THE HEROES IN GRAY.

VOL. LXVIII.--NO. 80.

History of the Soldiers of the Old North State in the Great War.

VOLUME ONE IS COMPLETED.

A Beautiful Tale of the Third Regiment and Some of Wilmington's Immortal Sons-A Noble and Just Work for Posterity.

Wilmingtonians will be glad to know that the first volume of the 'Histories of the Several Regiments and Battalions from North Carolina in the Great War of 1861-65" is off the press. A number of editions have been received in this city and will be read with interest, as its pages unfold to posterity the daring deeds of the greatest and noblest soldier of them all -the Confederate. To our people it is of especial interest as it contains a history of the Third Regiment, which contained three companies from New Hanover county and two of the three were from Wilmington. The names of many of the gallant officers of this regiment are immortalized and a just and high tribute paid to the men of the ranks. The history of this regiment is the work of the late Capt. John Cowan and Capt. James I. Metts, of this city.

After a recital of the birth and launching of the regiment and a vivid narrative of its many battles, a "roll of honor" is given of those who gave up their life in the great strife. and in the list can be noted the follow ing Wilmingtonians: Col. Gaston Meares, Lieut. Col. W. M. Parsley, Capt. F. S. VanBokkelin, Capt. David Williams, Capt. E. G. Meares, Capt. E. H. Armstrong, Lieut. Thomas Cowan, Lieut. Wm. Quince, Lieut. Tobias Garrison, Lieut. Henry A Potter, Lieut. Cicero H. Craig and Sergeant Major Robt. C. McRee.

High tribute is paid to these heroes, and also to the memory of the follow ng who have died since the recapit ulation: Lieut. Col. Edw. Savage, Dr. J. F. McRee, Dr. J. C. Walker, Dr. Thos. F. Wood, Capt. R. S. Radcliffe, Capt. Wm. A. Cumming, Capt. R. F. Langdon, Lieut. I. T. Pickett, and Lieut, W. H. Barr.

The writers express deep regret that they were unable to furnish the names of the host of non-commissioned officers and privates who fought for the great cause, and continuing say: "Good soldiers and true men they were, discharging duty under any and all conditions. Their hearts' blood flecked the soil of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, and the fields of battle attest their prowess."

The tribute paid to Capt. VanBokklen is a beautiful one and as fol-

"He was universally popular and almost idolized by his own men. But twenty-one years of age and full of youthful ardor, intelligent, with acute conception of his duties and an indomitable energy in pursuing the line of conduct which a discriminating judgment dictated to him possibly more than any other officer of the company in which he commanded was due the high morale to which the company attained. A truly touching tribute is the following: "Adjutant Theodore C. James has also crossed the "narrow stream of death." Our pen falters when we attempt to pay tribute to his memorycompanion of our youth, friend of our manhood. For him to espouse a cause was to make it a part of his very self. Intrepid, no more courageous soldier ever trod the soil of any battle field upon which the Army of Northern Virginia encountered a foe. The impulses of his nature were magnanimous, no grovelling thoughts unbal. anced the equity of his judgment. True to his friends and to principle, he remained as constant as the North star, whose true fixed, and resting quality there is no fellow in the firmament." Leaving his right arm upon a battle field of Virginia and exempt for that cause from further military duty, he disdained any privilege which such disability brought to him, but continued in active service until the last shot had been fired and arms stacked forever." In closing the historians write the following true and beautiful lines: "The memories of the martyrs of the lost cause are too precious to be relegated to oblivion through any blotches on the part of those who could prevent it, or whose duty it is to pressive them. A duty owed first to the dead and—to the living." This history of the Third North Carolina has a valuable addition, ably written by Col. Wm. L. DeRosset, of Both sketches are prefaced by a fine engraving of a group of officers, each being a Wilmingtonian. They are Col. Gaston Meares, Col. Wm. L. De-Rosset, Lieut. Col. R. H. Cowan, Lieut. Col. Wm. M. Parsley, Capt. John F. S. VanBokkelen, Capt. John Cowan, Capt. James I. Metts, Rev. G. W. Patterson, D. D., and Dr. Thomas F. Wood.

