The Senatorial Controversy.

Like Banquo's ghost, the Senatorial controversy will not down and yes terday found the local politicians lobbying about the street corners and discussing the mooted question as on the days before the convention and primaries. Friends and supporters of Mr. Meares now contend that in the naming of delegates by Chairman Woodward to the Senatorial Convention he is entitled to a minority representation in proportion to the vote received by him. In the meanwhile, Col. Woodward is considering the matter and is consulting authorities on the same. No delegates have yet been selected nor are any steps being taken relative to the calling of the Senatorial Convention.

The run from Topsail to Wilmington, a distance of 65 miles, was made in eleven hours.

PENDER'S SMALLPOX CASE.

Prompt Action Retards a Possible Contagion-Drs. McMillan and Lucas Returned to the City Yesterday.

Dr. W. D. McMillan, superintendent of health of New Hanover, and Dr. George F. Lucas, Pender county's wide-awake superintendent, returned yesterday from Sloop Point on the Pender coast, where they went Thursday to look into a reported case of smallpox near there.

Dr. McMillan tells the STAR that he and Dr. Lucas found a well defined case of the disease near Edgecombe, on the W. & N. railroad. James Clayton, a young colored man, is the patient. He was quarantined in Norfolk for the disease and after three attempts, it is said, he made his escape from the guards and came to his home near Edgecombe. Dr. McMillan, in his characteristic way of "getting on" to everything concerning health matters, heard of the presence of the disease at Edgecombe and reported the matter to Dr. Lucas, who came to Wilmington to secure Dr. McMillan's services in diag osing the case. The doctors saw the case ten days after eruption, and the disease is very pronounced, so Dr. McMillan says.

Dr. Lucas upon the diagnosis promptly took the matter in hand and quarantined Clayton's family of twelve persons and ten other 'coutacts," placing them all under guard. He and Dr. McMillan vacinatede in all about 138 residents of the neighborhood and it is believed that the disease is now under control of Dr. Lucas, whom Dr. McMillan highly com mends for his prompt, active and effectual services in the matter.

Dr. McMillan says that Dr. Lucas notified Dr. E. L. Cox, superintendent of health of Onslow county, of several exposures which escaped over into his territory. All of these were overhauled, vaccinated and quarantined. Dr. Cox speaks in very complimentary terms of the kindness to him in the matter by Drs. McMillan and Lucas.

Investigation in Jail.

Justice Bornemann yesterday tried a case in jail, which is protably the first instance of its character on record in the State. Moses Divine, colored, while a prisoner in the jail some time ago secured an amount of money from Archie Kinsauls, the condemned murderer in the jail here from Sampson county for safe keeping, with which he was to purchase a number of articles for Kinsauls upon his (Divine's) re lease at the expiration of his term for court costs. The negro was subsequently released but failed to return with the articles wanted by Kinsauls. He was arrested and as the charge upon which Kinsauls is confined was so grave, Justice Bornemann decided not to take him from the jail, as a safeguard against possible escape, and the nvestigation was held in the office of the building. Divine was charged with embezzlement and William J. Beliamy, Esq., represented the plaintiff. The negro was kept in jail in default of $50 bond for his appearance at Assaulted a Syrian.

The police had notification yesterday that a negro boy had assaulted one of the Syrian shop keepers on Front street, near the market house. Investigation failed to find the negro and he was not arrested. It appears that the Syrian was making at the negro as if to catch him, and that he retaliated by hurling a stone which hit the Syrian in the stomach, prostrating him. A physician was sent for and soon brought the injured shop-keeper to consciousness, but he was very severely hurt.

Is It Satisfactory? That's the question that goes with every purchase here. It it's not satis's actory, bring it back todays—to morrow—here week—and get your money. It is this absolute assurance of fair dealing that retains our trade our customers know that 'meney back' is not a crys-tup to deceive the unwary into buying, followed by all sorts of undue excuses and quibblings to avoid returning money on displasing purchases—ne of our maxims reads: "For you to remain dissatisfied is to make us more dissatisfied". It isn't today's trade we're depanding on—it's to mornow's—next week's—next month's—next year's! We want you to be so well pleased with your treatment here and with what you buy here, that you'll come again and awain. And we will remark right now that our efforts to please have been so uniformly successful that calls for "money back" are rarely made. But it's here just the same, for any and all demands that may be made for purchases returned as undesirable.
