At All of Them Were Touching References to President's Tragic Death.

WERE TWO SPECIAL SERMONS

At the First Baptist and St. Paul's Lu theran Churches There Were Appropriate Services - McKinley's Last Words a Text.

In nearly all of the Wilmington churches in which services were held Sunday there were touching references in sermon and prayer to the death of the late lamented President McKinley.

At the First Baptist church the services were made especially fitting at night by a special sermon which the pastor, Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, preached from the last words of Mr. McKinley. "It is God's Way; His Will be Done." The congregation which assembled to hear the sermon was very large and the spacious church building was packed to its utmost capacity, many chairs from the Sunday school room having been pressed into service and placed in the

Before the sermon, in prayer Dr. Blackwell made a beautiful invocation for the bereaved wife of the late President and asked for her early deliverance from the great grief with which she is afflicted.

The Bible lesson was from that part of the Scriptures referring to Gethseminæ and Calvary and from the same passages of Scripture were taken the words of the President in his dying hour. Dr. Blackwell then began his sermon and had the undivided attention of every one in the hearing of his voice. The history of Christianity from the early ages was taken up and each great tragic event to recent times was shown to have been but The assassination of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley were mentioned as having been according to God's will and though deplorable, but a step for the betterment of their people. The assassination of Lincoln was to partially unite the two great sections-North and South; the dying of Garfield was a sacrifice to teach the Nation better and purer methods of government and the tragic death of Mr. McKinley was but to arouse the peoplo to the dangers of anarchy and material commercialism.

At the conclusion of the service the entime congregation sang. "Nearer My God to Thee," the last verse softly; appropriate from the fact that this song was softly chanted by Mr. Mc-Kinley shortly before he relapsed into unconsciousness. At St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

At St. Paul's Luthern Church Sunday morning the services also partook of a memorial nature and the pastor. injury Sunday morning about 10 Rev. Dr. A. G. Voigt, preached o'clock by falling from a step ladder splendid sermon appropriate to the on the high porch of the residence to great bereavement of the country. the ground, a distance of nearly fifteen His text was the 97th Psalm, second feet. After the little fellow had fallen verse: "Clouds and darkness are to the ground, the step ladder upon round about him; righteousness and which he had been climbing on the judgment are the habitation of his porch, came tumbling down, striking throne." him on the left arm, causing a com-

Dr. Voigt spoke most entertainingly and profitably to a large congregation. The text, he said, was a word from God to the Nation in mourning. He recited the circumstances of former assassinations, and said that we are now in no such crises as in those days The taking of one man cannot subvert this government. Yet it is well to remember the truth that God reigns-a truth often forgotten until some extraordinary or shocking event, like the assassination of our beloved President brings it to our minds

The speaker paid a beautiful tribute to the President and continuing said "It is not only his death that we mourn, but particularly the manner of his death. The death of a President fills the country with mourning. The death of a good and wise President produces deeper grief. The death of a President by assassination awakens sorrow mingled with detestation. But the death of a good and wise President inflicted by an anarchist fills us with sorrow, co-mingled with horror and execration, yea, fear. For what are we coming to if the red hand of the anarchist can be lifted against the head of this government of the people, by the people, for the people!"

Dr. Voigt closed with a beautiful expression of sympathy to those dear by ties of blood to the late President, asking God's comfort from out of the cloud of darknes to them.

JOHN DAVIS BURKHEIMER.

Well Known Young Man Passed Away Yesterday Morning After Extended lilgess-The Funeral To-day.

Many friends and acquaintances in Wilmington and elsewhere will hear with profound sorrow of the death of Mr. John Davis Burkheimer, which occurred yesterday morning at the family home. No. 208 North Fourth street, at 5:50 o'clock. Mr. Burkheimer had been ill for seven weeks with typhoid fever but it was thought until a short while before his death that he would recover from the dread disease. Peritonitis. however, followed the attack of fever presumably as the result of a fall from a bicycle on the shell road a little more than a year ago and weakened from the continued fever he soon passed away. He was conscious almost up to the hour of death and conversed feelingly with members of the family.

