Young White Man Paid file Pine and Was Released from Work House. Negro "Tourist" Bound Over. Before Justice Powler.

Its a very dull day in town when Mayor Springer's court at noon doesn't afford one or more recruits for the county roads. Just now the police are engaged in a crusade against various and sundry colored women who infest certain alleys in the city and make night hideous for all the surrounding community with the noise of their revelry. Rosetta Brown, colored, was the first of such arrests being made and she was sent without ceremony to the convict camp by the Mayor for 30 days Monday. Since then half a ing. dozen or more similar arrests have been made and yesterday three of the defendants were arraigned in court, charged with disorderly conduct. Endlipp Held Yesterday Afternoon. Esteemed in Virginia.

at 6:30 o'clock, the remains of Mr. Frederick D. Cudlipp, superintendent of telegraph for the Atlantic Coast Line, whose sad death occurred rather suddenly Tuesday night, were taken yesterday evening at 7 o'clock to his former home in Richmond, Va. Mrs. Bourne, a sister of the deceased, arrived yesterday morning and a brother-in-law, Mr. W. J. Francis, also arrived in the afternoon from Richmond and accompanied the body on its way to its last resting place. Mrs. Cudlipp and daughter, who were visiting in Mapleton, Iows, when the death summons came to their devoted husband and father, will join the sad funeral party at Richmond this morn-

The pall-bearers from the residence to the station yesterday were : Messrs. W. J. Haylow, J. A. Fountain, J. C. Higgins, Wm. Flanagan, Owen Page and C. C. Brown, a majority of the number being officials of the Coast Line, with whom Mr. Cudlipp was intimately associated.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch of resterday in speaking of Mr. Oudlipp's death says:

"A private telegram received in this city last night announced that Mr. Frederick D. Oudlipp, one of the oldest and best known telegraphers in the South, had died suddenly at 11:30 P. M., in Wilmington, where he was employed as superintendent of telegraph for the Atlantic Coast Line Railway. The vital spark left the veteran oper ator's body with startling suddenness, death coming without warning or any thing seriously protending the end of his career. He had been complaining alightly for several days, but his conyears old. He is survived by his wife and three children, Mrs. Oudlipp and a daughter being in Iowa on a visit to relatives when the sad summons home reached them.

"Colonel Cudlipp was up to about a year and a half ago chief operator o the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city, a position he had held for about twenty-five years. He was one of the finest telegraphers and best electricians in the South, and was widely known by the men who work at the key, having sent to and received from nearly all the older men in the service. Few men were more generally esteemed by their associates and those who knew them. The general opinion is that he was a man of many admirable characteristics and of quali ties that endear men to each other. He was highly valued both by the Western Union and by the Coast Line."

The rain in the up-country seri-
