MESSENGERS' STRIKE.

Western Union Boys in Went Out for a Short While Yesterday Morning.

BUT THEY SOON RETURNED.

Kindly Offices of a Business Man Made Them View Situation More Calmly No Purpose to Substitute Negroes Here-Reduction.

The dissatisfaction among the twelve or fifteen messenger boys employed in the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. in this city, which was referred to in these columns yesterday as the result of an order from Richmond for a twenty-five per cent. reduction in their wages, cuiminated in a strike of short duration yesterday morning. Heretofore the messengers have been receiving two cents for each message delivered and two and a half cents for each one brought to the office. Now their pay has been out down to a cent and a half on all, both messages and calls.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning one of the boys refused to work longer for the decreased pay and when told by Manager Sale that he could go, the boy called the remainder of the messuger force out with him. Manager Sale then told the boys that the decrease was no work of his and he would prefer they would await a conference. which they did.

Mr. W. H. Sprunt, junior member of the firm of Alexander Sprunt & Son and one of the largest patrons of the Western Union, was then called in as mediator and he reluctantly acted in that capacity, however, making the boys a wholesome little talk by which they were much impressed. He told them he had no interest in the matter except his personal interest in the boys; that he was in nosympathy with the cut in their wages but their little strike would mean that many of them would be out of employment and that if they went back to work they could guit when they found more lucrative employment. After half an hour's delay the boy's returned to work at the reduced scale. Manager Sale expressed regret at the turn of affairs. He was, of course, only carrying out orders from his superintendent and could only place the rates in effect Dec. 1st, as he was instructed. He said he had no purpose to follow the policy of the Western Union managers in Richmond and Atlanta by hiring negro boys, even if they continued on their strike. Furthermore, in justification of the reduction he says that with the decrease a change was made which will give the boys from one hundred to two hundred messages a day which heretofore have been delivered by other means and for which the boys did not receive any pay. He believes this change will about offset the cut

Manager Sale says that an energetic boy can make from $30 to $30 a month, and that $15 is considered a low average. Last month one boy in the service made over $47. On the other hand, the boys claim they have to furnish their own wheels, keep them in repair, buy expensive uniforms and go out in all kinds of weather. Unless they can make above the average there is little profit left. They propose now to remain in ranks until they can make a trial of their possible income under the new order.

Man of a Tragic Career.

Mr. W. A. Farriss, who returned yesterday from Henderson where he attended the funeral of his brother-inlaw, Mr. Eugene Betts, who was the victim of a fatal Thanksgiving bunt, tells of the tragic career of Policeman Bob Crockett, the accidental discharge of whose gun caused young Mr. Betts' death. Mr. Farries says Policeman Crockett is a quiet, unassuming man and within the last two years, four persons have fallen a victim to his unintentional shooting. During the recent appearance of Gentry's show at Henderson Policeman Crockett, in attempting to arrest an unruly negro, accidentally shot and killed the negro and also a white by-stander, both having died in Rex hospital, Raleigh. Another time recently he was forced to shoot a man down on the streets of Henderson in self-defence. Mr. Farriss says no one ever took the killing of another man harder than did Mr. Crockett the shooting of Mr. Betts. He simply was born to have a tragic career and lately he's been having it.

With the possible exception of Savannah, the largest cargo of cotton ever cleared from a South Atlantic port for foreign shipment, according to local marine authorities, is aboard the splendid British steamer "Anglo Saxon," Capt. Herbert Perry, which will be aboard the "Pythian Flyer" will leave the compresses of Messra when it leaves at 6 o'clock that even-Alexander Sprunt & Son for Bremen. Germany, at daylight this morning. The cargo consists of 17,000 bales and is valued at one million and twenty thousand dollars. The clearance of the "Anglo-Saxon" places Wilmington at the head of the list of all competitive ports in size of the cargo and in the list of ports are Norfolk, Charleston and other cities, which boast of twice the commercial importonce of this point.

The next largest cargo which ever left Wilmington was aboard the British steamer "Almora," by the same consignors, on Oct. 4th, 1899, consisting of 16,600 bales. The third largest was on the "Hermiston" on Dec. 16th, 1902, consisting of 16,560 bales, but the value of none of them approached anything like that of the "Saxon." for on yesterday, when Messre. Sprunt & Son broke the record in the size of cargo, the record of cotton prices for many years was also broken by a phenomenal advance of from 65 to 75 points in New York futures on the promulgation of the Government crop estimate of 9,963,039 bales for this season.

The local market in Wilmington was unable to adjust itself during the day to the phenomenal conditions North and was quoted "nothing doing." The New York spot market, however, was quiet at 12.45 cents, an day's quotations. The "Anglo Saxon" and her genial, gentlemanly commander have been most cordially welcomed to Wilmington and, it is hoped, with a fair prospect of a speedy return.

The ship draws something over 20 feet of water and will proceed to sea at daylight this morning.
