COURT ADJOURNS TO-DAY.

Very Few Cases Remain Untried---Judge Sutton at Warrenton Next Week---Cases Tried Vesterday.

The present special term of the New Hanover Criminal Court will adjourn this afternoon and Judge Sutton leaves to-morrow for Warrenton where he convenes a court Monday morning. It is thought that not more than a half dozen cases will have to be continued from this term of the court here. There were about 198 cases when court convened last Monday.

In the court yesterday Robt. Smitn. colored, was convicted of the charge of carrying concealed weapons and given six months in the County House of Correction. Smith is the fellow who was tried before Justices Bunting and McGowan Thursday and against whom so many criminal charges were developed, as narrated in vesterday MORNING STAR. In all the remaining cases judgment was suspended. Boston Spellman, remembered here as the man charged with stabbing James Kelly at Wrightsboro December 12th, was found not guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon and discharged. Mike Davidson submitted to a charge of trespass and was dismissed on payment of costs. Verdicts of not guilty were returned n the cases of Alice Sanders, charged with slander, and Moses Williams, charged with larceny. When the court took a recess at 5.10 o'clock Agnes Hurst was on trial for assault with a deadly weapon. The jury had been impaneled and much of the testimony taken. The hearing will be resumed at 9.30 o'clock this morning.

"PRINCE RUDOLPH,"

The Comedy to be Presented by Otis Skinner Next Tuesday,

There are five short acts in "Prince Rudolph," the new romantic comedy which Otis Skinner will present at the Opera House next Tuesday evening.

" At the beginning of the present century there existed in what is now he German Empire many exceedingly small principalities, and it is in one of these, which the author of the play has called Kronefeld, that the action takes place. The first act of "Prince Ru dolph" takes place in the cottage of a farmer; the second, third and fourth acts are located in the palace at Lauterheim, Kronefeld, the second being placed in the ante-room of the State oall-room, while the third and fourth have for their locale the council chamber in the palace. The last act, which is divided into two scenes, shows for the first set a room in the fortress prison of Kronefeld—Drachenstein Castle—and the second set is the same as act first, the interior of a farmer's cottage. "Prince Rudolph" reads most beautifully and it should prove a very great success.

The company carries a car load of scenery and a magnificent production will be given. Sale of reserve seats begins Monday morning at 7 o'cleck at Gerken's. Prices as usual, $1.00, excepting box seats, which will be $1.50

A Handsome Granite and Marble Structure in Oakdale Cemetery.

THE MURCHISON MAUSOLEUM.

Work is now in progress upon quite handsome mausoleum in Oakdale Cemetery. It is for Col. K. M. Murchison, and Messrs, H. A. Tucker & Bro. of this city, are the contractors.

The structure is to cost $10,000, and will be completed by March 1st. Already the foundation of crushed granite and cement, extending ten feet above ground, is in place and the walls of the mausoleum proper are being raised. For the exterior rough-finished Mt. Airy granite is being used and the interior will be of finely polished Tennessee marble throughout. There are to be twelve catacombs. The door of the mausoleum is to be of bronze and "Murchison" will be carved upon the stone just above the entrance. The roof will be dome shaped with appropriately designed ornaments in the centre and at the four corners. The contractors have about tifteen skilled stone-cutters engaged for the work besides a number of laborers.

SUNNY SOUTH COLONY.

New Recruits from the West for the Settlement at Chadbourn.

Mr. Jas. W. Wilson, business manager of the Farm, Field and Fireside, Chicago, and promoter of the Sunny South Colony at Chadbourn, was here vesterday with a number of new recruits for the colony. He was accompanied by Mr. D. H. Harnley, editor of the Planters' and Truckers' Journal, who has been to his former home in Illinois to spend Christmas. The party were stopping at the Bonitz House, and left on the 4 o'clock train for Chadbourn. The prospectors will be back here in a week or so, most of them on their way home to get their effects and come South to live.

The colony is growing rapidly. The inducements that are offered are such that the Western farmers cannot resist them. The climate is good, so is the soil, and the price of land is very considerably lower than in the thickly settled portions of the country from which the colonists came.

No New Cases --- The One Patient Improving---No Decision As to a Pest House.

