REPUBLICAN INSURGENTS.

The conditions, politically, are somewhat peculiar in North Carocrats. Two years ago we were divided on the silver question, while the Republicans were united, and the Populists stood with the Republicans in the State campaign. Now the Democrats are as solid as a stone wall, while the Republican party and the Populist party are both divided into factions and factions that war with each other.

In the centre and the West the uprising against the bosses in the Republican camp has attained such proportions that they are called insurgents, and the insurrection is giving the bosses a world of trouble. The insurgents refuse to be argued off or bought off. If they refuse to be bought off they must be desperately in earnest, for there must be something very serious in the way when a Republican kicker refuses to be bought off. In the Eighth and Ninth districts the insurrection is alleged to be against "ring rule," against Republican conventions being controlled by Federal office-holders in the interest of the the offices they hold.

This may be the true reason, but when was the time in North Carolina when Republican conventions were not controlled by Federal office-holders? We have seen a good many of them in our day, but we have never seen one in which the Federal office-holder was not very much in evidence. In fact, manipulating conventions is part of the business of Federal office-holders, and a very considerable part. Offensive partisanship never figured in their vocabulary, and none of them have ever been known to have been reproved for too much zeal.

They have generally succeeded in keeping in the background the colored brothers who happened to get into their conventions, but in the last one which met in Raleigh they were not so fortunate, for Congressman White (black), of the Second district, broke through the barbedwire fence and got way up at the front, and while at the front lectured some of the white contingent for their cowardice in trying to dodge the race issue and keep the negro behind the woodpile. He then and there defiantly told them that the race issue was here to stay, that there were not near as many negroes in office as there should be and will be, that more of them were coming and that the cowardly white Republicans who did not like it could get out of the party, which would be the better off for their getting out of it. Western Republicans have not been in the habit of being talked to that way by a negro, but in that section | and effect of that infamous attack they have managed them pretty on the white women of the State, well and have succeeded in making them do the voting, negro organ of this city, are resortwhile the white bosses held the ing to various dodges to shift the offices, and perhaps this colored responsibility, and break the force assertiveness may not have been of that unparalleled production, the

the United States, these Western Republicans can see that it is only question of time when they will be called upon to vote for negro State officers, negro judges, &c., and for the negroizing of the State, as Wilmington, Greenville and other cities have been negroized by the

While they are perfectly willing to use the negro and get the benefit of his vote, this is a little further than a good many of them care to go or will go, even at the dictation of the bosses. Ordinarily they might stand the political association as they have stood it in the past, but when it comes to an issue square out between white and black then they may conclude that "blood

s thicker than water." And then, too, they have seen the trickery that has been going on for several years between the Republican machine managers and Populist managers, for spoils and spoils only, neither caring a copper for principle, but both perfectly willing to let their "principles lie in abeyance" as statesman Pritchard said he was in the State convention when the question of fusion with the Populists was first broached. They have seen this fusion game played, and now now again proposed, while the only peneficiaries were the men who were elected to office by it. They have failed to discover where they or the State have been benefitted by it, and perhaps they have shared somewhat in the disgust that is so general among honest Populists.

They have seen Governor Russell and Senator Butler planning and plotting to form out of the Republican and Populist parties a Russell-Butler party with a war-on-the-railroads platform and they have become somewhat disgusted with that. But they have had a good deal to disgust them, and a good deal to provoke an insurrection outside of the objection they may have to "ring rule" or the arrogant bossing of Federal officials.

How the bosses will deal with the insurrection or how they will go about suppressing it remains to be seen. In the meantime they are yery much alarmed, for they have to face the race issue which is being forced upon them by the more aggressive negroes in their own party and by the Democrats, who welcome lina this year, with the vantage it. They will either have to take ground decidedly with the Demo- sides with the negro or against him. There will be no dodging. They will not be permitted to dodge, so that as the situation presents itself now the Democratic party was never in a better shape to enter a contest hopeful of success, nor the Republican party in a worse shape. What there is left of the Populist party, which does not go in with the Democratic party for white supremacy will be a very small factor in the

AN OBJECT LESSON.

