MASS MEETING YESTERDAY.

Resolutions of Respect to Dead Chieftain and Many Eloquent and Personal Tributes - Telegram Sent to Secretary Cortelyon.

Perhaps in no Southern city was there apparent yesterday more outward or unmistakable manifestation of the deep gloom that has fallen over the nation in the death of its President, than in Wilmington.

Mr. McKinley's death was the allimportant topic discussed on the streets, in offices and places of business, and deep and personal was the regret expressed by every one. Flags over private and public buildings and over vessels in the harbor were at half mast and there were many other evidences of the great loss felt by the people, regardless of political creed, class or condition of men. The Produce Exchange, while open to members, was the scene of no transactions in the commercial world and the miniature flags over the desk of the secretary were appropriately draped. Holiday hours, as far as business would permit, were observed at the United States buildings and officials were alike in expressing the most profound sorrow

At the service in the Temple of Israel yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Mendelsohn, the Rabbi, made a most touching reference to the death, eulogizing the life and character of the deceased ruler.

lowing telegraphic transmission to Secretary Cortelyou, with a request for conveyance of the sentiment to Mrs. McKinley, was then unanimously adopted:

resolution to her?
"'Resolved, That on this day, while we mourn with the whole country for our dead President and listen reverently to the messages of sympathy which are pouring in from all the nations of the earth, we deem it a mournful duty, as a community, to express our sorrow for the sufferings and death of William McKinley, our fellow citizen—the soldier, statesman and patriot—feeling, as we do, that "His lofty character, his calm, wise statesmanship and his excellent diplomacy in handling our foreign affairs during a very trying and exciting period of the world's history have moved the hearts of the people as the heart of one man is moved and have brought the country to the front line sustained by the loyalty of all the States he has commanded for us the respect of all foreign potentates.

Whilst his kindly personality, his eminent services, his patience and beautiful fortitude in these last anxious days have endeared him to the hearts of all good citizens.

We extend to his devoted wife and to his family our respectful sympathy. "HUGH MACRAE,. "H. C. McQUEEN, lution had been feelingly adopted stated that it was also the purpose of the meeting to hear from those who personally desired to say something in honor of the departed President. He then called upon Mayor Waddell, who spoke an eloquent tribute, which was listened to attentively. He referred to his acquaintance with Mr. McKinley when he was in Congress and his impression of the man and officer. He was a gentleman with as clean a record as any man in public life. His devotion to his wife was remarkable and beautiful. Although many differed with the late President in politics, none the season from Dunn, N. C., and Arrived For Harbor, dared to question his political or personal integrity. Mayor Waddell closed a beautiful speech with these words: "Would to God that a large proportion of the Northern country could realize the feeling in the South. I do not believe any locality is more honest and sincere than this community. God save

Hon. John D. Bellamy began a very feeling and eloquent tribute by saying that a great calamity has befallen the country and it is to be deeply deplored. Anarchy, he said, should be stamped dut of the country. No man had ever been President of the United States who enjoyed a greater respect of his people than Mr. McKinley. Mr. Bellamy said he had a personal acquaintone felt at perfect case. He had a fullness of heart and tenderness rare. ly found in the public men of to-day.

this country."

Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure next spoke tenderly of the dead ruler and the great calamity which has come upon his people. During the hour of the funeral he suggested that another public meeting be held and that the church bells of the city be tolled during the time.

The suggestion was favorably received, and it was the sense of the meeting that business houses close so that all may attend the meeting and show proper reverence.

Rev. Dr. A. G. Voigt next expressed his entire accord with the spirit of the meeting and the eulogies that had been said.

Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell spoke in exceedingly appropriate and touching language of the death of the President and recited the great anxiety of a devoted people since the news of the assassination spread like wildfire a week ago. Each of the three Presidents who have fallen at the hands of assassins was noted for his domestic virtues. He closed his very beautiful tribute by saving: "My own heart wears a tenderness for the noble and heroic woman whom the man now in death has just nursed to recovery by his love."

