WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 3

A FIELD TO EXPLOIT.

Of the nations there is but one which has carried out the colony with system and success, and that is Great Britain. Spain had the enterprise to explore, enterprise stimulated by hunger for gold, and the pluck to seize and hold, but she did not have the genius to colonize and govern. In her unscrupulous greed for gold she misgoverned, oppressed, and lost one of the most magnificent domains ever lorded over by any Government on earth. But with the enterprise to discover after others led the way, Great Britain had the dash to appropriate, the business sense and the foresight to colonize with her own people, and the sense to govern after she had learned the lesson of moderation taught her by her American colonies which protested against arbitrery government and, failing in the protest, renounced allegiance and set up for themselves.

Ever since then, while English civilization has gone on, while Great Britain was appropriating more territory and encouraging her people to settle in it, she has dealt considerately with them and made them feel that they were English, protected by the British flag, and practically let them govern themselves, as Canada, Australia and the South African provinces do. She makes them feel that they are English, simply asks that they recognize allegiance to her and then lets them govern themselves. In this way she retains their friendship and builds up trade between them and her. It is thus that she has made her flag a power in the different quarters of the globe, became the great commercial nation and sea power she is, and it was this, perhaps, that gave foundation for the theory that "trade follows the flag." Other European powers have in a small way attempted to follow Great Britain's example, but none of them has achieved much success.

But there is little territory left for any of them to appropriate now. They have seized and divided among themselves about all of habitable Africa that is worth anything and they have made about as many seizures in China as they can without coming into collision with each other. There is one magnificent domain left for exploiting, but not for colonizing in the way of establisbing national supremacy. This domain is South America, on which Germany has wistful eyes and where she and Italy already have many of their people located and have formed their trade combinations by which they hope to profit and exercise a potent influence in that quarter of the world, not by asserting territotorial supremacy, but through the agency of their own people who have become settlers.

Italy is pursuing her course quietly while Germany, or rather the Germans, are more assertive, assuming that the right to establish colonies by European powers, under the patronage or by direction of the home government would be questioned and resented by this government as a defiance of the Monroe Doctrine. Some of the spokesmen for Germany and other European powers contend that when this Government went beyond its own borders and planted its flag on the islands in the seas it thereby nullified its Monroe doctrine, and there are a good many people in this country who agree with them.

One of this country's great blunders was overlooking the magnificent domain South of us, turning eyes across the seas, and letting other and rival countries get a foothold where we ought to have precedence and be practically masters.

It is a grand domain, no richer on the globe, rich in fertile soils, in the variety of products, rich in forests of rare and valuable timbers, rich in mighty rivers navigable for thousands of miles. There is there room and resources for one of earth's greatest empires, when peopled by a different people from those who are now doing little or nothing to develop it, and lack the capacity to do it if they had the disposition.

The Baltimore Sun in an editorial on the disposition shown by Germany to get a footing in South America, gives some idea of the immensity of that country in speaking

"It is not surprising that that vast continent to become the home of a great population and the scene of great wealth producing industries. A vast territory inland is as unknown as the deepest jungles of darkest Africa. The whole extent of the continent is about double that of Europe. It lies entirely within the temperate and torrid comes and nearly the population and the scene of perate and torrid zones, and nearly the whole surface is habitable and productive. Brazil alone is almost as large as Europe and has natural wealth of forests, mines and soil almost unrivalled by any other country. It has a population of about 18,000,000, including Indians and negroes, and is capable of supporting a population greater than that of Europe, which is nearly 400,000,000. It has within its boundaries 30,000 miles at the supporting the support of t ries 30,000 miles of navigable rivers, affording natural avenues of trade un-rivalled in any other land.

The vast extent of other countries of South America is scarcely appreciated. Venezuela, for instance, has an ated. Venezueis, for instance, has an area of nearly 600,000 square miles—five times the size of Italy and four times the size of Prussia. Its population, including negroes, and uncivil-ized Indians, is less than that of the city of New York. It has vast fertile plains, a great river system, up lands with a salubrious climate, moun tains rich in minerals, forests without limit. With a government to give protection to its citizens, it will become one of the richest countries in the world. It is not surprising that the overcrowded countries of Europe should be turning their eyes upon the great continent of South America, lying fallow and in much of its domain awaiting the touch of civilization. The cultivation of closer relations with the United States may do much to ward simplifying the situation and bringing about in a peaceful way one of those victories of civilization that are no less renowned than those of

Here is a territory more than twice as large as Europe and capable of supporting a population twice as large as that of Europe, with magnificent rivers flowing through it to superb harbors, rivers that would carry streams thousands of miles into the interior, rivers with tributaries navigable for hundreds of miles, and all this is practically a terra incognita, as far as utilizing it goes. The inhabited and utilized portions are the States that skirt the seas, the others being but thin ly inhabited, but little utilized and comparatively unexplored. Here is a field for friendly exploit by the progressive nations of the earth, in which the United States, being the nearest, ought to lead.

