two with its own weight.

The front piazza of Mr. C. Livingstone's house is washed away. Mr. Wadley's cottage is safe, but the lattice-work is smashed.

Mr. Jenkins' cottage is damaged; nearly every support under the piazza and front of the house is gone and the house sags in the centre. The sea washed under the Butters cottage, demolished the bulkhead and smashed the lattice work. Mr. E. J. Powers' cottage was undermined by the waves, but only slightly damaged. Capt. Kenan's cottage is intact, but the front steps are gone and the beach washed away.

The Clarendon Club house is in dangerous condition; undermined and the mud-sills exposed. The lattice work at the Schloss cottage was smashed and the beach in front badly washed. Tae Shaw cottage was washed down The front piazz 1 was carried away. Judge Russell's cottage sags badly; some of the supports, including the corner-posts of the front piazza, being washed away. The Van Amringe cottage looked unsafe. Several supports to the front piazza are gone.

Both bath houses belonging to the botel are badly damaged. Supports are gone, and it was thought likely that the next tide would cause more damage. Some of the supports under the Mayo hotel were washed out.

Part of the Atlas house with the piazza blown down. At the Shelter of the Silver Cross the damage is slight; the bulkhead and part of the steps are washed away.

The Carolina Yacht Club house is apparently uninjured; the waves demolished the bulkhead between this house and the Lord cottage.

From this point beyond to Moore's inlet the damage is very slight, owing to the greater width of the beach. Mr. James Sprunt sent workmen down yesterday to remove the furniture in his house to Mr. Bridgers' cottage.

OPERA HOUSE. The Henshaw-Ten Brosck Company Gave a Fine Performance Leat Night. For two hours and a half at the Opera house last night fun was fast and furious. The Henshaw-Ten Broeck Company presented their scintillant comedy, "The Nabobs," before a good sized audience. Like most farce comedies the plot is not a very strong one, but it is not upon the plot that the "Nabobs" depend for success, but upon the players who are cast in the different roles. Mr. Henshaw, as Howell I. Dodge, and Mr. Frank David, as Barna. bee Potter-Mr. Dodge's partner in misery-headed the company of funmakers, and if they were the only ones in the cast the play would always be a "go" and never fail to please. These two kept the audience convulsed, and between breaths in stepped some other mirth provoker. Miss May Ten Broeck filled the role of Zenobia Dodge much to the delight of the audience. To give the names of the stars-for they were all stars-and credit each one justly, would take up too much ments. The specialties of the different members were all good, especially the topical song singing of Mr. Henshaw, the dancing of Miss Sophia Witt, the singing of Miss Clara Livine and Mr. Eiw. Webb, and the travesty dancing of Mr. Blaisdell. The second act, which occurred during the rehearsal of a comic opera, was very fine. In fact, the troupe is composed of number one artists.
