ROBBED DESK OF $70.

Justice McGowan's Office Entered by Robbers and Desk Broken Open. Took Advantage of Sickness.
 The office of Justice J. M. McGowan, in the old Court House, was entered by robbers some time during his recent illness and about $70 stolen from a desk, which was found open by him yesterday morning when he came down to resume his duties after several days' sickness.
 The money, Justice McGowan says, would have been deposited in the bank as usual, but on Monday he was taken so suddenly ill that he was forced to go to his home as quickly as possible, and had been too unwell to attend to the matter since. Besides this, he was confident the money was safe, as there were two locked doors to the office and the desk was locked also. The keys were entrusted to Joe Gray, who usually keeps the office in order. It is the presumption that an entrance was effected through a back window.
 The desk was pried open apparently with a chisel and several receptacles with their contents taken. The money did not all belong to Justice McGowan, but that makes the loss fall all the more heavily upon him. He is treasurer of Wilmington Lodge I. O. O. F., and $13.45 of the amount he longed to that fraternity; $14 was in accounts which he had collected for other persons; $5 or $10 was in magistrate's costs and $26 or $27 belonged to him personally and to the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.
 Justice McGowan said that he was too unwell to come out yesterday, but that he had a presentiment that something was wrong at the office and he felt it his duty to come down.

VIOLENT TYPE OF INSANITY.

Negro Created Much Excitement On Front Street Sunday Night by His Wild Ravings.
 Policeman B. M. Lelew had a strange character to deal with Sunday night about 9 o'clock. Tom Means, a young negro who was employed in the cotton office of Mr. J. H. Sloan, became suddenly a raving maniac in front of the Orton House and his loud cries and wild gesticulations created considerable excitement among those in the hotel lobby and residents in the neighborhood. Means inquired for Mr. Sloan of some persons standing in front of the Orton about 9 o'clock, and passed into the portico. He suddenly began stepping backward toward the street, uttering unintelligible shouts and waving his hands in the air.
 Policeman Lelew took him into custody and not until just before reaching the City Hall did he cease his raving. At the station house a placid man was taken from his person and a number of other articles. He was placed in the corridor of the prison, but soon he had to be transferred to a cell as he had resumed his ravings and threatened to do himself injury by beating his arms against the grating. He did not become quiet until Dr. Price had administered a drug to quiet the nerves. He is still confined in the city prison and appears to be demented only at certain periods.
 Mr. Sloan says Means is a very intelligent and orderly negro. He never drinks and is attentive to business. He will be sent to his home in the up-county until he recovers.

DEATH OF A FORMER CITIZEN.

Captain William Smith Died in Greensboro Yesterday—To Be Buried Here.
 A telegram was received in this city conveying the painful intelligence of the death of Captain William Smith, of Raleigh, formerly a citizen of Wilmington. He died yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Cameron Gales, at Greensboro. He was aged about 65 years. The remains arrived in Wilmington by the Yadkin branch of the Atlantic Coast Line last evening at 6:50 o'clock, and the services for the burial of the dead will be held at St. James' Episcopal Church this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The interment will be made at Oakdale cemetery.
 Capt. Smith was the son of the late Capt. Isaac and Mrs. Louisa A. Smith, of Smithville, now Southport, and was born in that place. He was reared in Smithville and Wilmington and received his education at Donaldson Academy, Fayetteville, of which the Rev. Simeon Colton, an eminent divine and teacher in his day, was principal. His father, Capt. Isaac Smith, is well remembered by the older citizens of Wilmington, as an old steamboat man, having been captain of the steamer Gladiator which was on the line between Wilmington and Charleston before the war.
 After completing his education at Donaldson Academy, Captain Smith, whose death is now recorded, became a civil engineer and located in Wilmington. He was elected master of transportation of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, which position he filled from about 1861 to 1872, when he went with the Wilmington & Manchester Railroad, afterwards the Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta Railroad. He superintended the building of that road between Sumter and Columbia in 1875. He then became connected with the Wilmington, Charlotte & Rutherford Railroad, now the Carolina Central, and superintended the construction of that road from Lilesville to Monroe. Subsequently he became general superintendent of the Raleigh and Gaston railroad and afterwards also general superintendent of the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line. His service with the two latter roads began in 1880 or 1881 and he was in their service up to about three years ago when he was made general agent of the Seaboard Air Line with headquarters at Raleigh. The latter position he filled up to the time of his death.
 The deceased left Wilmington about 1880 to go to Raleigh, which city he has since made his home. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Abbie Smith, of this city, who died in 1867. They have one child surviving, Mrs. Abbie Gales, wife of Mr. Cameron Gales, of Greensboro.
 Mrs. Josephine Mies Josephine Macon, at Richmond, Va., and she survives him with three children, Mrs. Josephine Thomas, of Waynesville, N. C., Mrs. F. K. Myers, of Charleston, S. C., and William Smith, Jr., who is now a resident of New York. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. T. O. Bunting, of this city, Mrs. Julia Estlin, of New Orleans, and Mrs. Julian Johnson, of Atlanta.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

