The Fertilizer Case.

The STAR has received a copy of the brief of Judge Legh R. Watts in the case in the U. S. Circuit Court of Virginia B. Matthews against the Board of Corporation Commissioners and others. Judge Watts is a lawyer of high standing and he argues the case of his client with his usual ability. The suit is brought to test the validity of the order of the Corporation Commission fixing the minimum- car load of fertilizers at ten tons instead of fourteen tons, the former minimum. The brief of Judge Watts covers forty-one octavo pages.

Spirits turpentine scored another advance on the local market yesterday, closing firm at 501/2 @51 cents with sales at these figures. During the earlier part of the day purchasers offered only 50@50% cents and sellers refused to dispose of their stock on these quotations, afterwards selling at the closing advance. There is a diversity of opinion as to whether the top notch has been reached. Some contend that it has; others say there will be still further advances. Receipts continued light.

DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Miss Katie Stanton Gause, a Highly Esteemed Lady, Drowned in Greenfield Pond-Body Recovered.

Another of those dreadful tragedies, which always cast a gloom upon the community in which they occur and which call forth almost universal regret and sympathy, occurred yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock, when Miss Katie Stanton Gause, a highly esteemed lady of Wilmington and youngest daughter of the late S. P. Gause, was drowned in Greenfield of the city. Miss Gause, with a party of children, among whom were Masters Louis and Fred Poisson, none of them over thirteen years of age, left Miss Gause's residence about 4 o'clock vescountry and turned their footsteps toward the pond in which the oldest to amuse themselves and to make observations of the scenery around When the mill was reached Miss Gause excused herself from the chiltrace her steps for a short way to rethe bank.

The children waited patiently for a short while, when they were startled by a cry and a splashing in the water a short distance from where they were left. Hurrying to the scene from which the cry emanated, they were horrified to find Miss Gause struggling in the last agonies of death in the water below, which at that point is estimated at being from ten to fifteen feet in depth. On account of their age, the boys were of course powerless to render assistance and her cries were soon hushed in death.

A boy, who happened to be passing in a cart, was notified of the awful occurrence and a little later, the family; who reside at No. 313 South Second street, had the sad news broken to them by the boys, who hurried back to the city immediately after the awful tragedy.

Just how the unfortunate occurrence transpired will probably never the time, and there are no indications on the bank as to how an accident could have occurred.

A search was immediately made for the body by friends of the deceased and family, among them being Messrs. George Parsley, W. A. McGowan and W. M. Cumming, who hurried to the scene immediately after the news of the drowning was received. The first attempt with a line by Mr. Parsley was successful, and about 8 o'clock the body was brought to the surface. Dr. Richard J. Price, who had been summoned, exhausted every effort at resuscitation without avail, and after the body had been removed to the residence at 9 o'clock like attempts were also unsuccessful.

Miss Gause had until lately in a very efficient way held the position of stenographer at the large wholesale house of the N. Jacobi Hardware Company. Saturday she resigned the position, stating to her employers that she was in failing health and thought a vacation, with a trip to some health resort, would be beneficial to her. She was very popular and by her pleasant manners and affectionate disposition had endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact. Her death is sadly deplored by a host of friends, many of whom called at the residence last night to tender heartfelt sympa

Miss Gause is survived by three sisters, the only remaining members of the immediate family. They are Mrs. Preston Cumming, with whom they all reside on Second street; Mrs. M. A. Young and Miss Anna Gause.

The funeral will be from the residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. Milton A. Barber, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Dr. Price, as coroner, has sum moned the following jury of inquest, which will meet this morning at 11 o'clock in the grand jury room of the Court House to inquire into the circumstances of the death: Dr. J. E Matthews, Messrs. W. A. McGowan, W. E. Yopp, R. F. Hamme, R. O. Grant and M. W. Jacobi.

PRETTY WEDDING AT SOUTHSIDE CHURCH.

Miss Mamie Canady and Mr. W. T. Mercer Happily United in Marriage in Presence of Great Throng of Priends.

Southside Baptist Church, on Fifth and Wooster streets, was the scene of a pretty wedding last night at 8:30 S. C., arrived in the city yesterday. o'clock, the parties to the happy affair being Miss Mamie Canady, the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Canady, and Mr. William T. Mercer, all of this