The mob of negroes which gathered in the lower part of Princess street Wednesday evening, as told in the STAR yesterday, and for hours menacingly paraded the street and streets adjacent presented an object lesson which every white man and every well-meaning colored man in the State should study. The cause assigned for this gathing of the mob was the alleged receipt by the author of that infamous assault on the white women men to whom they are indebted for | of the State, of an anonymous letter ordering him to leave the city. Such a letter may have been received or it may not, but the fact that it was an anonymous letter neutralizes its importance to say nothing less of it. It was certainly not written by any one authorized to speak for the Democrats or for the law abiding people of this community. If there were any disposition to resent that sault by doing violence to the author, the white people would not have waited a week to show their resentment and then contented themselves with sending an anony-

> Suppose the white people had shown the same spirit these street parading negroes did, and had congregated on the streets as they did, how easy it would have been to precipitate a riot that might have cost many lives? That this was not the result is due more than anything else to the self-restraint, patience and forbearance of the white people of the community; who on this occasion showed such splendid self-

With such a city government as we have now mobs are simply encouraged, and the lawless made bold by its exhibitions of inefficiency and lack of nerve to assert the sovereignty of the law when the mob is brewing and shows its teeth.

THIS DODGE WILL NOT DO-The white Republican, Populist and negro leaders, who have sense enough to comprehend the enormity which recently appeared in the

was recognized as a Republican organ up to the time this editorial assault attracted public attention.

Some of the Populists are resortng to a different method to break ts force, by misrepresenting it as a Democratic trick. Mr. Hill E. King is chief clerk of the Agricultural Department at Raleigh. He has struck on this dodge. After discoursing pretty freely on this monstrous utterance he wound up s follows:

"I believe the Democrats either dicated or wrote the editorial in Manly's paper, the Record. It looks to me like Democratic trick for campaign pur-

> This is in line with Rocky Mount Butler's assertion that white Demcrats connived at the rapes that were committed in this State, and is as infamous a reflection on Demperats as Butler's Rocky Mount peech was. Hill didn't believe any such thing; there isn't a man, white or black, in this community who beieves it, and certainly the Republiean executive committee of the county, nearly all of whom are colored men, didn't believe it when they met and repudiated the writing, the editor and the paper. Hill's dodge will not work, but it does show the ineffable meanness of the

USING THEM AS TOOLS.

Ex-Senator Green, one of the leading Populists of Wake county, who is opposed to the late fusion deal with the Republicans made by the S. Otho Wilson faction of Populists, is quoted as saying:

"I do not think the fusion ticket will get a Populist vote in my townunless, perhaps, Mr. Knight votes it. We are going to clean up the fusion in Wake this year. I have never voted for a Republican, and never will vote for one The Repubicans are using us as tools. The only hope for the continued existence of our party is to avoid fusion with the Republicans.

This is another Populist who has had his eyes opened, and discovered that "the Republicans are using us as tools." The surprising thing about this is that sensible Populists who were persuaded to support these fusion schemes didn't see this long ago, and didn't catch on to how they were being used to strengthen the Republican party in this State, and to destroy their own

It shouldn't have taken three grains of every day sense to see that hunger for office was at the bottom of these fusion schemes, when men who had no principles in common got together and agreed to act together for a satisfactory division of the spoils, and then have the monumental cheek to ask honest men of either party to ratify these bargains and endorse them at the polls. Now some of them are beginning to discover that they have been "used as tools," as ex-Senator Green says, and that they have been used to "put life into the dead hulk of the Republican party," as ex-Senator Atwater, of Chatham county, says. been doing, if it did take them some time to discover it.

Readers of the STAR will remember that we warned honest Populists against this when the fusion schemes were first proposed and the Republican machine managers and Populist machine managers fell upon and embraced each other, and when they won divided the booty and chuckled over how nicely they did it and fooled the honest men who followed them.

Mr. Badger always meant well, but he had an unfortunate talent for saying the right thing in the wrong way.
"Everybody must grow old," remarked Mrs. Badger, with a sigh, as her husband finished some remarks apropos of the sudden aging of one of her friends.

"Not everybody," said Mr. Badger, who was nothing if not exact in his statements. You mean everybody who lives long enough." Then with a fond smile he added. "I can't bear to think that my dear wife may possibly grow old."

ACCURATE GUNNERY SCIENCE RULES THE FIRING OF MOD-ERN NAVAL WEAPONS.

The Intricate Yet;Rapid Method by Which the Gunner "Gets the Drop" on His Encmy - Calculations Which Involve the Higher Mathematics.

