NO EXCUSE FOR STAYING IN CHINA

As the McKinley administration pursued a wabbling and contradictory policy with the Philippines, so it is pursuing a wabbling, contradictory policy with China. Troops were ordered into China to rescue our legation and other Americans whose lives were threatened in Pekin. They were sent there because the Chinese government practically confessed either by its inaction or its failure, its inability to cope with the Boxers and give our have. Mr. McKinley went outside of his legal authority in sending these troops into China, but the emergency of the case and the motive were his justification for the assumption of authority, and it was overlooked, and even commended on account of the motive.

Our troops under their bold, resolute commanders showed the characteristic American pluck and dash, and gave their country further reason to feel proud of her soldiers; but with the relief and rescue of our people in Pekin the object for which the troops were sent and the accomplished.

Now it seems that the administration is looking to something else and trying to find a pretext to keep the troops in China. It may be, we are told, through the Fall and Winter, which means an indefinite time. This seems to have been decided upon, for lumber has been ordered from the Pacific coast to put up buildings for Winter quarters. While Mr. McKinley had no constitutional authority for making practical if not technical war upon Uhina, this was overlooked, as we have stated, on account of the emergency and the motive, but he certainly has no authority to order those troops to remain there indefinitely, without the direction of Congress. The emergency and the motive of their presence there have

There can be but two objects in demand for what has already occurred, or it is to be in a position to protect our interests that may be jeopardized by the action of other powers which have, jointly with us, taken a hand in this business. In neither event have we men enough there. Not enough men to make war upon China nor to protect our interests if a clash occur among the other powers which are looking out for their own interests. The result will be that to accomplish anything in either of these directions we must have a large army there or form an alliance with some of the other nation and thus become tangled up in the meshes didn't this Government exercise a family, but went astray, became a for fifty years. The Times sagely not stated and would not be admitted if the assertion were made. Any intention of this kind is dis-. claimed by the spokesmen and organs of the administration.

They fail to see anything in the administration's reason for deciding to keep the troops there, and they give very good reasons why they should not be kept there. The following from the New York Herald will serve to show the sentiment of the independent press, and doubtless also the sentiment of a large majority of the American people. Commenting upon the views expressed by the Philadelphia Times, the Philadelphia Ledger and other papers, it says:

"There can be no reason for keep-ing an army in China unless it be for waging war. This cannot be done by Executive edict without usurping a power which the constitution vests solely in Congress. It cannot be done without drawing the United States into a general conflict, disastrous to its interests and perilous to its des-From such a conflict every national tradition and every consideration of national welfare and safety demand that this country should keep entirely clear. We have no right business or interest in China as a bel ligerent. We have no part to play with European powers in what may develop into a struggle for conquest or plunder. It is no affair of ours, and we should keep well out of it.

"It is unfortunate that in a crisis fraught with even more momentous possibilities than the Philippine issue Mr. McKinley does not give that assurance which the American people have a right to expect, that the troops will be called back in due season. On the contrary, it is intimated that they may be kept there indefinitely. There is no evidence of any intention to withdraw the army from a scene where at any monent it may find itself enlaged in a declared war.

The announced policy of the administration is to seek 'some solution' of the Chinese puzzle-'to preserve China's territorial and administrative entity,' to maintain the 'open door and so on. If this means that the United States is to take a hand in the settlement of the difficulty, to stay in China with the other powers and see the thing through, it is a dangerous can tell where it will end or to what it will lead. When we entered the Philippines neither Mr. McKinley nor any one else dreamed of the consequences that would flow from it. Is not the same likely cope with the Boxers and give our to prove as true, but on a far people the protection they should larger and graver scale, in the Chinese affair? Can we stay in China without being drawn into whatever death struggle may develop? Can we play a minor role without being force din to a leading one? Can we keep an army there without becoming an active party to any war that may break out?

No, Mr. McKinley, the only safe course is to recall the army, withdraw from the brink and leave the other Powers to deal with a crisis which is their business and none of ours. The sooner this is undertaken the easier it can be accomplished and the better it will be for the safety, honor and wel-fure of the United States.

Yielding to the influence that others had upon him Mr. McKinley departed from his original policy towards the Philippines and bought us object of the march to Pekin was a war that has already cost us nearly $200,000,000 and several thousand lives, and yielding to rash or selfish counsel he may depart from his professed motive in sending troops to China, keep them there without authority, and get us into business much more serious than the Philippines, as costly and discreditable as

HE CAN'T SEE IT.

