COTTON FACTS AND FIGURES.

Mr. Henry G Hester, Secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Ex change, havinged his report of the eatton clop and classimption for '96-'97 We have not seen it, but gather the substance of it from the New Orleans Times Democrat. The tollowing table shows the size and walke of the crop as compared with other years back to '91-'93

	Balen	V aluer.
1396 97	9,757,954	$221 994 850
1395-95		394,095 347

1391 03	9 081 379	339,845 711

The crop of 91 93 was the largest in bales and in value, amounting to $17,000,000 more than the crop of the previous year, although Mr. Hester thinks the last crop setted farmers more clear money because it was produced for less money and more home supplies were raised, thus avoiding the necessity of spending the money made on cotton for fundstuffe formerly purchased from other sections. Compared with the wear before there was an increase of 1,600,608 bales, with an increase in walun of $37,829,487. Speaking of the depression in the cotton manufacturing industry he says

- Lexington Dispatch: Capt. H.R. Gillingham, a prominent mining man, returned Monday 'rom Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, where te had been on important mining business. He tells us that gold. As we see it, according to the the Silver Valley Gold and Silver mines will go to work soon, and run in full force; and that this will only be a beginning in the operation of mines in Davidson county.

- Louisburg Times : Turner Debnam and Joshua Wilder, aged 14 and 15 years, were placed in jail yesterday, having been bound over to court by T. P. Tharrington, Justice of the Peace at Franklinton. They are both colored, and are charged with committing a "nameless" assault upon Mary Rowe, colored, aged 10 years. From what we them. can learn the evidence is very strong against the boys. There was no perceptible feeling displayed at Frank liaton by the colored people. DDCC.

- Lincoln Journal: A desperate and bloody fight took place at Starrtown, in Catawba county, Saturday between Jim Murphy, a desperate character living in that section, and a young man named Lester Conrad, or Conrad. Conrad accused Murphy of stealing from him and this caused the fight. Conrad first cut Murphy, inflicting serious wound on his throat. Murphy then cut Conrad's throat, it is said a'most from ear to ear. Murphy is in jall in Newton, and Conrad is lying at the point of death, with but slight chances of recovery. Blockkade liquor is said to be at the bottom of the trouble.

- Shelby Aurora: Mr. Haywood Harmon lives on Benson's Creek, No. 4 township, within one fourth of a mile from where he was born on the 3d of September, 1808. On last Thursday he gathered together about thirty (all that could come) of his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, when he celebrated his 80th birthday. The old gentleman is hale and hearty, as lively as immoral to stamp gold, which in its a sixteen year old boy. He was never sued but once, never gave a mortgage and never took but one dose of medicine from a doctor and says he regrets having taken that one dose Mr. Harmon is about the oldest citizen in the county. - Charlotte News: The corru gated iron buildings located in the rear of the old cemetery on West Sixth street were burned to the ground Monday afternoon. The buildings were owned and occupied by Mr. E. M. Andrews as a mattress and spring factory. The workmen had just resumed work after the dinner hour, when one of the men detected the odor of fire and before he had time to call for help a huge flame swept through the building.

Both houses were filled with shucks and other inflammable material, and it was only a short while before all may find interesting. Published by Toe the contents were destroyed. Mr. After a has valuer he or
