Every bill passed by the Legislature that deprives the people of the right of local self-government will prove a boomerang in the elections of 1906.

J. Pierpont Morgan gets credit for organizing a more binding harvester trust. Let President Roosewelt sow the whirlwind so the trust can reap it.

Representative Baker, of New York, is getting entirely too peralcious in rushing into the limelight. Too much glare will reveal his size if he keeps it up.

The municipal authorities of Philadelphia are engaged in a warfare against vice. It is not stated what caused such a serious rupture between them and vice.

There are reports of deficits in several postoffices in Hawaii, the amount at the Koloa office being $27,000. This confirms the statement that Hawaii has become thoroughly Americanized.

The Democrats in Congress make no beans of letting it be known that they will stand at the President's back if he really has any tools with which he can de-tentacle any hydraheaded octopus that is lying around leose.

Representative Winborne is level headed man; but he must have "looked sheepish" when he introduced his dog tax law. Possibly, he had overlooked the record of the North Carolina Solons on this question.

On Monday at midnight a watchmaker at Washington committed suicide by hanging himself in the kitchen. We will never be caught doing such a deed as that for fear we might get a roast for rashly cooking our goose on earth.