There were practically no developments in the small-pox situation yesterday. Dr. W. D. McMillan, superintendent of health, keeps a strict watch on the only patient and all who have been in any way exposed. Some idea of the strictness of the precaution taken to prevent the spread of the disease may be had from the fact that one of the persons kept under strict quarantine is a little child, who ran through the house where the patient lies.

There are no new cases, and there is good ground for hoping that there will not be any new ones. The patient had been thoroughly vaccinated several years'ago, and his condition is not at all serious. The crisis of the disease is passed, and he is expected to get better from to-day on.

Last night Mayor Wright stated that the location of the pest house had not been finally decided upon. But the impression prevails that the old pest house on the river, about three miles from the city, will be used. It has been a long time since it was used and extensive repairs will have to be made, but if the building is decided upon tt will not take long to get it in readiness. A new roof, underpinning, and new blinds and sash will be needed. While the repairs are being made, the patient will remain at his home on Hanover street, and a good many think that it would be best to let him remain

There has been but little vaccination done so far on account of the scarcity of virus. But the physicians have received calls enough to show them that they will have a good deal of work in the next few days.

Last night was not marked by any such disturbance as that of the night before. It was rumored that the colored people were trying to get fire to the other building on the same lot with the one burned down. But this turned out to be a rumor only. There duties of life. The child who cannot was just a faint suspicion, however, on now with ordinary ambition secure the part of the colored population, that an attempt would be made to carry the sick man to the house, and all night they were on the watch to see it any such effort would be made.

THAT POSTMASTERSHIP.

Rumors That Appointment Is Held Up By a Railroad Deal---But "Watch the Professor."

And now comes the report (in fact it has been here several days) that the appointment of Col. Willing Harmony Chadbourn is held up on account of a railroad "deal" in which the Southern has an interest. This may or not be true; but whether it is or not, the STAR sees no reason for doubting that the Colonel will soon be in the snug quarters now occupied by Mr. Morton, when the question of "harmony" will be considered by the committee on post-office patronage and himself. This P. P. committee, as heretofore stated in the STAR, consists of Col. Jupiter Epaminondas Albright, Col. Bucephalus Furioso Rice and Col, Jeremiah Tecumseh Howe. Concerning the "deal" referred to above, it may be remarked that the names of the Hon. Aurelius Bonaparte Andrews, the Hon. Jeewhillikins Compromise Pritchard, the Hon. Demosthenes Lycurgus Russell and a few others are prominently mentioned. It is said the Southern wants something good, and must have it before the postmastership question is settled. But just 'watch the professer." Keep your eye on Col. Wily Cunning Chadbourn. His ship is ready, "armed and equipped; and he is just waiting for "sealed orders." When these come, he will sail right into the public building on Front street.

Tenth Y. M. C. A. Anniversary.

The Young Men's Christian Association is preparing to fittingly celebrate the tenth anniversary of their organization. The date chosen for the celebration is January 31st and the programme is in charge of Miss Cannie

The Association was really organized ten years ago the 5th of last November. The deferment of the celebration has been in order that accurate reports of the full year's work might be prepared. This anniversary event is to be held in the auditorium, and aside from the reports and address there is to be a special musical programme in which it is promised that much of the very best talent of the city is to participate.

"A Day in Heaven."

To-morrow night at the first Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. W. B. Oliver, will preach a special sermon from the subject, "A Day in Heaven." The same sermon was delivered by Mr. Oliver some time ago, and those who heard it were so well pleased that they requested him to repeat it. A special programme of music will be rendered.

City May Have to Pay.

It is more than possible that the city of Wilmington will ultimately have to pay the value of the pest house building destroyed by an incendiary fire yesterday morning. The company in which the property was insured may reimburse the owner; but if it does, it will be likely to try to "recoup" the amount from the city.

AT TILESTON SCHOOL.

Hemenway, of Boston.

WILMINGTON'S BENEFACTOR.

School Committees Present---Address by Mr. Jas. F. Post. Jr., One of the Committee.

Messrs. James F. Post, Jr., and Ed of District No. 1, and Messrs. Jas. H. Chadbourn and Samuel Northrop, of the school committee, of District No. 2, paid the Tileston High School an official visit yesterday to formally present to the school a portrait of the late Mrs. Mary Hemenway. Mr. Chadbourn, through whose efforts the portrait was secured, had temporary charge of the exercises and Mr. Samuel Northrop conducted the religious service.

