Fitting Exercises Observed Yesterday Under Auspices of Daughters Confederacy.

THE ADDRESS BY DR. WELLS.

Military Parade Was Imposing—Second Regiment Band—Salutes Over the Graves of Dead Comrades—Crosses of Honor Given.

The memorial exercises yesterday afternoon at Oakdale, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, were the prettiest in years. The address by Dr. Wells was of an unusually high order and the weather conditions were well adapted for a celebration of the character in hand.

The exercises opened with a dirge by the Second Regiment Band, under the excellent leadership of Prof. C. W. Hollenbach and Prof. J. A. E. Wilson. Dr. J. N. Cole then offered a very appropriate and fervent prayer, which was followed by the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the gathering, accompanied by Prof. Hollenbach, cornet; E. C. Craft, cornet; Robert Morris, trombone, and T. K. Curtis, baritone.

Chief Marshal Clayton Giles then introduced Dr. J. M. Wells, the eloquent young pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and son of a distinguished Confederate soldier. Dr. Wells' address was clear, eloquent and practical. His delivery was perfect and what he had to say was one of the young men, grown up since the bloody conflict for Southern rights. He made a brilliant defence of secession, as a constitutional privilege, quoting eminent authorities upon the subject and resending the imputation that it was for the maintenance of slavery. The motive for the war was not a thirst for blood, greed for gain, nor a defence of slavery, for half the people in that bloody conflict had no interest in slavery. The war was to drive back a dark cloud of centralization which threatened to destroy self government.

He contrasted the horrible methods of the U. S. army in the Philippines to those in vogue with the Federal troops during the Civil War and eulogized the conduct and personnel of the Confederate army. The burning of Atlanta and Columbia, the destruction of Shenandoah, the valley of Virginia, Wilda's and Sherman's raid through Georgia and the infamous order No. 28 of "Beast" Butler at New Orleans were denounced and contrasted with the frank, honest conduct of the war by the South. The treatment of prisoners of war was likewise paralleled and the South shown not at fault for the terrible conditions that existed in them.

Dr. Wells referred eloquently to the passing away of living Confederates and said that each Memorial Day there was an order to close up ranks, for they had been thinned by death. He exhorted young men to hold in sacred reverence the memories of their fathers and the war they waged. Next he paid a beautiful tribute to Lee, Jackson, the Johnsons and Nathan Bedford Forrest. Roosevelt was quoted on his estimate of Lee and the men he led. Dr. Wells also eulogized the good women of the South and closed with a beautiful reference to the men who returned to their shattered homes and began life anew in the desolate wake of a war of extermination and annihilation. He was given warmest applause throughout his brilliant effort.

Chief Marshal Giles next read the Roll of Honor and the Daughters of the Confederacy laid a wreath of flowers upon the grave of Rev. Geo. Patterson, chaplain of the Third N. C. Infantry. "Soldiers of Christ Arise" was sung by the congregation, and Capt. James I. Metis read the list of those entitled to Crosses of Honor as follows: Rev. James Carmichael, Chaplain, 30th Va.; W. A. Cornish, Hospital Steward, 18th N. C.; E. P. Collier, Sergeant Major and acting Adj., 2nd N. C. Inf.; A. C. Cook, Serg't Co. I, 18th; J. T. Hancock, private, 4th N. C. Inf.; S. W. Langdon, Brigade Surgeon, Cooke's Brigade; William A. Moore, private, Company K, 39th Heavy Artillery; Thos. H. McKay, Major and A. M. Lane's Brigade; W. P. Old, ham, Captain Co. K, 44th Reg't; O. P. Meares, Capt. in P. M. Department; F. W. Ortman, physician Co. A., 35th E. C.; Richard Reeves, Private Co. E., 18th N. C.; O. H. Robinson, O. M. E., 31st N. C.; W. H. Bernard, private Co. H., 1st N. YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost, Per cent. Lists games between Raleigh, Greensboro, Charlotte, Newbern, Durham, and Wilmington.

In the finest exhibition of ball playing ever seen on the Hilton diamond, Greensboro yesterday afternoon made it two out of three with Wilmington in the tenth inning. The score was 1 to 0 and the contest was even better than those remarkable figures indicate.

Elms Hutton, Wilmington's new fielder, got the longnose hit for the Giants and that was a three bagger to deep left in the first inning, he having been the second man up. Brown had previously fouled out to the catcher, Hutton's beautiful hit, availed nothing, however, for McGinnis flew to second and Dommel went out, short to first.

Greensboro won in the tenth. Sad to relate, but such ball playing as was done by the locals is to be commended and certainly deserves patronage. It was the Tall Fox from Randolph that opened the fireworks for Greensboro. He was the first man up in the tenth and swatted a ball to the centrefield fence. It would have been a home run but the G. O. C. F. fielded it quickly and only three bases were allowed. Sullivan hit out to second. Conneen, next up, hit a hot one to Lattin at short and Fox scored on the wild throw home. Jones forced Conneen at second and Poole flew out to short. There was the measly run which won the game and which could not be overcome by Wilmington at its last trip to the stick.

Wilmington Proud of Her Team, Even in Defeat. —It was a great game. —Defeated, but not disgraced. —McCann and Wilson both pitched fine ball. —Oh! take your measly little 1 and carry it home. —Yes, we were whitewashed; but we got only 1 coat. —The Newbernians made it hot for the Hornets yesterday. —And the Tall Fox of Randolph made a three-bagger, too. —The Durham Bulls paved a good chunk off that Raleigh percentage yesterday. —The only smart thing Billy Boylan ever did was the adoption of the goose as his emblem. —The game occupied but one hour and fifteen minutes. Nine innings were played in sixty-two minutes. —The lovers of baseball in Wilmington will always stand by their team, even in defeat, when they play as they did yesterday. —The Giants will have to battle with a nest of hornets to-morrow. There should be great crowd to witness the Titanic struggle. —If the Giants play this week as
