GOOD LEADERSHIP.

The Democratic leadership at Washington is acting in a most level-headed manner. It displays prudence and statemanship, and if this course is kept up to the close of this session of Congress, the Democratic party will deserve the respect and confidence of the country.

The STAR speaks particularly with respect to the action of the Democratic canque, as recommended by the steering committee, in finally deciding not to offer any amendment to the Cuban reciproc-We notice that in the ity bill. that astute statesman. CARCES Gorman, expressed the Senator opinion that in view of the treaty already agreed to between the United States and Cubs, the best policy for Democratic Senators is not to offer any amendments. Senators Clay, Blackburn and Bailey agreed with him. Senstors Berry, Patterson and others, who fear possible detriment to the cane sugar industry of the Southwest, contended for the opposite course. The general trend of the discussion, however, was favorable to the view that the steering committee should be sustained, and oven the Senators favoring amendments agreed after the close of the convention that the anti-amendment policy had been practically decided upon shen the Berry amendment was voted down Those in the opposition did not ask for a vote upon the general proposition, but decided to accept the result on the one amendment as final. harmonious action by the Democratic party on this measure.

party is inconsistent and just pigheadedly opposing a Republican measure because of partisan blindness and folly in keeping up the "anti" policy that opposes anything and everything, good or bad, that has its origin on the Republican alda.

The responsibility for any bad resulta from Cuhan reciprocity will lie with the Republican administration and party, whose measure it is. Any henefits from it will be shared by the Democrats in voting for it with the reservation that it does not entirely suit them.

President Roosevelt, in his reciprocity message to the extra session of Congress, urged the measure not to much for what it would benefit Cuba, but for its effect in enlarging the trade of this country with Cuba. If reciprocity is to result benefiin the State Museum. cially to the trade of this country with the sister republic just to the south of us, there is every reason to believe that the South will have a arger proportionate share in the trade relations than any other portion of the United States trouble.

All Democrats as well as Republi cans are interested in seeing Roosevelt set aside as the Republican candidate for President.

The Brooklyn Rayle, which is not a Republican but a strong Demo cratic paper, declares that the propouttion of some Republicans to set Mr. Roosevelt aside is not decent. Some newspapers agree with the Eagle that its declaration is true.

The STAR takes an opposite view. lither the Republican or Democratic party has the right and would be justified in ignoring the ambitions damage. of any man whose policy would be detrimental to party interests. From a higher and more patriotic standpoint, any party would be justified in turning down a man whose rashness, lack of wisdom and want of statesmanship would be dangerous to the national interests. Just here is where Democrats are concerned in the selection of a Republican candidate, for the reason that in the event of his election it is vital that he should be a man who has the respect of all parties and should be a wise and safe man to be at the head of a great nation.

The Republicans, however, are not going to set Boesevelt aside. He diamember the troublesome causes. It has been given to funderstand that never fails to tone the stomach, regu-
