THE COURT ENDED.

Jury Cases Were Finished Yesterday and Term Will Adjourn To-day.

THE GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

interesting Bill of Indictment Against Justice McGowan-Charges Not Substantiated-Pavorable Impression of Judge Moore.

The trial docket for the present term of the Criminal Court was exhausted yesterday afternoon and after the arrangement of a number of minor meters by Judge Moore this morning, an adjournment will be taken for the term. All the jury cases were disposed of yesterday and the jury discharged for the term. The grand jury also finished up its work and was discharged, after having been held over from the special term. There were very few other bills of indictment sent up for failure to pay schedule B tax, and those that were sent up were, for the most part, continued until next term. There were comparatively few other cases con-

Judge Moore has made a very favorable impression on Wilmington people and has transacted business with the utmost dispatch, despite the very warm weather, which was well nigh unbearable even to those not closely confined in a crowded court room. Solicitor Duffy has also won merited praise and has secured convictions in a much larger percentage than is usual in the run of a term.

The most interesting proceeding in court yesterday was the hearing by Judge Moore of a case of nonfeasance in office against Justice J. M. McGowan, a true bill having been returned against him by the grand jury at the last term. Jury trial was waived by consent and after the testimony had been heard the Solicitor admitted that case could not be made out. The court, therefore, adjudged that Justice McGowan was not guilty as charged in the bill of indictment and he was released. The case in which Justice McGowan was charged with nonfeasance was one in which a party was indicted for selling intoxicating liquors without license. He was represented by Marsden Bellamy, Esq., and his innocence was established with ease. Another case which excited some nterest was one against George W. Price, Jr., colored, formerly a magistrate of the county. It was alleged that he sold a lot of furniture for a negro and failed to make proper returns for same. He was represented by George L. Peschau and Herbert McClammy, Esqrs., and the jury after remaining out only a short time, returned a verdict of not guilty.

> Judge Moore during the session yesterday sentenced Julia Murray, the colored woman convicted of the larceny of money, to three years in the State prison.

Burt Green, a notorious colored character, was discovered by Sheriff MacRae Thursday night beating a colored woman unmercifully. He was arrested and brought immediately into court. Judge Moore very unpleasantly remembered "Burt" from the last term, when to the surprise of everybody except the jury, he was found not guilty of a number of crimes charged up to him. He was given six months on the road by Judge Moore, who called Burt's attention to the fact that he had gazed upon his physiognomy under similar circumstances before. Other cases disposed of yesterday were as follows:

Elisha Brown, affray; not guilty. James Spencer, affray; not guilty.

Mamie Garfield, Mary Fisher, Fannie Williams, disorderly conduct; John Bell, obtaining money under 'alse pretences; not guilty.

Julia Murray, larceny; three years in the penitentiary. Charles Williams, assault and battery with a deadly weapon; judgment suspended on payment of costs. Grand Jury's Work.

No sensational developments came from the investigations of the grand jury as was expected, though from the character of the witnessess summoned it was thought a Parkhurst crusade would be inaugurated. The following is a copy of the report submitted yesterday afternoon:

His Honor, A. M. Moore, Judge Pre-The grand jury for the August term, Eastern District Criminal Court of New Hanover county, beg to submit their report: We have acted on 99 bills; finding 94 true bills and 5 not true bills. Have made 17 presentments. Have return ed 17 warrants unacted upon for want vitnesses, and we are informed and believe that many of these witnesses have removed from the county permanently.

Public Institutions—Having made full report on public institutions at July term, have only to report the recommendations then made, and to call the attention of the County Commissioners to the fact that none of missioners to the fact that none of these suggestions has been acted upon, and further, that the jail roof is in need of repairs. As pointed out in our former report the absence of electric fans for certain departments of the court house renders the discharge of public duties very onerous, and sensibly impedes the dispatch of business. The grand jury is supposed to reflect public sentiment, and we think that their recommendations should receive prompt and respectful attention at the their recommendations should receive prompt and respectful attention at the hands of the Commissioners.

Rice Beer—We are informed and believe that there is no real or actual difference between Lager beer and the Rice beer sold in this county. Unlike the city, the county imposes no tax on time, when there will be the sale of Rice beer, and the sale of tion of lodge meetings.

this drink without tax is open to the twofold objection that the county loses rightful revenue, and that disorders and breaches of the peace occur as a direct result of its sale, without rendering the venders liable for maintaining disorderly saloons. We are informed that it is a common thing for both Lager and Rice beer to be sold from the same keg—the "initated" getting the "Lager" and the "stranger" the Rice. We believe that the abuse can be remedied and the revenue of can be remedied and the revenue of

can be remedied and the revenue of the county increased if the County Commissioners will have the so called Rice beer analized, and we recommend that they do so.

Stenographer.—We recommend that the County Commissioners supply the grand jury with a stenographer. There is much material evidence that comes before the grand jury which can be preserved only by the aid of a stenographer, and such information put in proper form could be availed of by the solicitor to further the ends of justice. solicitor to further the ends of justice. The solicitor thus equipped would procure conviction in the great maority of cases as the liability to indictment for perjury would deter alse swearing by State witnesses. The chairman of the Board of County commissioners acquiesced very readily n our request for a stenographer at his term, and his services have been invaluable. We recommend that a stenographer be a part of the regular equipment of the grand jury.

Presentments-We repeat our re commendation that warrants drawn on presentments be returned to the grand jury with whom the presentments originate. In the July report we urged this and submitted substantial reasons in its support and as additional reasons we desire to note that some warrants drawn on presentments made at the last term and returned at this term have been unacted on from the fact that banishment temporarily. In our judg-ment the matter is of sufficient imecessary to carry out this recommen dation.

and Cronly, as he was bringing in his train from Hamlet. Capt. Holmes was riding in the en gine cab at the time and from best information gathered from passengers on the train an air brake reservoir burst and the engine was quickly reversed. As it slowed up the conductor attempted to jump from the cab to ascertain as soon as possible the cause of the pipe bursting. He missed his footing and fell and he thinks he was caught, in some way, in the driving wheel. He sustained a fracture of the right arm near the shoulder and was bruised considerably by the fall.

He was placed in the caboose of his train and brought immediately to Wilmington, arriving here at 9:30 'clock last night. News of the accident had been teleraphed from Cronly and Capt. T. D. Meares, General Agent of the S. A. L. waiting for the injured man when the