"BENEVOLENT ASSIMILATION.

Since the outbreak at Catbolo gan, island of Samar, it seems that the American authorities in the Philippines are resorting to drastic eulogist. measures to cow the insurgents. What they propose to do is thus stated in a Manila dispatch of the 1st inst:

"The Philippine commission has drafted an act against treason and sedition. The penalty prescribed for treason is death and the act is framed to include those persons giving aid and comfort to the insurgents. Persons who utter seditious words or speeches, or who write libels against the United States Government or the Insular Government, are punishable by the imposition of a fine of $2,000 or two years' imprisonment. For breaking the oath of allegiance a fine of $2,000 or imprisonment for ten years is fixed as the penalty. Foreigners are placed under the same laws as are Americans and natives. A public discussion of the act will be had on Saturday."

They may smite with the mailed hand, kill, hang, imprison or banish but they will only intensify the hatred and, out of sympathy, alienate many who might have been disposed to be

We have been criticising the harsh and cruel methods resorted to by the British commanders in South Africa in their desperate efto crush the spirit forts of and disarm the Boers who are fighting the invaders of their country, and now the American authorities are resorting to the same methods to crush the spirit and disarm the Filipinos who, like the Boers, are fighting the invaders of their country. The British have nothing to be proud of over their performers in the Transvaal, nor have we anything to be proud of over our performances in the Philippines since Dewey dashed into Manila harbor and sank the Spanish fleet. That's the only honorable and redeeming feature of the whole busi-

ELECTIONS NEXT TUESDAY.

There will be elections in ten States next Tuesday—in Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Rhode Island, Virginia, Mississippi and New Jersey, and also in the city of New York, which is attracting more attention than all of them together, because there it is a fight between the regular Democratic party represented by the Tammany organization and the disaffected elements which call themselves "reformers," backed by Boss Platt with his Republican fol-

Some attention centers on Nebraska because that is Wm. J. Bryan's State and there is a fusion between the Democrats and Populists against the Republicans.

There is interest in Maryland because it will be the first election under the new law prescribing qualified suffrage, under which some white men and a great many illiterate negroes will be disfranchised. The Democrats expects to carry the State, which means that Gorman will go back to the Senate, and probably come conspicuously to the front as a prospective candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. Outside of New York city, Maryland, Virginia and Mississippi we are not looking for any Democratic victories.

to whether Senator Hoar did the right thing when he declined an invitation to deliver a eulogy on the late President McKinley, giving as a reason that he differed with Mr. McKinley on the Philippine question. As he gave the reason and in his declination paid tribute to the memory of the deceased, as a patriotic and well meaning President, his motive could not be questioned. Mr. Hoar doubtless felt that to eulogize him without qualification would be to put himself in a seemingly inconsistent attitude, and therefore it was better that some one who was in thorough accord with the President should be his BOOK NOTICES.

Gunton's Magazine for November presents an interesting list of articles on political, economic and other subjects. Among the notable papers is one entitled "Hours of Factory Labor in the South," viewed from a Northern standpoint, and seen through interested Northern eyes. - Nothing so alarms England as the fact that English soldiers are continually deserting to the Boers. Read between the lines Kitchener's dispatches would indicate that many of the soldiers reported captured by the Boers marched with trailing colors into the Boer camp. There is a mystery about the South African situation which neither dispatches nor private letters reveal. -Houston (Tex.) Chronicle, Ind.

--- The Kaiser must be getting desperate when he declares that if the commercial treaties are not concluded he will "smash everything to oits." However, the conditions that have aroused his wrath are exactly those that call for calm consideration and statesmanlike treatment of tariff questions, remembering that there's as much profit in buying as in selling, which most of our protected industries seem to have forgotten.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

drop in temperature in the extreme Northwest to below zero. But soon after the call there was a reaction of five to six points under selling for both accounts, professional longs and shorts seeing no sign of permanent strength in the market in the absence new business through commission houses. The cable news from Liverpool was a trifle better than looked for and receipts in the South gave promise of dropping off steadily from now on. The reaction in prices after the call carried January off to 7.42 and other months in proportion. Still later the market rallied several points on conservative buying by insiders and a lull in the selling pressure. Trading was not active and for the most part was of a professional character. Fear that the cold wave in the extreme Northwest will work its way southward during the over Sunday adjournment, impelled shorts to seek safe ground as a matter of precaution. The market closed steady with prices net seven to nine points higher. NEW YORK, Nov. 2.-Cotton quiet
