ciple which we maintain is that a pub lic debt cannot give rise to an armed intervention, and much less to the territorial occupation of the soil of American nations by any European power.

In reply to this Secretary Hay referred the Argentine Minister to the letter of President Roosevelt defining the position of this Government upon that doctrine, and adding that this Government would always be glad to see controversies which could not be settled in the ordinary apron, but to all of us who have seen way referred to arbitration, to determine the justice of the claims for individual wrongs or national obligations.

The Government of Argentina accepts the Monroe Doctrine as principle of international law, but contends that international law is against nations employing force to collect private debts, a contention in which she is sustained by eminent authorities in this country and in Great Britain. But a short while ago the part that Great Britain took patient. in the Venezuelan incident became a matter of discussion in the British Parliament, where it was contended in both Houses, and not denied, that Great Britain had never asserted the right to employ force against other nations to collect debts due to British subjects, and that joining victim of pneumonia. The nurse knew Germany in this demonstration against Venezuela was an entirely new departure.

Whether international law recognizes such a right or not, it would bea bad and a dangerous policy for any nation to assert it and to act upon it, for the acting upon it might at any time embroil it with other nations whose interests might suffer by such action.

This is truer now than it would have been even half a century ago, for nearly all the nations are to-day money borrowers, and many coun- their names, as doctors write "M.
