THE PRIZE RING. Peter Maher and Tom Sharkey Training for a Contest Next Thursday in New York City. Interest in the sporting world is now centered upon the coming fight between the two fistic gladiators, Peter Maher and Tom Sharkey. The battle will be pulled off next Thursday at the Palace the latest telegraphic news, the best Athletic Club, New York city, under local news, reliable market reports, the management of Billy Brady, who has been identified with James J. Corbett during all of his great fights. The predictions of the entire sporting fraternity is that the coming battle will be one of the hardest ever fought in the pugilistic arena.

That Peter Maher is a game and powerful fighter has been forcibly illustrated many times, and he is conceded to be the hardest hitter in the prize ring, barring none. It is true that he is lacking in science, but so is his opponent, Sharkey. Of the two. Maher, at any rate, is the quickest fighter. Maher, with the exception of having been whipped twice by Champion Bob Fitzsimmons, once in New Orleans, 1893, in twelve rounds, and once in San Frantwelve rounds, and once in San Francisco, last year, in less than one round, bears a good record. Sharkey is noted as being a hard fighter and a tough one, and generally commences to fight in its most defined sense at once. Although his record is a short one, yet he boasts of having made a show of four rounds with Corbett at San Francisco last year, and he was also granted a victory over Fitz. he was also granted a victory over Fitz-simmons at San Francisco last year on an alleged foul, which all statements show that Lankey Bob never delivered If training counts for anything, Sharkey should be in good condition, as he is being assisted in his preparations for the contest by Joe Chonyski, who recently ended the puglistic aspirations of Denver Ed. Smith.

Maher is training at Westchester, NY., near the Morris Park race track while Sharkey is laboring at Bochan's road house, New Dorp, S. I. A $15,000 purse is the inducement for the winner