Held Sunday Evening in Memory of Deceased Odd Fellows—Interesting Sermon by Rev. E. R. Welch.
 The Odd Fellows' Memorial exercises at Grace Methodist Church Sunday night in memory of Past Grand C. B. Allen, F. L. Covington and E. M. Gilbert, all of Orion Lodge No. 67, were very interesting and largely attended by the many Odd Fellows of the city and their friends.
 Members of the fraternity occupied the central portion of the church and the gallery and lecture room of the church, which were thrown open to the members of the different lodges met at Odd Fellows Hall at 7:30 o'clock in response to the call of Mr. W. W. Yopp, (chairman) and W. H. Howell, (secretary) of the joint committee of arrangements, and 8 o'clock they were marshalled into line, by Mr. Wm. L. Smith, visiting chief marshal in place of Col. Walker Taylor; Mr. W. C. Smith, in place of Capt. J. M. McGowan, who was absent on account of sickness; Messrs. J. A. Orrell, E. F. Johnson and J. J. Hopkins.
 On behalf of the Church, Rev. A. P. Tyne welcomed the Odd Fellows in a pleasing address which was responded to by Rev. E. R. Welch, of Durham, who preached an impressive sermon of special interest to Odd Fellows. Before entering upon his discourse, Rev. Mr. Welch read an official communication from officers of the Grand Lodge, directing the service to be held. He chose as the text for his sermon Luke 10, 30-37, which refers to the benevolent act of the Good Samaritan, so familiar to Bible readers. He referred in this connection to the great charitable work being done by the Odd Fellows and the great and substantial principles upon which the order is founded. The sermon upon the whole was full of Bible truth and especially felicitous for Odd Fellowship in America.
 The musical programme was arranged especially for the occasion and was very pretty and appropriate. A solo, "The Holy City," by Miss Annie Slagle, with instrumental accompaniment by Mrs. Mattie Chasten, was much enjoyed.
 The service will long be remembered by the Odd Fellows of the city as one of the most pleasant lodge events in their lives.

THE REAL WIDOW BROWN.

She Pleases Those Who Met Her Last Night and Will be Welcomed Here Again—Coming Attractions.
 The weather last night was not very auspicious for a successful presentation of any attraction, but Wilmington Opera House patrons on this occasion were the recipients of a "red-hot" fan producer in the appearance of the real "Widow Brown." The house was necessarily a small one, but those present went away pleased that they had met the "lady" and her excellent company of performers. The specialties introduced during the action of the play were all bright, mirth-provoking and very clever. Charles Barrington's imitations were good and equally so was the monologue work of Miss Wentworth. The Sisters Dorothy also elicited much applause. Altogether the show was a very entertaining one and it is regrettable that weather conditions were unfavorable to a larger attendance.

TERRIFIC STORM AT WRIGHTSVILLE.

Tide Alarmingly High—Water Seven to Eight Feet Deep in the Yard at Atlantic Hotel.
 A telephone message at 4 o'clock this morning from Mr. J. H. Hanby, at Atlantic Hotel, on Wrightsville, said that a terrible storm had been raging there all night. The tide was alarmingly high, sweeping over the turnpike, and the water in his yard was seven to eight feet in depth. As he was telephoning, the family of Mr. Edens, living near, had just abandoned their home and taken refuge in the hotel.
 There were no tidings from Wrightsville Beach, but beyond doubt great damage must have been done there by the gale and high tide.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Observed Commemorative Exercises of the Reformation—Sermons by Dr. Voigt. Special Musical Programme.
 Special reformation services in memory of Martin Luther were observed at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church Sunday. The morning service was in German, and an especially interesting feature of the programme was the singing of Luther's famous battle hymn, as composed by the Great Reformer. The sermon was full of practical lessons drawn from a study of the Reformation.
 The services at night were the most interesting, and the church was elaborately decorated in honor of the event. The sermon by Rev. Dr. Voigt was a very strong one, and many pretty incidents in the life of Luther were related in the course of his remarks, which were based on a Scriptural text from the First Epistle of Peter.
 A number of beautiful hymns, including "Come Ye That Love the Lord," "Glorious Thing of What Are Spoken," "A Safe Stronghold Our God Is," were rendered by a special choir consisting of Mrs. J. H. Rehder, Misses Lottie Haas, Christina Hintze, Emma Hutfast, Annie Stiefjes, Annie Adrian, Mesdames C. W. Pope, J. H. Rehder, E. Schulkan, Edward Wright, F. W. Ortman. Miss Kate Stoller was organist and to a number of selections Messrs. J. H. and Carl Rehder played cornet accompaniment.

