Mr. Steven Ward Comell, Pleasantville, N. Y., isn't a hero, as heroes go these days: he is only a coal man. But he has achieved distinction and looms away up in the estimation of his people. He had a monopoly of the coal business in his town. He had a big stock of coal on hand when the strike began, and he kept his town supplied through over and hope his shadow may nev grow less.

The New York Sun concedes Senator Morgan the palm for being the most voluminous talker on record. In the past three years the speeches he has made on the isthmian canal, the resolutions, &c., presented by him number 1,307,000 ords, or more than the 850,000 contained in Shakespeare's works, or the 1,025,000 in Gibbon's "Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire." What a waste of words. But the Sun pays him the compliment to say that while he has talked much, "he has talked surprisingly well through-

MR. WRIGHT STED WAN DEAD.

Only Son of Maj. Chas, M. Stedman, Dled in Asheville Yesterday.

The numerous friends in Wilmington will hear with sincere sorrow of the death of Mr. Wright Stedman, only son of Maj. Chas. M. Stedman, of Greensboro, which occurred in Asheville, N. C., yesterday morning. Deceased was about 32 years of age and had been in Asheville for some time with the hope that the mountain climate would improve his health, which had been poor for several years.

The news of the sad death came in a Sheriff Frank H. Stedman, and it was stated that the funeral will be held in Asheville to-day. Mr. Stedman lived in Wilmington during his earlier life and is well remembered for his versatile talents and even temperament. He was very popular in the community and was at one time superintendent of the street railway system, before it was electrified. The news of his death will come as a shock to his the affair. It is said to have been many friends.

HORSE-WHIPPING?

Sensational Reports Yesterday of Summary Punishment by Wilmington Firemen.

will be convened in Wilmington on FALSE FIRE ALARM FIEND.

addies are Said to Have Wreaked Vengeance Upon Man Supposed to Be-Responsible for Much Unnecessary Trouble Lately.

Sensational reports of a horsewhipping administered by several of the firemen of Wilmington, just after their response to the false alarm from Ninth and Chestnut streets, at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, were rife in the city yesterday. The police are believed to be making a quiet investigation of the affair, but nothing could be learned from that source yesterday. The victim is said to have been James Judge, white, although he has lodged no complaint against his assailants. Suspicion has rested upon young Judge for some time, and when the laddies were returning from the long run Tuesday night, they are said to have found the man on Sixth near Chastnut street, which is only three blocks from where the alarm was sent in. A severe whipping is said to have been given the young man, and residents in the neighborhood were alarmed by shouts of "Murder!" "Police!" and other cries of distress. A telephone message was sent to the police station and officers went to investigate, but by the time they reached the scene the disorder had ceased and the streets were clear.

The firemen have been much annoyed during the past week by almost nightly false alarms of fire from remote sections of the city, necessitating a long run by the horses and men and entailing considerable expense to the municipal govern-ment. When the men were aroused from their cots at 11 o'clock Tuesday night and had had another long dash for nothing, they were naturally mad had just cause to be so. When they overtook the man supposed to have caused all the unnecessary trouble, their first impulse was, of course, to take summary vengeance and they did so, if the shouts for help by their victim was any criterion. But another view of the situation was presented yesterday when Chief Schnibben commenced to investigate found that Judge was not responsible for the alarm Tuesday night at all. There is said to be almost conclusive evidence that the false slarm was sent in by some one else. Then again, in favor of the action of the firemen, it was said that there is equally as conclusive testimony that Judge had knowledge of the affair and the alarm was due to his suggestion, if not that he was guilty of breaking the glass and pulling nown the lever. In the meantime the investigation will go on with little, if any probability, of the firemen being discovered.

Judge's wounds received in the affair with the firemen were dressed by Dr. C. T. Harper early yesterday

Candidate Por Municipal Honors,

Capt. W. F. Corbett, city soliciting agent of the Consolidated Railways, Light and Power Co., is out in a unique letter to the public, which upon a casual reading one would take to be his announcement as a candidate for Mayor. But he isn't. As much as he would like to serve himself and the people, he says he is too busy congratulating the citizens on the recent improvements on the Consolidated Line between Wilmington and Wrightsville. In conclusion he says the candidates had better call the election early, as everybody will be on their trains en route to the beach by noon. He would be glad to give any information relating to the excursion rates for Sunday schools, special parties, secret societies, social clubs, etc.,

Real Estate Transfors.

By deeds filed for record yesterday the following property transfers were made: Rachel H. Davis to her daughters, Emma J. Hall and Margaret D. THE LOCAL SHIPPING NEWS.

Steamer Cleared With Cotton--Wilmington Tug and Revenue Cutter to Rescue of Distressed Schooner.

The British steamer Stag, Capt. Bulman, the last of the vessels receiving a cargo at the Champion Compress, cleared yesterday with a cargo of 6,696 bales of cottop, valued at $133,683 and consigned by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Bon.

The schooner John H. Buttrick. Capt. Sprague, arrived yesterday from New York and will receive a cargo from the Cape Fear Lumber Co. Capt. Sprague is well remembered here as master of the schooner Julia S. Bailey. which was in port in distress in 1897. He now has a much larger and better vessel and is welcomed again in local marine circles.

