A DISTRICT MEETING.

Wilmington Pythians Will Journey to Chadbourn on Special Train December 8th.

ARRANGEMENTS UNDER WAY.

District Deputy Jao. P. Littleton Names Assistants From Four City Lodges. Great Time Expected--- The Pare Will be Only $1 50.

Arrangements are on foot for a big district meeting of Pythians at Chadbours, N. C., on Tuesday, December 8th. All the lodges in the Wilmington district, comprising the four in this city and the three in Chadbourn, Whiteville and Clarkton, expect to be represented at the meeting by large delegations and committees are already at work upon a programme that will be entertaining in its every fea-

An enthusiastic meeting of repre sentatives from the four lodges in Wilmington was held last night at Castle Hall for the purpose of discussing plans for the big event. The chief matter of importance under preliminary consideration was the matter of a special train to carry the Wilmington visitors to the meeting, and it was at once decided to charter one if rea sonable inducements are obtained from the Atlantic Coast Line authorities. A round trip rate of $1.50 has been offered on special cars attached to the regular train leaving at 3:45 P. M. and returning at 11:15 P. M., but that schedule will give visitors only about two and a half hours in Chadbourn and many of them do not desire to leave the city until evening. Accordingly it was decided at the meeting last night to charter a special train if the necessary encouragement is given and Messrs. J. H. Hanby, R. F. Hamme and Jere Holmes, of Stonewall, Mr. J. - The Register of Deeds gives F. Littleton, of Clarendon, Mr. Jake notice that all dealers in fireworks Dulz, of Germania, and Mr. Anson Alligood, of Jefferson, were appointed to receive the names and fares of all members of their respective lodges who de-Clarendon Lodge No. 2, K. of P., will sire to attend. The matter will be discussed by all the lodges in the district at their meetings this week. Wilmington's crack Pythian degree team will go to Whiteville upon the occasion of the meeting and give the amplified Third Rank. The team will carry with it all the necessary paraphernalia and costumes.

All arrangements for the meeting are being directed by District Deputy

John F. Littleton, of this city. LOSAL MARKETS AND SHIPPING.

British steamer "Heathford," pre viously reported cleared for Bremen with cargo of cotton, passed out at Southport at 9 A. M. Sunday.

Schooner "Ida C. Southard," 718 tons, Capt. Blake, arrived Sunday from Baltimore with cargo of fertilizer for storage in the Carolina Central warehouses. Schooner "Harry W. Haynes," 250 tons, Capt. Goodwin, arrived at Fort Caswell yesterday morning with cargo of stone, which she will discharge there for Roger Moore's Sons & Co.

Although the local spirits of turpentine market was quoted firm at 554c yesterday, there were sales after hours at 56c. Receipts were 50 casks. Not a single barrel of rosin was received during the day, but there were sales of stock on hand at $3 10 per barrel. Cotton advanced yesterday to 10; cents per pound for middling on the local market. Receipts were 1,948 bales against 1,690 bales same day last year. The steamer "Planter" from Georgetown, S. C., arrived during the day with 553 bales for Messra, Spruot & Son, but that amount will be included in to-day's receipts.

YOUNG MAN AND HIS SUCCESS

Interesting Address by Rev. Melton Clark.

St. Andrew's at Night.

"A Young Man and His Chances for Success or Failure" was the subject of a most interesting address by Rev. Melton Clark, of Florence, S. C., in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Contrary to the custom of conducting the meetings for men only, the ladies were also invited and numbers of them responded. Rev. Mr. Clark took the position that a man's success or failure depends largely upon the man himself. The real seat of success or failure is in the heart or mind. A man's object in life and not his environments are responsible for his success or failure, The singing by the quartette was a who composed the quartette were: Mrs. F. A. Muse, Miss Rens Mills, Mr. R. H. Grant and Mr. Chas. Dushan with Mrs. M. L. Chasten, accom-

Wild Story of Kidnspping Reached Police Headquarters from First Ward Yesterday-'Twas a Mistake.

Police headquarters was wild with excitement for about half an hour yesterday afternoon. It was almost time for the night shift to come on duty at 6 o'clock when the telephone bell rang violently and in short, quick jerks. Hall Officer E. L. Smith languidly pulled down the receiver and a nervous voice at the other end had him all attention at once with an exciting account of a kidnapping over the railroad. A colored man had been working in a yard over there, so the story quickly ran, and had taken a child playing about the sidewalk, boarded a street car and ostensibly hurrled off with it. The excited voice chopped off the conversation as unceremoniquely as it had commenced it, with the request that all the policemen be notified to Miss Maybelle Clary, of Stockton, keep a sharp look-out for the negro and the child. Telephone messages were then dispatched to the officers on every beat through which the car line extended and Policeman Smith stopped the first one which passed Princess street. There was no negro: no child.

Janitor Frank Harper remained at he hall and while every energy of the police department was bent toward catching the negro, the telephone at the station rang again and a "still, small voice" said the negro had been found. The colored man, to amuse the child, had taken it for a short ride on the car. An over-anxious mother had seen the negro board the car with her little one and instantly she had conjured in her imagination the kidnapping of her boy. She was rejoiced when the colored man returned the child to the yard and resumed his work, little dreaming that for fifteen minutes or more the eyes of the entire police department had been strained for a glimpse of him.

BROTHERS SHE NEVER SAW BEFORE.