Mr. J. W. Norwood recited the events leading up to and the circumstances surrounding the assassination of the three presidents who had died at the hands of diabolical men. The killing of Mr. McKinley was the most unmitigated, reprehensible and cowardly of all. He said he knew of no more apt parallel in history than the murder of our Blessed Savior, who was betrayed with a kiss by Judas Iscariot.

Mr. D. L. Gore spoke in splendid language of the late President and his many virtues and capabilities. "We nonor ourselves in honoring the dead President," said Mr. Gore.

Collector of Customs Jno. C. Dancy. the only colored man present, asked to be pardoned for his interruption durg their labor of love. He spoke eloquently of the President and paid one of the most beautiful tributes of the meeting to his memory.

Mr. W. M. Cumming next spoke and impressed the people with the idea that President Roosevelt be given the utmost spirit and confidence.

Mr. H. C. McQueen concurred in the sentiment expressed by Mr. Cumming in regard to President Roosevelt and upon Mr. McQueen's motion, a verbal resolution extending the sympathy of the community to the new President in this great hour thrust upon him, was unanimously adopted. The STAR regrets that space forbids more complete reference to all the beautiful tributes paid to the President's memory, but it will suffice to say that each one was sincere and couched in the most appropriate and expressive language,

THE GREAT CLIVETTE COMPANY.

Attraction at Opera House Next Tuesday Evening-Press Notices Encouraging.

Next Tuesday is the day set for the appearance of the great Clivette and his company of European entertainers in this city and Manager Schloss assures his patrons and the public in general that this is the best and most expensive company which will visit Wilmington this season. The Manitoba Free Press said: "Those who attended the Winnipeg Theatre last evening had an opportunity of appre ciating the result of long practice at an arduous task-that of reaching the acme of perfection in the art of juggling. His feats of magic were indeed astounding. The shadow throwing was also most entertaining. The tests in mental phenomena given were really marvellous, and quite different from any seen in this city. The performances are intensely interesting." The engagement here is for one performance only, Tuesday evening, Sept. 17th. Seats are on sale at Gerken's cigar store.

Sixteenth Birthday Celebrated.

Miss Lillian May Ward, daughter of Mr. G. H. Ward, celebrated her sixteenth birthday at the family residence, No. 518 Red Cross street, Friday evening. A large assemblage of her young friends were present and an evening of rare enjoyment was experienced. There was an abundance of refreshments and music, and many handsome and costly presents were received. It was near midnight when the gathering of happy young people dispersed for their homes.

News of the Excursions.

New Hanover Directors Will Make Demand On City for All Police Fines.

A CONTROVERSY EXPECTED

About $600 Per Year is Involved-Example of Buncombe, Wake and Other Countles Will be Followed Here Revenue for Six Months.

A controversy over the disposition of fines accruing from the municipal court is likely to be launched at any time between the city authorities and the County Board of School Di-

About two years ago in Raleigh and in Asheville the county school authorities discovered a hidden law, or rather principle of law, which makes all fines imposed by the State payable to the school fund. In cases of towns and cities conjointly with the State. the law had never been enforced and when a demand was made upon the municipal authorities for these fines, it was promptly resisted. A test case was made up and the Supreme Court decided in favor of the school authorities. In Raleigh, Asheville and few other cities the decision of court was complied with and the money paid into the school fund. This year the de mand for this money has been made in several counties of the State, and now It appears to be growing general.

The New Hanover School Board took the matter up several weeks ago and it is now conferring with Mayo Waddell relative to the matter, though there appears to be a difference of opinion as to a construction of the law. Mayor Waddell is willing, so the school authorities have been informed, to pay into the school fund all fines accruing from violations of the State law, but those coming from a violation of the city ordinances he thinks should properly go into the city treasury. This, it is learned, will be resisted by the school authorities, who think that according to the law all the fines should go into the school fund, just as is the custom with magistrates and the Criminal Court. The school authorities also claim, that if they so desire, they can go back as far as the record extends and demand all the fines that have been paid during these years. It is learned, however, that it is not the disposition of the school directors to make such a sweeping demand, but they think that the amounts since January 1st, 1901, should be turned over for educational purposes and all fines paid in the future should be applied in the same manner.

