Have. charged with attempting to practice sbortion (having been out since 7 o'clock of the previous afternoon) came into Court, by order of Judge Sutton, and announced that they had not agreed upon a verdict, nor did they see any likelihood of agreeing. Judge Sutton ordered a juror withdrawn and a mistrial had. C. P. Lockey. Esq., representing the State, said that the vote of the jury had been eight for conviction and four for acquittal, and requested the Court to place Hays under a bond estificient to warrant his appearance at the next regular term. Judge Sutton fixed the bond at $300 (justified) and Herbert McClammy, Esq., one of Hays' counsel, ater, gave the required bond. Robt. Williams, colored, charged two cases with larceny, pleaded guilty and prayed the mercy of the Court. Judge Setton investigated one of the cases, and upon ascertaining that Williams was an old offender, sentenced him to eighteen months in the penitentiary. Williams is the boy arrested last Saturday night by two of Capt, Grant's men, while trying to dispose of a set of stolen harness, which turned out to be the property of Mr. Sol. Bear and Mr.

Judge Sutton said he would have pur sued the course asked for by Mr. Lockey if he had not heard the evidence in the case, and therefore would require each of the defendants to give $50 bond, acceptable by the clerk.

Styron, one of the delendants, gave the bond required and was released. Solicitor Richardson stated that he had been informed that the authorities of the Insane Asylum at Raleigh had declared that Jno. C. Davis, sgainst whom in this county," cases of false pretence, embezziement, forgery, etc., are still pending, was sane, and asked the Court's permission, it he saw fit, after consultation with Marsden Bellamy, Esq., county legal adviser, to have a caples issued for Davis. Judge Sutton granted the Solicitor's request.

After the docket had been looked over, and cost cases adjusted, Court adourned for the term, to meet again the econd Monday in October.

Jao. C. Davis Is No Longer Incone. In all probability Jao. C. Davis, who is too well knows to the Wilmington public to need an introduction, will be brought back to this city and tried on some of the various charges, embezzlement, false pretence, etc., now pending in the Criminal Court of this county against him. Dr. Geo. L. Kirby of the insane asylum at Raleigh, where Davis is now confined, sent word to the county authorities here that Davis is once more sane, and if that be so, he will be brought back to this city and tried, as upon his last trial be was only declared insane at that time, and not at the time it is alleged he committed the various crimes charged against, him. SUN IN ECLIPSE.

Sky Clear of Clouds-Smsked-Glass Observers on Mearly Every Street Corner. A good deal of practical astronomy so far as that science bears on eclipses, was learned here yesterday in a quiet way. Smoked glass for the purpose of making observations was quite abundantly used all over the city, and here and there people with a more than ordinary fondness for the science of the heavenly bodies turned their telescopes upon the solar

Some of the bits of information about eclipses that were picked up in one way or another yesterday, were somewhat as

An eclipse such as that of yesterday, or more briefly, a solar eclipse, is caused by the moon's shadow sweeping over the earth and totally or partially obscuring the sun to observers on that part of the earth where the shadow falls. Whether the eclipse is total or partial depends upon the position of the observer. If he is within the shadow cone the sunlight is entirely cut off by the moon and darkness is complete except so far as light enters by refraction or reflection-If the eclipse watcher were standing in the conical region embraced between the lines of the shadow cone (in section) extended beyond the point of their intersection, he would witness an annular eclipse, the sun presenting the appearsace of an angulus or ring of light around the moon.

There is another region, and a much larger one, which, cannot well be described without a drawing, where the observer would see the moon only partly projected upon the sun, only a part of the sun's light accordingly being cut off Taese were the conditions yesterday and the eclipse was what is known as a partial eclipse except in Cuba and Mexico.

where it was annular. The results of actual observation yesterday are already familiar to those who witnessed the eclipse, but for the benefit of those who didn't they are submitted herewith: About 845 o'clock the observer, enabled by the use of smoked glass to look with impunity at the suo, saw a dark spot on the edge of the great luminary. Half an hour later the sun looked as if a good quarter of its face had been bitten off, and about half past nine when the obscuration was greatest, the darkened part on the sun's surface was fully threelourths of the whole. A change in the sunlight was quite perceptible. The sky wore the appearance it does when a storm is rising and the effect was as it the sun was sending his rays through blue glass. After 9 80 the obscured part of the sun grew smaller until at 11.19 the earth emerged into the full brightness of the sun's rays. A Shrewd Scamp Arrested.

