MRS. KATED. WHITING

Wife of Distinguished Confederate General Died in This City Yesterday Morning.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

Death Entirely Unexpected and is Greatly Deplored by Hosts of Friends-Her Life Was Devoted to Memory of Her Husband.

The community was saddened yes terday morning at the announcement of the unexpected death of Mrs. Catherine D. Whiting, wife of the late General William Henry Chase Whiting, C. S. A., which occurred at her home, No. 111 South Fourth street, this city, during the early hours of the day. The death was very sudden and came for that reason as a shock all the more pronounced to members of her family and hundreds of friends. Upon the advice of her physician she was out walking as was her custom. Wednesday afternoon, but returning home she complained of feeling very unwell and retired to her room. She was attended during the night but in no wise was her condition regarded as serious. When a member of the family went into her room yesterday morning to inquire of her feeling, it was found that her spirit had taken its flight to another world. Physicians pronounce the cause of her death as heart disease. The news of her passing away quickly spread in the city and the large number of friends who called at the home during the day attested the very great esteem in which she was held by those who enjoyed her acquaintance.

Mrs. Whiting was born in Wilmington and died in the sixty-sixth year of her age. She was a daughter of the late Maj. John Walker and Mrs. Eliza Morehead Walker and belonged The contingent of Wilmington Elks to one of the most influential and was a grand-daughter of General Thomas Davis, of Fayetteville, and a grand niece of Col. John Walker, who was an aide on the staff of General Washington. Her father, Major John Walker, was a son of Thomas Walker, and Ann Wadehouse, of North umberland, England, and was born in Browick-on Tweed in 1779 and died

Mrs. Whiting was married to General Whiting in April 1857, only a few years before the cruel war which deprived her of a devoted husband and theConfederacy of a gallant soldier and officer. General Whiting was a native of Mississippi and graduated with distinction and after a brilliant career at West Point in 1845. In a class of fortyfive he stood first. He had the highest average in his studies ever attained at West Point up to that time and his marking was "maximum" in everything academic.

When the Civil War broke out he east his lot with the Confederacy and was at different times Major General commanding a division of the army of Northern Virginia and of troops in Wilmington. He was in both battles at Fort Fisher and in its fall he received a wound which ultimately resulted in his death March 10th, 1865, in a Federal prison at Governor's Island, New York, to which he was taken. Only last year his remains were brought to Wilmington and interred in Oakdale.

Since the death of her husband Mrs Whiting had devoted her life to his memory and her affection for him was touching. Her character was a noble one and all who knew her loved her. She had been in ill health since Spring but her death was not ex-

Of her immediate family a brother and two sisters survive. They are Capt. Alves Walker, Mrs. Fred Fosgate and Mrs. John Cowan. She is also survived by a number of nephews and nieces as follows, Miss Hanna P. Bolles, Mrs. J. E. Reinburg, Mrs. Alice L. Everett and Miss Maria Walker, of this city; Mrs. R. Duval Jones, of Newbern; Messrs. James H. and Robert H. Cowan, of Wilmington: Mr. Jno. W. Bolles, of Hong Kong, China; Mr. William B. Walker, of Manila, P. I.; and Platt D. Walker, Esq., of Charlotte.

The funeral will be conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. James' Episcopal Church, with interment in Oakdale cemetery.

By request of the president, members of Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, will assemble at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Wilmington Light Infantry armory for the purpose of attending the funeral

At the City Rock Quarry.

A very fine grade of rock and one very much superior to the kind that has been mined for the past several months, is now being dug from the city rock quarry in East Wilmington. The quarry is being worked about four feet deeper than ever before and as a result of the extra labor a blue formation of phosphate rock has been found which is unexcelled for macadamizing purposes. It is being used in bringing the work down Princess street from Ninth.