The school authorities have been quietly working along this line for some time and hope to have the matter concluded amicably in the near future. From a statement furnished by the city of fines and costs collected in the police court from Jan. 1st, 1901, to Aug. 19th, 1901—a little more than seven months-it is seen that the amount received is $489.90, deducting costs of $186.35, from which is left an aggregate of fines amounting to $303.55. The extent the city would suffer under the new arrangement and the benefit that would accrue to the school fund during the year may be drawn from these figures.

AN ELEGANT DINNER PARTY

Given Last Evening by Y. M. C. A. Dining Club in Compliment to Retiring Secretary Turner.

In honor of Mr. W. W. Turner, who recently resigned as general secretary of the Wilmington Young Men's Christian Association to seek a more congenial climate to his health in Colorado, the Y. M. C. A. Dining Club last evening gave a most delightful dinner party which was greatly enjoyed by a number of guests and club members.

Mr. Eric Norden served very gracefully as toast master and toasts were responded to as follows: "Association," Mr. Paul M. Taylor: "Abroad." Dr. N. M. Wetzel; "Recollections," Mr. W. W. Turner. All of them were happy and in exceedingly good

After dinner the party was delightfully entertained by a number of instrumental selections on the plano by Miss Fannie Corbett and several admirably rendered vocal numbers by Miss Janie Clark, with Miss Corbett as accompanist.

Among members and guests in at endance were the following: Paul M. Taylor and Miss Ida Ninness, W. W. Turner and Miss Louise Corbett, N. M. Wetzel, M. D., and Miss Janie Clark, Eric Norden and Miss Bessie Hankins, J. A. McGeachy and Miss Keith Covington, W. T. Smith and Miss Nan Huggins, Trice Turner and Miss Fanny Corbett, W. L. Williford and Miss Ida Black, W. L. Williams and Miss Mary Ennett.

Mr. Fitts. of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is here to look over the field with a view to succeeding Mr. Turner as general secretary, was also present. Mr. Turner expects to leave for his new post of duty to-morrow.

SPECIAL SERVICE TO-NIGHT.

THE A. & M. COLLEGE IS FULL.

President Winston Says Thousand Boys Would Come If He Had Room. [Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 14,-There are now 315 students in the A. & M College. This is all the college can accommodate. A few vacancies will be made by students leaving from poverty and other causes and in this way there will be room for a few more students from time to time, but only a few. President Winston says that new students should not come to the college without having previously written to ascertain if there is room for them. He says there is great de-mand for industrial education throughout the State, and that the A. & M College would have a thousand students if it had room for them. Its dents if it had room for them. Its geatest need now is for more dormitories and shop room for wood-working and iron-working. It is a pity that boys seeking industrial education have to be sent back home. The State needs skilled labor in all lines, and it ought to provide ample facilities at the A. & M. for all who come

THE ALVIN JOSLIN COMPANY.

Engagement Not Cancelled and Performance Will be To-morrow Night.

The management of the Opera House takes pleasure in announcing that owing to the recovery of the leading lady of the "Alvin Joslin Company," they will present this elegant rural comedy to-morrow night, Monday, 16th inst. The play deals with an old Vermont farmer, Alvin Joslin, who receives a letter from an English lawyer, which takes him to New York. where he is the central figure in many ridiculous situations.

The company reached the city last evening from Durham, where it appeared Friday night. The Herald of that city says:

"The theatrical season opened here last night with the presentation of 'Alvin Joslin,' a rural comedy in four acts. The Opera House was well filled and seemed to enjoy the meeting very

"As the name implies, it was a play full of fun. From the beginning to the end the audience was kept in good humor by the old Vermont farmer, who got into all kinds of trouble trying to play off single in New York city. There was just enough of a plot to make the play interesting. The log dancing was fine, as was some of the specialties.
