Of the British Steamer Star Cross, From Bruuswick, Ga. Bound to Bremen.

ASHORE ON LOOKOUT SHOALS

Togs Prom Wilmington and Norfolk and Revenue Cutter Algonquin Have Gone to Her Assistance - May be Floated by Lightering.

The STAR's press dispatches yesterday morning gave an account of the stranding off Lookout of the British steamship Star Cross, bound from Brunswick, Ga., to Bremen with a cargo of cotton.

Friday night the Cape Fear Towing and Transportation Company's tug Blanche and the tug Marion went from Southport to the assistance of the stranded praft. They were followed shortly afterwards by the revetrain wrecked near Greensburg, Pa.; nue cutter Algonquin, which went down from this city.

All of the boats arrived too late to pull the steamship over the shoals at high water yesterday morning, so waited until the afternoon at 5 o'clock, but whether they were successful or not is not known, as neither of the three boats had put back to Southport up to 10 o'clock last night. The position occupied by the Star Cross was a decidedly perilous one, especially on account of the southeast prevailing wind, but whether or not it was strong enough to wreck or damage the ship is not known. The following press dispatch was received by the STAR last night: CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 39.—A special to the Observer from Beaufort, N. C., says that the British steamer Star Cross, from Brunswick for Bremen, which went ashore on Cape Lookout shoals yesterday, is in about the same position as when she struck. struck. The wrecking tug Coley, from Norfolk, arrived at 7 P. M. and two tugs from Wilmington are there endeavoring to float her. It is supposed that she can be floated by lightering, but none of the cargo has been

Five out of six! "Well, I guess that's poor," parks the "ironicalistic" editor. That's the Champions' record the past week, and they are now perched serene and alone, at the top, thanks to timely assistance of the Hornets, who stung the Turtles good and hand yesterday in spite of the shell.

Contention is one thing and kicking is another. The former is proper in in mild doses when occasions present themselves, and sometimes circumstances even make some kicking, a pitch he said he would try, but that little kicking, necessary, but when it he was not at all well. borders on a constancy and that too decidedly forte, why it is not only ruinous to a base ball game, but it gives sailing this week that favored them the most patient and coolest "fan" a last week. It will be "war to the weary feeling, near akin to disgust. | knife and knife to the hilt" between That was the only drawback to yesterday's game being a splendid one. Not now and then, but a good, exciting game of ball. It possessed all the quaulifications-"gingery" Wilmington again they would make coaching, lively base-running, snappy "us fellows" feel "like a twowork on both in and out field, while the willow incessantly kissed the sphere. Of course there was an off day Wilmington and Raleigh will play or two, but perfection doesn't always smile on base ballists, and Hilton Park and on the last three apropos of the kicking question it is days of the week at Wake Court due Mr. Staley to say he umpired a House. These games should attract good, clean game, as he generally does in Wilmington. The Tartars started off like they really not only intended but were going to win. But that was the trouble, they started too early, for while they were dispensing their hits all through seven innings the Champions kept theirs up their sleeyes until the last three when they pulled them down and presented them in a lovely little bunch, which netted eight. They also sprung three beautiful double plays on the visitors at critical times. With a flourish and shout Foster and Ash both obtained singles in the first, but only the former scored, and that was the only run tallied until the fifth inning, in spite of the fact that Clayton, Thackara, Wiggins, Gettig and Gillican all obtained singles and Devlin a two bagger. In the fifth the Champions dropped on the Tartars like a load of bricks and with two bases on balls and singles by Clayton, Devlin, Sebring, Thackara and Warren, ran up five

The fifth netted the visitors nothing. though they obtained a single, but in the sixth they obtained two, due to a base on balls, a double by Ashenback, and a single a piece by Curtis and Weddige. The Champions got three singles in the sixth by Devlin, Crockeit and Alien, but only one run.

The seventh closed the contest, as the Tartars had to leave to catch the train. In this inning the visitors got three, after two men were down. This was due to the three bases on balls and a wild pitch by Allen, and singles by Wiggins and Ashenback. The Champions squared accounts by getting a couple of runs off a base on balls and two baggers by Clayton and McGin-

The visitors did get their half of the eighth, but it netted them nothing save a two bagger by Pennington. We started off in our half with a pretty single by Crockett when time was called.

Guests of Wilmington Bar On a Delightful Trip Down the Cape Fear River

ON STEAMER WILMINGTON

Week-End Dance at the Seashore Hotel at Wrightsville Beach-Large Attendance-Many Members of Bar Association Present.

The lawyers of the State were yesterday the guests of the Wilmington Bar on a delightful trip down the Cape Bear river. Invitations were some time ago sent out to the North Carolina Bar Association inviting them to go down the river and out to sea on the cutter Algonquin. Elaborate preparation had been made for the trip, and yesterday was set as the day. A train load of invited guests came up from Wrightsville Beach to take in the affair, but there was no Algonquin in sight. A telegram received by Congressman Bellamy from Capt, Wiley, dated Southport, announced that the ship had been hurriedly ordered to Cape Lookout to assist a British steamer in distress there. For tunately, the services of the steamer Wilmington were secured. The Wilmington was at Southport, but in response to a telegram was soon heading for this city under full steam. The start from the city was made at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and the steamer returned to her dock yesterday evening at 6:00 o'clock. All on board expressed themselves a having a very pleasant time.

A good many of the lawyers re turned to their respective homes last light, but a big majority is still in the city and at our seashores. Last Night's Week End Dance.

The regular week end dance at the Seashore Hotel at Wrightsville Beach last night drew a large crowd to the hotel. Dancing was kept up until 12 o'clock midnight, a late train being run to the city at that hour over the Seacoast Railway for the accommodation of those taking part in the dance. A large crowd of guests are at the Hotel at present. Many who came down to attend the Bar Association meeting are still here and many more

FIRE THIS MORNING. A Part of the Old Bettencourt Property Again Caused an Alarm.

This morning, about 1.20 o'clock, fire was discovered in the two-story frame building southwest corner Market and Second street, a part of the old Bettencourt property, now owned by Mrs. A. C. Wessell. An alarm was sent in from box 41, Front and Water streets, and the department responded promptly and in half an hour had the flames entirely suppressed. The fire was on the ground floor of the building, which is a grocery store and saloon owned by Mr. Fritz Punke. Just how it started is unknown. The damage to the stock is estimated at $500, covered by insurance of $1,500 with Mr. W. W. Hodges. The building was damaged to the extent of about $50, which is also covered by

The second story of the building was unoccupied. The fire was discovered by Mr. Will Bonitz, night clerk at the Bonitz Hotel. He was sitting on the front plazza of the hotel, across the street, when he discovered smoke issuing from the building, and he immediately sent in the alarm.