Mrs. Cowles Received a Visit from Members of Alabama Branch of Family. Mesars, G. W. and A. J. Rackley, of Dothan, Ala., left yesterday afternoon after a visit to their half-sister. Mrs. Lucy A. Cowles, No. 813 Cheanut street, whom they had never seen before, strange as that lack of acquaintance on the part of brothers and sisters may seem. Long before the war the mother of the Rackley family died and the father left for Texas, leaving as children with their grandmother Mrs. Cowles and her brother, Mr. J. R Rackley, who now lives at Rosindale, N. C. The father married a second time, settled in Dothan, Ala., and the two sons now from that city were the result of that union. The two older children came to North Carolina and grew to be man and woman. The father died and naturally the two branches of the family drifted wider and wider apart until last week when the two brothers from Dothan came to visit their brother, Mr. Rackley, of Rosindale. After spending a few days there, the three came to Wilmington and the meeting with their sister was pathetic. All of the brothers served in the Civil War and have long passed the meridian of life. One of the number is a cripple from wounds in that deadly conflict between the States. The parting yesterday afternoon was none the less pathetic than the meeting, for Mrs. Cowles didn't even know before that she had two half-brothers in the distant State.

LEVY LOST A POLITICAL BET.

Interesting Story from Washington Concerning Well Known Travelling Man.

The Washington correspondents of several North Carolina papers sent out an interesting little story Sunday in which Emmet Levy, the well known travelling man, figured as the loser in a $10 bet with Jno. Y. Jordan, of Asheville, that the firm of Simmons, Pou & Ward, of which Senator Simmons was a member, received a $1,500 fee for defeating the London bill before the last Legislature and that Senator Simmons voted for prohibition in Baleigh. Levy and Jordan decided to settle the bet by telegraphing the Senator, who replied: "Levy's statement absolutely false, except that I voted for dispensary in Raleigh. Firm of Simmons, Pou & Ward dissolved January 1st, 1901."

In an explanatory letter Mr. Simnons wrote that neither himself, nor his law firm, received one cent or any sum to defeat the London bill, or to promote any other bill before the last General Assembly.

Pretty Little Romance in Connection With Daughters of Confederacy at Charleston.

CUPID AT HIS OLD PRANKS

Young South Carolinian Wins Pair Daughter of California, Who Had Gone to South Carolina a Delegate to the U. D. C. Convention.

A pretty little romance growing out of the recent general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Charleston, S. C., come to light in this city Sunday afternoon when Mr. Charlton Shannon Barrette, of Charleston, arrived in Wilmington and quite unexpectedly to the young lady's hosters, claimed as his bride Cal, who had been the guest of Miss Mary Meares, in this city, since the adjournment of the U. D. C. meeting ten days ago. Miss Clary and Mr. Barrette had been quietly married in Charleston but for reasons best known to themselves they had kept the af fair from their most intimate friends. Mrs. Barrette's friends here had hardly realized what had happened before the groom had claimed his own by virtue of the sacred marital ties, ordered a carriage and they were on their way to the A. C. L. depot for an extended bridal tour, postponed a while, perhaps, but robbed of none of its charm by reason of the delay. The young woman had played her part in the romance very cleverly. Under most difficult circumstances and with singular composure, she had remained "Miss Clary," while in fact. she was all the while Mrs. Barrette wife of a very fortunate young Carolinian.

Miss Clary was one of the visiting young ladies at L'Agile german Thursday night and by her charming per sonslity had attracted to herself many admirers from the younger society set, whose surprise and mild chagrin knew no bounds when it became known that she was Mrs. Barrette. Of the marriage yesterday's Charleston News and Courier said:

"A very pretty romance, culminaing in a most romantic marriage, has just been announced—one, perhaps, of several growing out of the meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy in Charleston ten days since. "Among the charming young ladies who attended the convention of the Daughters was one of California's sweetest and most graceful flowers, Miss Maybelle Clary, who was chape-roned by Mrs. Stephens, of Stock-ton, and Mrs. Alfred Hunter Voorhees, of San Francisco, president of the local chapter of U. D. C.'s. At the St. John's Hotel, where this party resided while here, Miss Clary met a young Carolina gentleman, Mr. Charlton Shannon Barrette, who is connected with the management of the hotel. They were almost constantly together, driving, walking, at receptions or at the hotel, where their friends noticed their devotion. The result was a quiet wedding at the residence of the Rev. John Kershaw, D D., which was witnessed only by the rector's family, to all of whom the groom has been well known from early childhood, Mr. Barrette being a native of Sumter County, where Dr. Kershaw resided for many years before his call to St. Michael's church, in this city.

"A few hours after the marriage Mrs. Barrette left for Wilmington, N. C., protesting that she must keep her engagement to visit her friend, Miss Meares. From this point she was to have gone to New York, then to Montgomery, Ala., with Mrs. Randolph, spending the winter in the East, but all of these carefully prepared plans have fallen through. Mr. Barrette joined his young bride in Wi mington yesterday and has taken her to his mother's home, near Bishopville, S. C., where they will remain a short while before taking their Southern tour or return-

"The bride is a daughter of Mr. W. H. Clary, of Stockton, California, a well known mine operator, who emigrated to the Pacific slope many year ago from Kentucky, and who still warmly clings to his Southern traditions and memories."

What may prove a contest of de olded warmth has developed over the postoffice at Mt. Airy, where Mr. Albright was nominated for reappointment by the President a few days since, writes a well known Washington correspondent.

"Beveral friends of Mr. Albright have signified their intention of being on the ground when the committee begins its investigations, and to-day friends of the postmaster gave similar warning. The active service of ex-Congressman Blackburn, at whose in stance Mr. Albright was originally given the office, have been enlisted and that gentleman has notified Senathe M. E. Church, South, will meet | Washington when the contest begins. There has been much reticence concerning the nature of the charges church, left last night to belpresent at against Mr. Albright, but to-day it was stated that one allegation would be that he carried produce in mail
