THE RECEPTION BY

CAPE FEAR CHAPTER.

Enjoyable and Successful Affair at Armory of Wilmington Light Infantry by the Daughters of the Confederacy.

A delightful reception was given yesterday evening from 5 till 10 o'clock at the armory of the Wilmington Light Infantry by Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, as a mark of sympathy for Mrs. Stonewall Jackson in her affliction. The armory was brilliantly lighted by electricity, and the hall was made exceedingly attractive with cut flowers and evergreens Just inside the hall at the door leading into the reading room was a decorated receptacle for donations to the fund which the North Carolina Daughters of the Confederacy are raising as a gift of love and sym pathy for Mrs. Jackson. Above the basket was a portrait of the immortal Stonewall Jackson, with a wreath of ivy around it and red and white flowers arranged beneath it.

The reception committee of Cape Fear Chapter received in the reading room, and both in the afternoon and last night hundreds of ladies and gentlemen attended the reception. Tables were arranged in the assembly room, and the young ladies served dainty refreshments to the callers.

Last night the armory was packed with people, and the chief feature of the reception was a delightful programme of instrumental and vocal music. The concert took place in the reading room, and there was a highly appreciative audience to enjoy the selections. Mrs. Col. A. M. Waddell was the piano accompanist, and the first number was a charming soprano selection by Miss Maie O'Connor, who sang the "Red Red Rose." She was warmly applauded and encored. Mrs. Gaston Meares sang Father Ryan's production so dear to Southern hearts, "The Conquered Banner." Mrs. Meares is a gifted singer and the song she sang evoked the most enthusiastic applause. She was comselled to respond to an encore. Capt. James I. Metts, who is a fine tenor singer, aroused great enthusi asm and storms of applause by sing ing "I'm a Good Old Rebel." The song created a great furore. Mayor A. M. Waddell then deliv quently spoke of the cause in which the Daughters of the Confederacy are engaged. His remarks met with the most heartfelt applause. Miss Ida Brown followed with a piano solo, artistically rendering a waltz from the opera "Faust." Her

ered a brief address in which he elo playing was highly appreciated and was heartly applauded and encored. The programme was continued with a soprano solo by Miss Fair Payne, who charmingly sang "Good Bye, Sweet Day." She was greeted with the most appreciative applause, and the audience gave her an encore. The next song was by Mrs. David C. Clark, who rendered a song entitled "Angus McDonald." She has a delightful soprano voice and her singing gave great pleasure, evoking warm applause and an encore. "The Flight of Ages" was sung by Miss Mary Calder, who was most heartily applauded and encored.

Accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Mattie Chasten, Miss Anna Slagle, of Illinois, sang with charming effect, "When My Heart was Young." She was the recipient of generous applause and was encored. In response to earnest solicitations Mrs. Meares repeated "The Conquered Banner," and the song again elicited the most enthusiastic applause.

After the programme had been ren dered, the callers were served with refreshments.

During the evening the museum of war relics maintained by the Chapter in the second story of the armory, in the room on the east side, fronting on Market street, was open to the visitors. Miss Mary Sanders, so long the efficient secretary of the Chapter and a most loyal Daughter, kindly pointed out the interesting relics. Streams of people tarried long in the museum and looked with very great interest at the relics.

The museum is nicely arranged, and several hundred relics are displayed in cases and on the walls. Probably the greatest interest centered in a cabinet containing the uniform and belongings of the lamented General W. H. C. Whiting. The collection included his dress suit, hat, sashes, sword, cypher code, spurs, opera glass, cane, writing desk and a stereoptican presented to him during the war. On the wall was an oil painting of General

Another very interesting relic was the telegraph instrument and table on which it was operated at Confederate headquarters, which were at the northwest corner of Third and Market streets, in the brick residence of the late Dr. A. J. DeRosset. There was also a photograph of headquar-

Several well preserved uniforms are to be seen in another cabinet, including the dress suit of our townsman. Col. Jno. D. Taylor, and the fatigue coat in which he lost his arm at Bentonsville. The bullet hole is still to be seen in the sleeve. There is also a W. L. I. uniform worn by the late Capt. Charles D. Myers, when the company was called out in 1861. Here is also the hat and uniform, sword and other effects of the lamented Capt. Litchfield, brother of Mrs. W. I. Gore. These relics were returned to Mrs. Gore only a few years ago, as mentioned in the STAR at the time. In the cabinet is also a uniform worn by Col. Mallett at the funeral of Gen. L. O'B. Branch, who was killed G. Grady & Co., Burgaw, N. C. † deliver their papers. In all such cases steps will be taken to insure promp and regular delivery.

in battle. On the coat is the badge THE ARRANGEMENTS FOR of mourning worn at the time. In the list of relics is a bayonet picked up at Fort Fisher and among the numerous photographs is one of Edmund Ruffin, who fired the first gun on Morris Island, April 12, 1861. Among the colors preserved is the battle flag of the Third North Carolina Regiment; although it is full of bullet holes. There are many other relics of which note was made, but space forbids mention at this time.

No charge was made for admittance to the reception or musicale or for the refreshments and it was a rare privilege which was afforded by the Daughters of the Confederacy for the people of Wilmington to be present with them last evening.