The revenue cutter Tuscarora left at 7 A. M. and the tug Alexander Jones at 2 A. M. yesterday for Cape Lookout shoels to emist the schooner C. S. Glidden, Capt. Fales, reported in yesterday morning's Associated Press dispatches as ashore in that vicinity. The Glidden is 1,098 net tons register and was bound from Baltimore to Galveston. An unknown steamship which went ashore at the same time, during a thick fog, subsequently floated, took the captain and crew of the schooner and proceeded east. The schooner is reported submerged aft and in a dangerous condition. An Associated Press telegram from Norfolk last night says: "The Merritt and Chapman Wreck ing Company has sent the steamer Rescue from Norfolk to the assistance of the four-masted schooner C. S. Glidden, which stranded on the outer Cape Lookout shoals during a heavy fog yesterday. The schoon er's crew were taken off by a big steamer, which stranded near the sailing vessel during the same fog in which the schooner went aground The steamer succeeded in floating her self and proceeded on her voyage. Nothing has been heard here to-day from the steamer nor of the condition of the grounded schooner."

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS.

Regular Monthly Meeting Yesterday Aftersoon-Only Routine Business.

The Board of Directors of the Merchants' Association was in session yesterday afternoon from 3:30 o'clock until an hour later. Mainly routine business and that of a private character was transacted. President Jno. H. Render was in the chair, Secretary P. Heinsberger was at his desk and others in attendance were Vice President C. M. Whitlock, Messrs. Marcus W. Jacobi, J. H. Thomas and A. O.

Schuster. Proceedings of the previous meeting having been read, Messrs. Whitlock and Jacobi, composing the Auditing Committee, reported that they had examined the books of the secretary and treasurer and found them correct and neatly kept.

The president was authorized to have compiled and printed a pamphlet containing the names of all delinquents and disposition of the claims, same to be used as a reference book for members of the Association.

Upon motion, a letter of thanks was directed to be sent to Mr. T. S. Mc-Manus, manager of the Bell Telephone Exchange, expressing the appreciation of the Association for the 'phone placed in the office for the convenience of members. Other business was of no general interest and after its transaction the Board adjourned.

DEVELOPMENTS.

Death of Young Carpenter Whose Skeleton Was Found Tuesday Still a Mystery.

REMAINS BURIED YESTERDAY.

Circumstances of Young's Disappearance Well Remembered by Police-Two Witnesses from Masonboro May Throw Light on the Affair.

There were no developments yester day that tend to throw any light what ever upon the probable cause of the death of the young carpenter, W. W. Young, whose skeleton was found in Track's pasture in Mason boro township, six miles from Wilmington, on Tuesday. The remains, which were turned over to Young's sisters at 109% Dock street. were buried vesterday afternoon in the

Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, who was seen late yesterday afternoon, said that so far he had been unable to get a summons to Messre. Jos. Hines and Charles Stokely, of Masonboro, who were the last persons who saw anything of the missing man. Dr. Bell said that he had telephoned for the men, but as they lived in rather remote sections of the township, they did not probably get his message until yesterday and, if so, they would probably come up to-day. Dr. Bell further said that from the best information he had, Mr. Stokeley's cart, under which Young fell, was a light vehicle and was unloaded. He did not see how any injuries could be inflicted that would have proved fatal. These are the points he desires to get straight by an interview with Mesars. Haines and Stokely. Along the road where the accident occurred here is a substantial barbed wire fence, and unless that has been built sidee the accident on the road, he does not understand how Young could have crossed over it into the pasture where the skeleton of the body was found. Besides being an intense sufextent that he could hardly lift one foot higher than another, if the man was injured by being run over by the cart, it would have been even more difficult for him to cross. A further investigation by Dr. Bell may or may not clear up the mystery of the death. The circumstances of Young's dis appearance are well remembered by the police, who were instructed to look out for traces of the missing man at the time. His family was greatly distressed over his departure and as the man was a member of the police force, immediately after the race troubles in 1898, the officers took nore than ordinary interest in the case. Young had been treated by several physicians in the city for locomotia axia and the case is remembered well by them. The man was in a pitiable condition and that he should have been able to completely lose himself from his people was regarded very strange. Those who kept up with the case were satisfied that he had either been [drowned by falling overboard from one of the city wharves or that he had fallen into the Sound, as the last trace of him was on the Federal Point road at the Trask pasture and he was headed toward the Sound at that time. Developments in the case are being

Dr. Robert Strange, rector of St. Paul's church, has regained his health and spirits and expects to resume his duties here the Sunday after Easter, better prepared for work than he has been before in years. This gratifying news comes in a letter from gregation dated aboard a steamer on the sea of Marmoss, Feb. 27th, eighteen days ago. Dr. Strange was then within one day's sail of Constantinople. He had just come from Athens and writes enthusiastically of the pleasure he found in his visit to that city and of how vividly he recalled the classic associations with which it is so crowded and the experience there

He writes: "I have enjoyed the trip; have been able to see about as much as anyone else, and best, of all, I have been steadily regaining my health and spirits and am now, in fact, myself again. I am so thankful and hopeful in that fact. "I expect to be in St. Paul's the Sunday after Easter, and from that time on I am confident I will do better work than I have done since I have been in Richmond