For some time past, previous to yesterday, a colored boy, Edw. Russell, about fifteen years of age, was employed to deliver milk by Mrs. Sam'l Carmon, who resides on Fourth street, between Red Cross and Campbell, Russell seemed to be a smart chap and attentive to his work, but as the days went by Mrs. Carmon noticed that the demand for milk became greater, and the money realized from the sales less; yet Russell turned in tickets for every sale he made. Upon looking into the matter Mrs. Carmon discovered that Russell instead of delivering milk to her patrons, had been selling it to others at six cents per quart, and had been turning in tickets which he had stolen from her house, repeating the theft every time he needed tickets and money. The shrewd young thief was arrested and tried by Justice Fowler yesterday afternoon. He was committed to jul in default of $50 bond for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court. Rossell states that he is a native of Florence, S. C. School Tex Uppppplar. The people of New Hanover are either lacking in patriotism or they are dead 'agin' the special school tax. One or the other alternative must be accepted, else how is it that many of them refused to take the ballot boxes to the various polling places when asked to do so without remuseration? Yesterday the county authorities made an urgent appeal three successive times upon three citizens, presumably good and loyal ones, of Federal Point township, to take the boxes to the places where they can be put in use on Tuesday week. In every case the question of the consideration prevented a closing of the bargain. In strict truthfulness it deserves to be said that the ballot boxes for use in Harnett and Masonboro townships were carried down without cost to the county. In these cases, however, it may be supposed that the spirit of accommodation arose from patriotism more than for anxiety for the school tax.

James King Painfully Hart. James King, a young white man who frives one of Sternberger Brothers' delivery wagons, was painfully burt last night while engaged in carrying the goods from the old stand on Market street to the new one on Front street. Young King was trying to take from a spring cart, elevated some three or four feet from the ground, a coffee mill which weighs four hundred pounds. The weight proved too much, and he fell with the mill on top of him. He was taken at once to the office of Dr. E. S. Pigford for treatment. Examination showed that ac ankle had been sprained and his nose laid open by the rim of the mill wheel. The gash bled freely and as follows: "Favetteville has begun It will take several days for Mr. King to recover from his injuries.

WEDDING BELLS. Marriage of Miss George Baldwin Atkins to Mr. Arthur Wilkinson Danning in St. Jemes' Church. Yesterday evening at 6 80 o'clock in St. James' Episcopal Church, Miss George Baldwin Atkins, of this city, and Mr. Arthur Wilkinson Dunning, of Cambridge, Mass., formed a union for life. The interior of the church where this joyous event was celebrated presented truly a magnificent sight, with its artistic floral decorations, so tastily designed by the hand of a decorative artist ol superior skill and tact. Palms and yellow marigolds formed the main coloring of this beautiful picture.

When the hour arrived for the wedding the organ, under the skilled and musical touch of Miss Anna Spruntpealed forth Lohengren's "Briday Chorus," and responding the bridal party entered in the following order: Messrs. H. Roger Moore and F. Hancock, ushers, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Anne Moore, habited in a beautiful gown of white organdic and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations; then the bride, attired in a handsome tailor-made suit of blue and carrying a large bouquet of bride roses, followed, leaning on the arm of her step father, Col. Roger Moore, who gave her away. At the altar the groom, attended by his best man, Mr. Harold M. Chase, met the party, and Miss Atkins and Mr. Danning were then united in marriage by Rev. Edward Abbott, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass., step father of the groom, assisted by Rev. Robert Strange, D. D., pastor of St. James' Church. As the bridal party was leaving the church Miss Sprunt rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, and the bell high up in the belfry rang out the happy tidings. Mr. and Mrs. Dunning left on the 15 o'clock north bound Atlantic Coast Line train for a visit to Canada, and on their return trip will stop in Maine. Mrs. Edward Abbott, mother of the groom, was in attendance at the marriage. The many presents received by the happy couple from their relatives and numerous friends were handsome and costly.