Mr. Burkheimer was born in Wil mington, March 14th, 1872, and was therefore in his thirtieth year. His father was the late Washington Burkheimer, long since gone. His aged mother, Mrs. S. V. Burkheimer, with three brothers, three sisters, a sorrowing wife and two little daughters survive him. The sisters and brothers are Misses Hattie and Maggie Burkheimer, Mrs. Anson Alligood, Messrs. H. D. E. B. and W. L. Burkheimer. The wife was Miss Mary Wood, daughter of Mr. R. B. Wood, of Brunswick, Ga., and the little daughters aged two and one years, respectively, are named

Miriam Ward and Virginia. Deceased was well known in Wil mington for his jovial and amiable disposition, a high sense of honor and many sterling traits of character. For years he was employed in the dry goods business with Messrs. Morris Bear Brothers, and lately he had been a valued employe of the Rheinstein Dry Goods Company. He served for a period of six or seven years in the old Wilmington Steam Fire Engine Company and was universally All members of the family were with him when he died, except Mr. H. D. Burkheimer, a brother, who arrived with his wife and children from Newbern at 12:15 o'clock. The funeral will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from his late residence and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

THE PRESIDENT'S FUNERAL

Governor Aycock Extends Invitation 500 North Carolinians to be Present. Many Prom Wilmington.

"I request you to attend the funeral of President McKinley at Washington Wednesday noon, representing North Carolina."

That is the text of a telegram received Sunday night from Governor Aycock by a number of prominent citizens of Wilmington, among whom are Col. Walker Taylor, Maj. W. F. Robertson and Col. Geo. L. Morton, of the Governor's staff; Col. A. M. Waddell, Col. Warren G. Elliott, ex-Governor D. L. Russell, Maj. W. H. Bernard, Dr. T. B. Kingsbury, ex-Mayor S. H. Fishblate and Mr. J. W. Norwood.

Yesterday another telegram was received from the Governor stating the change in the funeral arrangements and asking the gentlemen to be present in Washington on Tuesday morning. Col. Taylor and Major Robertson left last night, going direct to Washington, Mr. W. F. Swaringen. editor of the Whiteville News, was also in the city yesterday en route to attend the funeral in response to Governor Avcock's message.

Governor Aycock has extended the invitation above to five hundred North Carolinians in various parts of the State and indications are that the old North State will be well represented at the funeral.

A MEMORIAL SERVICE

Thursday Set Apart in Wilmington to Honor Memory of the Departed President.

BUSINESS HOUSES TO CLOSE

Ministers Will Meet To-day at Y. M. C. to Pormulate Programme of Observance-Agreement by Wholesale Merchants On the Wharf.

Pursuant to the proclamation lately sued by President Roosevelt, Thursday in Wilmington will be observed as a day of mourning and prayer out of respect to the memory of the late lamented President Wm. McKinley. whose tragic death has already smit ten the nation with bitter grief.

In order that the observance may be in order and conducted with the proper spirit and reverence, the STAR is requested to say that the ministers of all the churches are earnestly requested to meet in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. this morning at 10 o'clock to arrange for a service of humiliation and prayer on that day at some central point where as many citizens as possible may gather to pay out of full hearts their homage of love and reverence to the chief magistrate The public will be duly apprised of the programme and the people of Wilmington generally are invited to enter into the spirit of the hour.

A movement has already been sel on foot for a closing of the business houses of the city for a part of the day. at least, and the memorial meeting bids fair to be one of the largest in recent years.

On the wharf, where much of the wholesale business of the city is done. there will be a practical cessation of all duties for the entire day, and the up-town districts will also be in the line of observance as far as possible. Yesterday the following agreement as to the closing was circulated on the wharf and signed by those whose names are affixed:

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 16. We, the undersigned, agree to close our places of business on Thursday, Sept. 19th, in accordance with terms the proclamation issued by the President of the United States: D. L. Gore Company, D. McEachern, Jos. H. Watters, Hall & Pearsall, Old-Time Comedy Enjoyed by Fair Size Audience Last Night.

The theatrical season of 1901-02 was naugurated at the Opera House last evening with a very clever presentation of the old-time but ever popular rural comedy, "Alvin Joslin" as played by a company headed by Messrs. Saylor & Miller. The company as a whole is composed of capable artists who furnished each of the one hundred and eighty laughs in as many minutes, as advertised. The attendance was not large as consequence of the uncertainty of the appearance of the company, but it was much larger than expected and those present seemed to enjoy every feature of the performance. The clog dancing as a specialty was good and has been scarcely excelled on the stage here. The company leaves to-day for Florence.

Parker, the Purniture Man. Mr. N. F. Parker, the furniture man, is filling a very large order for The Orton, which is now being thoroughly renovated and refurnished. Mr. Parker received the contract over competitors from all parts of the country and that he is filling it with such eminent satisfaction is a decided compliment to his ability as a house furnisher. The room furnishings are in golden oak and mahogany of the best grade and most highly polished. The chairs, rockers and tables are to match. The ladies' drawing room and parors are furnished with manogany the lobby with settees upholstered in best grade leather, with centre piece handsome in design. Davenport and easy chairs are also furnished for the lobby. The reception room is with mahogany and leather, while the reading room has furnishings of polished oak tables and arm chairs. The Orton will soon be the most elegantly furnished hostelry in the State.