Mr. James F. Post, Jr., arose and stated that ever since the committees had acquired the school property from the trustees of the Hemenway estate, they had desired to secure something to serve as a daily reminder of one whose generosity had furnished such a magnificent building free of charge to the tax payers of Wilmington. Mr. Post spoke of the beautiful life of Mrs. Hemenway and said that he hoped that her life would be an inspiration to the young men and women of the school. Then he read the following ad-

Schools, City.

DEAR SIR: Having been requested by the joint committee of the public schools of this city to present the portrait of the late Mrs. Hemenway to the Tileston High School, the following thoughts presented themselves to

We live in an age of educational advantages; all around us are daily seen evidence of the growing desire to give the rising youth every opportunity to fit themselves for the sterner sufficient learning to form a basis for a useful citizenship, must cer-tainly be a dullard and not alive to the chances that are offered to him. We are fortunate indeed to have men and women who with no hope of earthly reward are working for this cause; whose zeal and ardor knows no languishment. Our own community is keeping marked pace with the outside world in its onward march of material progress in the educational field, and so we feel that the people of Wilmington and New Hanover county are to be congratulated upon the conservative management of the public schools and the judicious expenditure (for the purpose of education) of the money entrusted to the hands of their chosen existence, every thing was chaos, it was only through the medium of private schools that a child could get a smattering of education, and this avenue was only open to the children of the more favored classes. Just at this crisis, when there seemed to be no future for the youth in our city, there was brought about a deliverance so to speak in the shape of a public benefactor, whose acts carried happiness and enlightenment into the homes of many of our people whose children apparently would otherwise have been steeped in ignorance. Is it necessary for me to say to whom this community owes a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid except through the grateful hearts of those who have been the recipients of Mrs. Hemenway's benefactions, for it is of her that ! speak? 'Nearly every young man and oung woman with whom we come in contact to-day received either in part or wholly their education at the Tileston Normal School of which Mrs, Hemenway was the founder, and so it s no stretch of imagination for you to elieve and for me to say that she has done more for the cause of education in our midst than any one other individual. About twenty-five years ago, the late Mrs. Hemenway furnished the money to purchase these beautiful grounds which surround this stately building and later erected this building which we now occupy. For twenty years she annually appropriated out her private means the sum of $5,-000 for the purpose of carrying on the work of education at the Tileston Normal School and am reliably informed by Mr. Chadbourn, who was her trusted agent and life-long friend, that she spent during her lifetime about $135. 000 in carrying on this noble work amongst our people. "Large was her bounty and her soul sincere." She had no special reason for selecting our community in which to pour out with unstinted hand the means with which to carry on such a commendable en terprise. It was only her general de sire, as I understand it, to do good with the means with which God had blessed her that prompted her to take such unfailing and deep interest in the cause of education in our midst.

way we should endeavor to keep fresh in the minds of the youth of to-day, especially those who now attend this school and those who will go in and out of this building, seeking an education, the invisible cause so to speak, that granted to us the privilege of its use free of cost; and so it remained for Mr. Chadbourn, who is ever ready to give the meed of praise to whom it is due, to undertake to procure a portrait of the late Mrs. Hemenway, whose generosity while living enabled us to secure for our children a liberal education; and the dead yet speaketh to those who do follow after her. It is the desire of the committee, sir, that this portrait shall be hung upon the walls of this hall in such a place that all who enter it may look upon that kindly face of her who was surely the children's friend, and I do sincerely hope and confidently expect that whenever they gaze upon this portrait that each one of these teachers and scholars may think on nobler things and thus receive fresh inspiration and go for-ward with renewed energy and determination to reach the goal mark of

That Burned Pest House.

The dwelling to have been used as a temporary pest house, which was burned yesterday morning, was owned by J. H. Chadbourn & Co. and was insured for $300 with the German American Company, Col. Walker Taylor local agent. The building was only what is termed a story and a jump high and is said to have been insured as near the full value limit as insurance companies usually go. The owners say they look exclusively to the insurance company for reimbursement; but that it is possible that the German American will make a demand upon the city for damages. Chadbouru & Co. have placed their policy in the hands of Col. Taylor for settlement.
