Through the instrumentality of Col.

John Moores, of Findlay, Ohio, trav-

eiling passenger agent of the Ohio

Central Lines, and Mr. J. J. Wolfenden, of Newbern, a party of Ohio capitalists have been in this section of the State since last Thursday looking over timber lands with the view of purchasing a large body of it, upon which it is proposed to locate a wood manufacturing plant of gigantic proportions and ultimately establish upon it a colony of Northerners, such as have recently removed thither and made a garden spot out of hitherto barren wastes in Columbus county.

Besides Col. Moores and Mr. Wolfen-

THEATRE EVENT OF SEASON.

Marie Walswright in Revival of Popular Shakespearean Comedy at Academy Next Tuesday Evening.

The forthcoming appearance here of Miss Marie Wainright at the Academy next Tuesday night in a revival of the splendid Shakespearean comedy. "Twelfth Night," has overshadowed all other events theatrical for the present. Mr. Hugh A. Grady, representing the company featuring Miss Wainwright, was here yesterday and perfected all arrangements with the managers of the local playhouse for the coming of the big attraction. The prices down stairs will be at an advance to only $1.50 for all seats, except the last four rows which will be $1. The box sheet opens Saturday morning at 8 o'clock and all indications point to a rush.

Miss Wainwright will appear in "I welfth Night" in her world famous impersonation of Viola, the role being that of the disguised page who turns the heads of the titled lovers of Illyria without regard to sex and paves the way for a very advantageous alliance for the long missing brother who was her double, while herself laying seige to the heart of the duke she admires. Oriticisms and reports from all cities in which Miss Waln wright has appeared are unanimously eulogistic. Some dwell upon the charming art of the dwell upon the charming art of the actress, her exceeding beauty, and her perfect symmetry of form. Others praise the production from a scenic standpoint, extolling the many beautiful scenic pictures. Still others proclaim it to be the most complete and perfect revival, taken as a whole, for its ensemble work, its scenery, its light effects and costuming. Shakespeare's comedy, "Twelfth Night," more so than any of his other plays, requires a star cast for its proper interrequires a star cast for its proper inter-pretation and Manager Jules Murry has it. Every member of the cast is a bright star.

News of River Steamboats-"Tar Heel' Affort and Now On Ways Here. "Johnson" Will Not Go Permanently On the Cape Pear.

The cotton fleet in port was augmented yesterday by the arrival of two other steamers, however, of smaller tonnage than usual. The British tramp "Hesleyside," 1,687 tons, Capt. Bedlington, arrived Bunday from West Hartlepool and the British steamer "Falcon," 1,349 tons, Capt. Ross, arrived yesterday from New York. Both are consigned to Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Sou. The only vessel at the compress docks prior to the above arrivals, was the "Candleshoe," The "Hoxbey," which is also here for cotton cargo, was taking a supply of coal from the A. C. L.

The Wilmington and Fayetteville steamer "Tar Heel" which has been on the bottom, just above Elizabethtown, having jammed a hole in her hull about two weeks ago, was raised Saturday and arrived here under her own steam yesterday morning. She went immediately on the ways at Skinner's and will be permanently repaired. The "Hurt," of the same line, cleared early last night for points up the Cape Fear river as far as the stage of water will admit of navigation.

The river steamer "A. J. Johnson arrived yesterday from Elizabethtown and cleared in the afternoon for the return trip up the Cape Fear river, expecting to go as far as Oedar Creek. Mr. W. J. Meredith, agent of the "Johnson" in Wilmington, says there is no truth in the report that the boat will be regularly transferred to the Cape Fear run. She is now making a trip or two up that stream, but will shortly return to the Black River line.

Inward and outward bound vessels to and from this port appear to have suffered none by the terrific storm which swept along the coast the closing days of last week. Several schooners passed out at Southport the evening this section of North Carolina and its before the storm, but marine men say they probably put to sea and escaped all danger.

Long Distance Composite System Installed Between Wilmington and Florence.

One of the "composite systems" of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., has recently been put in operation between the Coast Line general offices in this city and the unction office of the company in Florence, the work having heen done by Mr. D. C. Marshall, the A. C. L's. expert electrician. Strange to say, the communication is established on a "quad" wire over which at one and the same time four telegraph instruments may be hard at work and a conversation going on between persons at each end of the same wire, without the alightest confusion or interruption. If the Wilmington-Florence test over the "quad" wire proves satisfactory it may not be improbable that the telephonic system will be put in operation between important points all over the Superintendent Catlett stated that all the schools were open and that the attendance is much better this year than ever. In this connection it will be interesting to note that the newlyestablished school in District No. 12, on the Castle Haynes road, Miss Katherine Elmore teacher, has opened with about 25 pupils and much good is being done there.

Dr. David Batson was elected a com mitteeman in District No. 11, Scott's Hill, to fill a vacancy which has existed for some time.

Superintendent Catlett hopes to hold the first of a series of monthly teachers' meetings in Wilmington on Saturday, Oct. 31st.

Sad Death of an Infant.

Martha E., the infant daughter of Mr. J. G. Darden, of Raleigh, died Sunday at the residence of Capt. Thos. H. Hawkins, 805 Chesnut street. The child was only a month old and was preceded to the grave by its mother wo or three weeks ago. The death is for that reason peculiarly sad, the little one having been brought to Wilmington from Raleigh with the hope that it could be raised after having been deprived, so young, of its mother. The funeral was conducted yesterday and the remains were laid to rest in Oakdale.

Schedule Change Not Pleasing.

Effective Sunday, the Southern Railway changed its schedule between Goldsboro and Greensboro so that the train which formerly connected at Salma with the southbound Atlantic Coast Line train, in the afternoon, passes a half hour before the A.