WATCHING FOR SUSPECTS.

City Health Authorities On the Lookout for Yellow Fever Travellers-Excitement at Yemassee, S. C.

Capt. Robert Green left again yesterday afternoon for Florence to look after the quarantine lines being drawn there against the infected yellow fever districts in Mississippi and Florida. The Associated Press dispatches Sunday morning told how suspects were becoming persona non grata in Georgia, and yesterday's papers told of the fresh outbreak at Jackson, Miss., and the increase of the epidemic in the vicinity of Miami, Fla. Based on this and other information and for the reasons stated, Dr. McMillan and Captain Green are now manifesting more than the usual interest in the "travelling public," and if any suspects find their way into the city it will not be due to the lack of proper vigilance on the part of the health department. Wilmington, however, stands in no mmediate danger of the infections though there is every reason for the maintenance of a strict watch over all travellers from the South. Jack frost has already been reported in this vicinity, and there are many other conditions to combat the idea of a spread of the disease here or in close proximity.

The following is from yesterday's Columbia State:

"Last night a letter received in the city by a prominent gentleman from the low country from a most reliable source brought information that causes apprehension that yellow fever has made its appearance at Yemassee. The information is to the effect that a young white man, of Yemassee, who has been a train hand on a rail road in south Florida, came home s few days ago sick, and very soon after reaching home died. His little sister, who had come in contact with him, was taken ill and died twentyfour hours after the first symptoms of illness appeared. Another child-a relative-who was also in contact with both of the victims, is now very ill and is not expected to live. The opinion in that section is that the malady is vellow fever, and Yemassee is said to be so located that the germs of yellow fever would spread. Yemassee is located at or near the junction of the Charleston and Savannah and the Port Royal and Augusta railroads in the extreme southeastern section of the State. Governor Mc Sweeney has sent a physician from Beaufort, S. C., to investigate.

FOOT BALL FOR THE FAIR.

Wilmington May Play N. C. Military Academy Next Month at Fayetteville. Practices were begun Monday night by the O. A. N. foot ball team on their grounds on Front between Chuch and Castle streets. Very satisfactory progress is being made and Manager E. A. Metts is now confident that he has a game in sight for the near future. He was yesterday in receipt of a letter from Mr. Harvey Lambeth, of Fayetteville, asking that a game be arranged with the old Fayetteville Military Academy, which is now at Red Springs, the institution naving been moved to that town some time ago. The Red Springs boys are anxious for the "fray" and it is proposed to play in Fayetteville one day during the Cumberland County Fair, which opens November 8th and continues for several days. It is probable that the final terms to an agreement will be settled in a few days and the game scheduled.

Members of the team are expected to report in foot ball attire at the practice grounds to-night. There was no practice last night.

Case of Mistaken Identity.

Police Sergeant J. R. Davis returned yesterday afternoon from Newbern bringing with him a young white man giving as his name Robert Casey, who was arrested by Chief Hargett, of Newbern, at the instance of Chief Parmele, of this city, Saturday, a reference to which was made in yesterday's STAR. Casey was thought to have been James K. Stratton, who escaped from the Colorado penitentiary several months since and for the capture of whom a handsome reward was offered. He was arrested here some time ago and from the descriptions given, it was believed he was Jeff Hester, who is wanted at Smithfield, Va., for murder. This proved a mistake and he was released, but a few days after his discharge a description of Stratton came and from remembrance of his physique, it was believed that he was Stratton, hence the subsequent arrest at Newbern. It now turns out that he answers neither description of Stratton or Hester and consequently after his arrival here and a close examination, it was decided to release him.

They were represented by Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy.

[Savannah, Ga., News.]

Apparently the fertilizer manufac turing business of the South is about to be concentrated in the hands of one concern. In fact, this is nearly the case already. The recent purchase of the properties of the Commercial Guano Company at Savannah and Columbus by the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company is only one of several large purchases of a similar character made by the latter concern.

The Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company is capitalized at $24,000,000, and its headquarters are at Richmond. It is evidently the purpose of its promoters to secure control of the entire fertilizer manufacturing business of the South, and very good progress has now been made in this direction. Not less than several millions of dollars must have been required to purchase the properties recently obtained in this section. The transaction with the Commercial Guano Company is said to have been on a cash basis. What the effect of this big consolidation of the fertilizer manufacturing interests will be remains to be seen, but it is a question of con-siderable moment to the business interests of Savannah and the surrounding territory. One effect of the consolidation has already been forecasted, and that is an immediate advance in the price of fertilizers. Fertilizers were lower than usual last season in the face of the fact that there was a very decided advance in phosphate. The advance in the cost of fertilizers can very readily be attributed to the increased cost of materials, and is only what might have been expected any An other very perceptable effort of the consolidation will be the decrease of office forces and in the number of travelling men on the road. It is esti mated that the fertilizer companies employed last season as many as 150 travelling men in this State alone. With practically all the interests con solidated and no competition to speak of, it is already predicted that the number of traveling men in the field for the fertilizer interests will be cut down to a fraction of what it was during previous seasons. Savannah has already felt the effect of the reduction in office forces. Of the three local companies which have been absorbed by the Richmond concern the offices of all three have been discontinued.