As to the volume itself it is No. 1 of three to be issued, and contains the histories of sixteen North Carolina regiments. The next volume will give a history of our gallant Eighteenth. This first volume is an octavo, very appropriately colored gray and has the Confederate and State flags on the front corner and the coat of arms of the Old North State on the rear one. On the front appears the following glorious inscrip-

"First at Bethel, Farthest to the Front at Bethel, Farmest to the Front at Gettysburg and Chickamauga, Last at Appomattox."

The history is ably edited by Judge Walter E Clark, of the Supreme Court, who was a Lieutenant Colonel in the Seventh Regiment, and is a valuable bureau of information.

ANOTHER ELK SOCIABLE.

Tuesday Night in Honor of District Deputy Tomlinson-Splendid Programme for the Occasion.

The Elks intend Tuesday night to have another big time, in honor of District Deputy Tomlinson, of Winston, who is to pay the lodge an official visit. Quite an elaborate programme has been prepared and odds are heavily in favor of a hot time at the elegant temple.

The feature of the special meeting Tuesday evening, aside from Deputy Tomlinson's visit, will be an initiation, and the star of the occasion will be Mr. Adolph Goodman. The work and the candidate will be done up in fine style by a select degree team.

After the meeting a social session will be held, at which a splendid programme of exercises, prepared by a special committee, will be observed. The speaker of the occasion will very likely be Mayor A. M. Waddell. Past Exalted Ruler H. J. Gerken will also deliver an address, his subject being "Loyalty," and Thos. W. Davis, Esq., will speak on "Hospitality." A number of impromptu speeches will, of course, be made, and there will be music galore.

The clever committee of arrangements is composed of Messrs. W. J. Bellamy, (chairman), Ike Solomon, Benj. Jackson, H. J. Gerken, L. Stein, Thos. W. Davis, Lacy Hunt M and Dr. T. B. Carroll.

NORFOLK, Va., June 22.-Norfolk took the last game of the series by shutting the "Down Home" boys out by a score of one to nothing, and not until two hands were down in the ninth was the trick accomplished. Both pitchers were very effective with men on bases. Allen pitched a fine game and though I cannot say which team should have won, Norfolk should have received a shut out for nine innings at least. The features of the game were the work of both pitchers and Sebring's work in the out field. He pulled down three or four that looked good for three bases. McGinnis made a fine catch of a line drive, and Devlin succeeded in capturing a little "Texas Leaguer." After a collision with Crockett, he just jumped over Davy and doubled up Kemmer at second. So the game went until the ninth. In that inning Spratt, the first man up for Norfolk, hit an easy grounder to Clayton, who fielded the ball cleanly, but threw wild to first. Lehman sacrificed him down to second, Morrisey was hit by a pitched ball, and Mullen flew out to Orockett; Smith came up and "Tacks" got two strikes on him and one ball: then he attempted to sneak one over and catch Smith napping, but he made a little one over third and Spratt scored the only run of the game. Cranston caught a pretty game. We leave for Tarboro to-morrow. The Postsmouth players refuse to go to Charlotte, and there are no definite plans for that town. A rumor is afloat that they will sign a new team for Charlotte and black-list all who will not go there. This would not only be unfair to the players, but it is impossible, as they have no money to pay their hotel bills in Portsmouth and have received no salary for a month. They offered to report in Charlotte providing their board bills here be paid. There seems to be some doubt about the forfeited games in Portsmouth. Raleigh cannot claim any game, as she did not appear in uniform on the field. There are certain rules and regulations that go with the forfeiture of a base ball game. Wilmington complied with all these and the games were forfeited by an umpire who went there to officiate in the games. There is not even a chance for an argument on this issue.

BEQUEST TURNED OVER

To the Catharine Kennedy Home Yester day by Executors of the Walker Will.

The coffers of the Catherine Kennedy Home through another act of benevolence of the late James Walker, whom our citizens will always remember with love, have received $5,000. This amount was paid to the executive committee of the home yesterday at noon as a bequest from Mr. Walker. It was turned over to the committee by Messrs. James Sprunt and William Gilchrist, executors of the will. The money was deposited in bank and will be invested for the best interest of the home. This investment is necessary as the terms of the bequest will not permit the capital to be used, only the interest.

The gift of $5,000 was a noble one and it goes to help a most worthy institution. Our citizens should take an active interest in its maintenance.

The executive committee is composed of the officers of the home: Mrs. Roger Moore president, Mrs. P. Pear sall vice president, Miss Louise Harlowe secretary, and Mrs. W. R. French treasurer.