Ask a modern man-o'-war's man what powder monkey is and he will smile at your seeming ignorance and tell you that the powder monkey was a boy who in the days when a wooden frigate was the ideal line of battle ship used to hand the powder up from the magazine in the vessel's lowest hold to the gun deck, adding that he is now obsolete. The passing of the pow der monkey is one of many things which mark the difference between the old navy and the new. The difference began whe the hydraulic lift supplanted the powder monkey, when the ordinary seaman became something more than a mere man of brawn and courage, and ended with the transformation of the gunner from the grade of ordinary seaman, who knew but to obey order, into a trained man capable of working with accuracy and precision. "All the difference in the world," said an old seaman who began his naval life as a powder monkey 30 years ago, but who now cannot qualify as a gunner of any class, in commenting on the changed conditions. "Now ft's all a matter of education, and while I used to be called a good man at the butt end of an old smoothbore my place is taken by lads and I'm laid by. The ordinary seaman of the present navy, who operates the small guns which compose the secondary battery of a battleship and are used only at close range, has taken the place of the old time gunner, and he in turn has risen and is now a warrant officer, occupying a place between the seaman and the noncommissioned officer, having a mess apart from the ordinary seaman. He is not, however, eligible to advancement further than that of a gunner of the first class. Below him are the gunners of the second class, formerly the gunners' mates, and the gunners of the third class, who in the days of the old navy were known as the gunners' apprentices. In the old order of naval affairs gunners rose from the rank of ordinary eaman and had as their only claim to their titles the skill in the point blank shooting of the time acquired by long Besides the cool head, steady hand and keen eye of the old time gunner, the gunner of the new navy must possess a gunner's education, including not only a thor ough knowledge of both common and de imal fractions, but also the use and application of the principles of algebra, geometry, trigonometry and trajectory. He is taught, first, that to locate to a nicety the object upon which he is to train his gun he must observe it from two dif-ferent points, and then having established base line and the two adjacent angles by the science of triangulation he finds the intervening distance. Many experiments have resulted in the formulation of tables and the invention of mechanical instruments which make the calculation a matter of but a few seconds. These are based upon the science of trajectory and enable the gunner to know in an instant at what angle to elevate his gun.

Comparatively simple as this may seem with the use of the instruments and table it embraces in haval gunnery accurate calculations of the speed and direction of motion of the vessel carrying the gun, the speed and direction of motion of the target if it be another ship, and the direcion and velocity of the wind, not one of which can be disregarded if the range be a long one, but which at close range are overcome to a great extent by the shorter distance and by the high rate of speed a tained by the projectile.

In the case of a moving vessel being the target, the range is determined by means of the range finder and noted. After an interval of two minutes of a convenient fraction thereof a second calculation is made. By the tables the distance in yards between the two points is determined, and this divided by the interval of time gives the speed. By another table, based upon he rate of speed attained by the projectile and the range, the distance which the target will have traversed during the flight of the projectile may be obtained and the simed at such an angle as to cause the shot to take effect as desired.

By another process, if the ship upon which the gunner is stationed be moving, the aim can be made quite as accurate, and to this exact reduction of the science s due the almost marvelous marksman ship of the Yankee gunners.

While our modern gunner must know thoroughly all this, he does not have the opportunity in an engagement to apply it. To the officers in the conning tower and in the turret falls the task of determining the ranges. This is usually done by the officers on board the flagship and communicated to the officers on board the other ships by means of signals. From them the gunner in the turret gets his angle, and by means of a lever and a scale ele vates or depresses his gun as his orders

Then comes the task which he alone may perform. Attached to his gun near breech is a powerful telescope, fitted at the outer lens with a horizontal and a vertical hair, crossing at right angles in the center. Through this he locates his mark and, having done so, knows that his aim is true. In spite of the exactness of the science, it is necessary, under unfavorable atmospheric conditions, such as fog or rain, to resort to the old method of trial shots. A smaller, gun is used, and by means of a range finder attached to its breech the range can soon be determined.

Then the gunner applies the knowledge which has given him his rank, and science does what the greatest skill of the old days could not. The long range shot of the new guns, the one which enables the gunner nowadays to watch the course of the projectile and note the havoc it creates even at the distance of several miles, was impracticable because of the small power of the old smoothbore. The close blank shot and the broadside were the ones upon which the old gunner counted for victory. Without the aid of science he sighted his cumbersome piece, while his crew stood ready with ramrod, swab, powder and shot. Minutes were consumed in the execution of the orders: "Load! To battery! Fire!" while now each order is expected to be ex-couted in a few seconds. Where ten shots whistled harmlessly about the ears of the enemy then the modern gunner feels his disgrace keenly if by chance in an entire engagement one or two of his shots miss the mark.-New

By Telegraph to the Morning Star NEW YORK, Aug. 25,-On the strength of a better class of cable news than had been looked for and the reports of extremely hot weather, reinforced by claims of injury in the Southwest, as the result of drought, the cotton market opened quiet at an advance of 2 to 3 points and further advanced 1 to 2 points, without, how ever, developing much outside speculative interest. The smaller shorts covered early in the forenoon, while houses with foreign connections appeared to be trading on both sides the market in a moderate way. Liquidation of long accounts stopped the advance. But the bears were cautious and sold but little while the market fell off 3 to 4 points from the top prices. The market was finally steady with prices net unchanged to