An unsophisticated McKinley expansionist in Chicago thinks he has discovered a poser for Mr. Bryan, and thus states it in a letter to the Chicago Times-Herald: "How is Mr. Bryan going to pretect the Filipinos from the foreign governments unless he keeps an army over there? I do not see how we are going to do with any less number of soldiers than we have. Imperialism is all rot.'

Modesty or something else prevented the inventor or discoverer of keeping them there, or rather one of this conundrum from signing his two objects. It is either to be in name to his letter, which is to be position to strike China again in the regretted, for such a bright genius event she refuses the indemnity we should be known to his fellow citizens. After this interrogatory he might now ask himself how Hawaii was protected by this Government for over half a century. Attempts were made by European Govern: ments to get a foothold there, but they were deterred by remonstrance from this Government, accompanied by the information that this Government looked upon itself as the guardian of Hawaii and would feel obliged if circumstances required it to assert that guardianship. That information sufficed and the Haown government.

Whether there be any intention to south of us, not one of which was pany and became demoralized. grab a patch of ground over there is strong enough to protect itself against foreign aggression if that were attempted? The very fact that this country assumed that protectorate and it was believed would maintain it by force if necessary, While the American people approtected those countries from the Philippines. There are few if the army in China, and making it any European governments which practically an army of occupation, would attempt to encroach upon them when they realized that in ippines. Mr. McKinley admits doing so they would affront the this when he says that while the United States and run the risk of a American people would like to have war that would cost them more than the army called home, and he would they would gain by encroachment.

THEIR HYPOCRISY.

In some of the speeches which Mr. Bryan is now making in the West he is exposing the hypocrisy of the Republican leaders, for the especial benefit of the unsophisticated Republicans who believe that they are honest and that they mean what they say. He calls attention to the fact that four years ago they all professed to be bimetallists, sincere friends of the silver dollar and very anxious to see it reinstated, for which purpose they pledged themselves to do all in their power to secure the co-operation of the European Governments to that end.

Apparently to keep good faith Mr. McKinley appointed a commission, which went to Europe, spent some time waltzing around and came back with the report that it could not do anything just then, but hoped to accomplish something later. Since then there has been absolutely nothing done to carry out that pledge, but on the contrary Congress with that bimetallic pledge before it proceeded to pass the gold standard bill, which knocked silver as a debt paying money clear out. Now neither the campaign orators or the party organs chirp about bimetallism, and no one would ever suspect from them that such a thing had ever existed or was ever referred to in any of their party platforms.

Mr. Bryan asks the question why is this? If bimetallism was so good four years ago that it was deemed advisable to give it a prominent place in their platform emphasized with a supplemental pledge, why isn't it good now? If they were honest in their professed belief in it then why do they ignore it now and pass it over in silence? And why if they believe the ratio of 16 to 1 is dishonest, repudiation, etc., is the Treasury coining silver dollars at the rate of 4,000,000 dollars a month at the "dishonest" ratio of 16 to 1, and why has it been coining subsidiary silver these past three years at the same ratio? But this is one illustration of their hypocrisy on the silver question, while they are equally hypocritical on other questions on which they have been systematically humbugging the people who follow

ANOTHER VIEW OF IT.

The Durham Herald suggests: "If, as some claim, all those papers which favor dropping the negro in the present campaign are hopeful of Mc-Kinley's election, there is good reason to fear that the Kansas City platform may not pull Bryan through in this State."

The STAR has not observed that such claim has been made; and we certainly make no such claim ourselves. But isn't it true that all papers that favor the election of McKinley and all those that are giving Bryan a "slack-twisted" support are in favor of "dropping the negro in the present campaign?"

The public was unusually timid and though the room trade was bearishly disposed, few operators cared to come into the open and make a stand either way. The market started steady in tone, with prices one point higher to two points lower. Inasmuch as the cables no more The Kind You Have Always Bought lower. Inasmuch as the cables no more

"THE SALT OF SALTS."

To Keep Cool these oppressively hot days. Iced water is effective for a moment, but the reaction is bad and dangerous if you are thoroughly heated. A teaspoonful of taken in a tumbler of water makes a most refreshing and agreeable beverage. Besides quenching your thirst and cooling your blood, it tones your system, and keeps you in a state of perfect health.

Abbey's Salt is made from the salts extracted from the juices of fresh pure fruits; it is endorsed by the public and profession of two continents. Sold by most druggists, or sent by mail.

25c., 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. The Abbey Effervescent Salt Co., 9-15 Murray St., N. Y.
