> The preliminary hearing in the case of H. Hauser, charged with arson in setting fire to his store last Sunday night, was held before Mayor pro tem West yesterday morning beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing until the afternoon. The defendant was bound over to the Superior Court in the sum of $400 and Messrs. F. W. Ortman, P. M. Sol Sternberger, Jr., and Henry Westzenmann became his sureties. The bond was originally fixed at $500 but was reduced to the amount stated above. It is expected that the case will come up in the Superior Court today as the papers were sent over for he grand jury last night. The case has excited a vast deal of interest and the court room at the City Hall was crowded during the hearing. Messrs. Bellamy & Peschau appeared for the defendant and City Attorney Wm. J. Bellamy, Herbert McClammy, Esq., and Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young conducted the prosecution.

[Special Star Telegram.] RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 15 .- Wilmington lost to-day in a beautiful game. It was a neck and neck race from the very start and might have resulted differently but for a costly error which the scorers lay at the door of Clayton. It happened in this wise: In the eighth inning Stewart permitted Hughes to walk, Kelly went out on a fly to first, Hughes stole second and Sorber hit to Clayton, who threw wild to first and Hughes scored.

The locals' other run was secured on two two-baggers in succession by LeGrande and Smith. The visitors obtained their lone run on hits by Ragan, Stewart and Clayton. They had a fine chance for another run, but Stewart was caught napping off first. Both Stewart and Smith were puzzles. Hopkins will be in the box for Wilmington to-morrow.

The next two men up went out.

Dommel, the visitor's new first baseman, showed up in fine form. Mc Ginnis was sick to-day and could not

Jury Remained Out All Night After a Lengthy Trial-Wallace Matter Will be Continued-Hauser Case.

Practically the entire session of the Superior Court was taken up again yesterday with the trial of Ed. Willis, colored, charged with arson, reference to which was made at some length in these columns yesterday. At the hour of going to press this morning the jury is unable to agree and every indication is for a mistrial. It appears that the question of the insanity of the negro is the one upon which the welve men disagree, rather than the defendant's guilt of the crime. The evidence was all in yesterday morning, including that of several expert witnesses, and the afternoon session was given over until 5 o'clock to argument by counsel and Judge Allen's charge to the jury. The prosecution was represented by Solicitor Duffy and E. M. Koonce, Esq. who contended against the defendant's insanity, and Marsden Bellamy, Jr., Esq., and C.-D. Weeks, Esq., plead the case of the defendant. After the judge's charge the following jury retired to consider the case and are still in the room as stated: Jessie Haskins, J. M. Chadwick, W. T. Shepard, H. M. Foard, J. W. Smith, Robt. L. Everett, Henry Gerdes, J. B. Watters, E. C. Woodbury, C. G. Jones, I. J. Bryan and L. F. Harper.

ADDRESS OF GEN. RANSOM.

The Reunion - A Handsome Flag Unfurled-Pleasing Incidents - Many Visitors-Veterans Leave for Their Homes To-day.

The Confederate Veterans in Camp Aycock yesterday had most delightful weather and the camp routine rather than being onerous was a genuine pleasure to the half a thousand gallant old soldiers who had assembled, many of them for the last time on earth. Reveille was sounded at 6 A. M., and each item in the general order issued by General Carr on the day before was as far as possible adhered to. There was no dress parade in the evening on account of a necessary delay of the Second Regiment Band in reaching the Sound until after the hour for the event had passed. This was a disappointment to many of the old soldiers, who were anxious to "touch elbows" again, but the interim between the hour appointed and mess call at 7 o'clock was very pleasantly spent.

The election of Division and Brigade officers took place in the pavilion at 11 A. M. All the old officers were re-elected unanimously as follows:

Commander, Major General Julian S. Carr; General John G. Hall, of Hickory, commander of the Frst Brigade; General W. L. London, of Pittsboro, Second Brigade; General James M. Ray, Asheville, Third Brigade, and General F. M. Parker, of Enfield, Fourth Brigade. These will appoint their staff officers as early as practi-The great event of the afternoon was the address of Senator Matt W. Ransom to his old comrades in arms. His main purrose was to show that the submitted to the charge and asked the battle of Gettysburg was not the bethe States. He contrasted the resources and forces of the North and South throughout the war. He showed that after Gettysburg Lee sent one-third of his men to reinforce the army of Tennessee and still Lee continued to defeat one general after another and it was only when Grant was put in charge and refused to exchange prisoners and Lincoln enlisted negro soldiers and the devastation of Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia were undertaken, that the tide turned. The final failure of the Southern armies was only by greater numbers.

The speaker paid eloquent tributes to the women of the South and to her soldiers, which have never been equalled in history. They were not rebels but patriots. Throughout the dent physicians at St. Joseph's Hosaddress there was frequent applause. By resolution of Maj. T. L. Emory.

of Weldon, it was decided to hold the next annual meeting of the division at Greensboro on Aug. 20th, 1902. The city of Raleigh was suggested as a central location, but the meeting was not appointed there for lack of auditorium facilities. The veterans will break camp this morning and many of them will leave for their homes on to day's trains while others will remain at the beach and in the city a few days longer. General Carr will be a guest of the Seashore Hotel until the latter part of the week and it is expected that General Ransom will remain over in the city and at the beach for a short time longer. Last night General Ransom with Col. Wharton J. Green, of Fayetteville. was a guest at Mr. Pembroke Jones elegant country home, "Airlee."

Hundreds of ladies and gentlemen from the city, including a delegation of ladies from the Daughters of the Confederacy, visited the camp during yesterday and added no little to the entertainment of the old sol-

A pleasing incident of camp life yesterday was the singing, just before the speaking, of the "Old North State." It was led by those gallant veterans, Col. W. J. Woodward, Capt. James I. Metts and Mr. W. H. Northrop, of Wilmington, and the chorus was swelled by hundreds of those "who wore the gray" and gathered enthusiastically about the pavilion.