UNITED STATES COURT.

It Was Convened Yesterday Morning—Recess Taken Till This Morning.
 The United States District Court was convened here yesterday at 10 o'clock. The only officers of the court in attendance were Mr. W. H. Shaw, Clerk of the Court, and Deputy United States Marshal T. O. Bunting. As Judge Purnell had not arrived, the court took a recess till 10 o'clock this morning.

Wilmington's Banks Flourish.
 Raleigh News and Observer: "The State Treasurer has received a letter from a capitalist, in which a high compliment is paid to two of Wilmington's financial institutions. He says he has just bought some stock of the Atlantic National Bank of Wilmington at 200 and one of the stock of the Wilmington Savings Bank at 210, and adds that he is anxious to get more at the same price."

THE CARIBBEAN SEA STORM.

Reached Wilmington Yesterday—It Poured Rain and Blew Fifty Miles An Hour.
 The Caribbean sea storm, of which warning was given by the Weather Bureau, struck Wilmington yesterday morning, accompanied by rain and a northeast gale. It poured down rain all day, a perfect flood falling in the afternoon and last night. The storm reached its height about 10 o'clock last night when the wind blew in gusts at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Last night the wind blew the roof off a shoeshop at Second and Dock streets, and a number of fences were blown down around town. Window lights were also blown out of some buildings down town. It was disagreeably cool yesterday, but the indications do not point to cooler weather to day.
 The following telegram was received at 9:15 o'clock last night: "WASHINGTON, October 30.—Observer Wilmington, N. C.—Change to storm northeast 9.15 P. M. Storm center off Carolina coast, moving northeast. Northeast gale will shift to north and north-west to-night along Carolina and Virginia coasts. MOORE."

Welch, of Durham, who preached an impressive sermon of special interest to Odd Fellows. Before entering upon his discourse, Rev. Mr. Welch read an official communication from officers of the Grand Lodge, directing the service to be held. He chose as the text for his sermon Luke 10, 30-37, which refers to the benevolent act of the Good Samaritan, so familiar to Bible readers. He referred in this connection to the great charitable work being done by the Odd Fellows and the great and substantial principles upon which the order is founded. The sermon upon the whole was full of Bible truth and especially felicitous for Odd Fellowship in America.
 The musical programme was arranged especially for the occasion and was very pretty and appropriate. A solo, "The Holy City," by Miss Annie Slagle, with instrumental accompaniment by Mrs. Mattie Chasten, was much enjoyed.
 The service will long be remembered by the Odd Fellows of the city as one of the most pleasant lodge events in their lives.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Observed Commemorative Exercises of the Reformation—Sermons by Dr. Voigt. Special Musical Programme.
 Special reformation services in memory of Martin Luther were observed at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church Sunday. The morning service was in German, and an especially interesting feature of the programme was the singing of Luther's famous battle hymn, as composed by the Great Reformer. The sermon was full of practical lessons drawn from a study of the Reformation.
 The services at night were the most interesting, and the church was elaborately decorated in honor of the event. The sermon by Rev. Dr. Voigt was a very strong one, and many pretty incidents in the life of Luther were related in the course of his remarks, which were based on a Scriptural text from the First Epistle of Peter.
 A number of beautiful hymns, including "Come Ye That Love the Lord," "Glorious Thing of What Are Spoken," "A Safe Stronghold Our God Is," were rendered by a special choir consisting of Mrs. J. H. Rehder, Misses Lottie Haas, Christina Hintze, Emma Hutfast, Annie Stiefjes, Annie Adrian, Mesdames C. W. Pope, J. H. Rehder, E. Schulkan, Edward Wright, F. W. Ortman. Miss Kate Stoller was organist and to a number of selections Messrs. J. H. and Carl Rehder played cornet accompaniment.

THE CARIBBEAN SEA STORM.

 The Caribbean sea storm, of which warning was given by the Weather Bureau, struck Wilmington yesterday morning, accompanied by rain and a northeast gale. It poured down rain all day, a perfect flood falling in the afternoon and last night. The storm reached its height about 10 o'clock last night when the wind blew in gusts at the rate of fifty miles an hour.