Long before the moment for the ceremony, a great throng assembled mill pond, about one-half mile south, at the church and joyously awaited the coming of the bridal party. The church was brilliantly lighted and the altar was beautifully and elaborately decorated with royal palms, ferns and numerous potted plants. When the party arrived, Mrs. Minnie Jones, terday afternoon for a stroll to the aunt of the bride, skillfully rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march as they entered. The member of the party was soon to meet | maid of honor was Miss Annie W. an untimely and an especially sad Doster, the bridesmaid Miss Mindeath. After reaching the pond, the | nie W. Canady, sister of the bride, party strolled leisurely along the and the groomsmen were Messrs. water's edge, stopping along the way Joseph H. Curtis and Oscar Brice. The bridesmaids and groomsmen proceeded to the altar, after which the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Willie A. Canady, went dren, saying that she was going to re- up by the south aisle. The groom, leaning on the arm of his best man, cover a purse, which had been left on L. V. Grady, Esq., went in by the north aisle, joining the bride at the altar, where they were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. J. T. Betts, of Whiteville. After the gordian knot had been tied, the bridal party retired while the Mendelssohn strains were again taken up by the organist. The bride was beautifully attired in a dress of white organdy over white satin, with white satin bodice. She wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms, and her ornaments were pearls. She carried a lovely bouquet of bride roses and maiden hair ferns. The maid of honor and bridesmaid were attired in white organdy and their bouquets were of bride and La France roses and maiden hair ferns.

From the church the bride and groom and invited guests repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, 121 South Front street, where a delightful reception was held. The happy couple were the recipients of very warm conbe known, as Miss Gause was alone at gratulations and a great number of beautiful and valuable presents from friends in Wilmington and elsewhere. Among the presents were a beautiful silver service and cut glass table set sent by Southside Baptist Church. Miss Canady has been the organist of the church for several years, and is exceedingly popular in the church and Sunday school.

After the reception, Mr. Mercer and his bride repaired to their cozy home at 114 Walnut street, between Front and Second.

Mr. Mercer is a rising young business man of Wilmington, being a member of the firm of Thomas & Mercer, furniture dealers.

SENT TO CRIMINAL COURT.

Negro Who Assaulted Policeman Guy Before the Mayor Yesterday-Other Charges Against Him.

James Morgan, alias "Stick," the negro who gave Policeman Guy such an exciting experience Monday afternoon on Market street, was bound over to the Criminal Court by the Mayor yesterday morning in the sum of $200 justified bond, failing to give which and awaiting the investigation of further charges against him, he was recommitted to the guard house. The other charge against him will be that of shooting the Brown woman, and it will not be heard until Friday, as she will not be able by reason of her wound to appear before that time to prosecute him. The shooting of the woman from all accounts was accidental, but from the promiscuous firing indulged in and the serious consequences resulting, it will be an easy task to prove the charge against the unruly negro.

Lewis Clinton, one of Morgan's pals arrested with him Monday afternoon, was given twenty days on the streets for disorderly conduct. It appears that it was Clinton's pistol, with which Morgan did all the shooting, but this was wrested from him by his mother at Tenth and Mulberry streets. Alex. Merrick, the !third negro in the fracas, who was not captured Monday, was arrested yesterday morning. He was only a companion of the two bad negroes and was let off with the costs and $5 fine. The reason Lieutenant Skipper did not detail more men to make the arrest, was that the telephone message only stated that there was a negro firing a pistol on the street. When the gravity of the offences became known, Lieutenant Skipper and a number of the hall officers went to Officer Guy's assistance, but arrived too late to render him assistance.

Morgan's wounds about the head were dressed yesterday afternoon by Dr. McMillan. They are not serious. The Brown woman's injuries are also not serious. Policeman Guy, while not on regular duty yesterday, was able to be up and do special work.

THE CLAM INDUSTRY.

Season Opened October 14th-Good Shipments Are Being Made-Yearly Business Aggregates $50,000.

Next in importance probably to the oyster industry along the lower Cape Fear coast during the Fall and Winter months, is the gathering and shipping of the ordinary clam to the Northern markets, where this species of the bivalve finds ready sale, sometimes at very handsome prices.

The season proper for gathering and shipping begins about October 15th, and a STAR representative had a very interesting talk regarding the industry a few days since with Capt. W. A. Sanders, who is the largest shipper from this point. He has already shipped upwards of 1,200 bushels from here, a goodly part of this amount having been sent away yesterday. Prices thus far have been very low on account of the warm weather, but Capt. Sanders thinks that the prospects are very bright for a successful season this year. The principal points from which the clams are gathered are Wrights. ville, from whence they are brought up on the Seacoast railroad, Lockwood's Folly, Meares' Inlet, Shallotte, Tubbs', Calabash, in Brunswick county, and Little River, S. C. From these latter places a number of sharpies and little river sail boats find steady employment for several months in the year bringing them to the "clam docks" of the A. C. L. and S. A. L., just above the Champion Compress wharves, where they are washed, sacked and loaded into the ordinary freight cars.

During a part of the Winter months it has been a custom with a number of the New York commission houses to send representatives here to look after their interests.

Capt. Sanders says the yearly average shipment from this port aggregate 30,000 bags or 50,000 bushels. Placing these at the low average price of $1.00 per bushel it will be seen that about the North every year in this one little pure water supply. Some of the
