SUIT AGAINST COAST LINE

Grista Truckers Refuse Settlement Offered by Armour and Seek to Recover From Railroad.

In behalf of the local truckers' association at Grists, a large strawberry shipping point in the Chadbourn section, Messrs. Rountree & Carr, attorneys of this city, yesterday instituted suit in New Hanover Superior Court against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co., for the recovery of $13,703.33 alleged losses by the failure of the transportation company to furnish adequate facilities for handling shipments tendered during the refrigerator car famine May 1st to 6th, inclusive. It will be remembered that a settlement with the Armour Line was effected through the general association of truckers for berries lost between May 1st and 4th inclusive but the local association of growers at Grists did not consider the rate agreed upon as a fair valuation and rejected it, preferring to bring the suit against the Coast Line rather than against a foreign corporation and because they also include the losses for the 5th and 6th, which were not included in the Armour settlement as proposed.

The summons in the suit was filed yesterday in the name of Daniel Heister, trustee, Mr. Heister being secretary of the local association of truckers. Those name all berries are shipped for association members at Grists. The number of crates alleged to have been lost by the several members of the association during the period named is 5,498, the amount sued for being intended to cover only those berries which were left on the platform and were not shipped at all. The losses alleged to have occurred on other days will come up for adjustment later.

The suit instituted yesterday will probably be tried at a Fall term of the court in this city. The truckers accepted the rate agreed upon by Armour and the truckers' committee, they do not feel justified in accepting the valuation proposed inasmuch as their berries were of superior quality and were being marketed at the time at the best prices.

TRUCKING TEST FARM

Board of Agriculture Said to Favor Retention at Location Near Willard.

MR. HUGH MACRAE'S LETTER

Inconsistencies and Evidence Regarding Committee's Dealing—Question Becoming an Interesting Complication in the State.

(Special Star Telegram.) Raleigh, N. C., July 8.—Commissioner S. L. Patterson, of the State Agricultural Department, said today he would call together a special committee from the Board within the next few days and settle definitely the question of the location of the Truck Test Farm. Speaking for himself, Mr. Patterson said that after going over the new farm at Willard carefully yesterday he is very much inclined to retain it. William Dunn, of Newbern, who was the other member of the committee at the Wallace conference, is also favorable to retaining the Willard farm. After talking with all members of the committee recently, I am of the opinion that all of them are inclined to prefer Willard especially on account of the type of the soil, as more representative of the whole trucking belt.

The very liberal offer made by Wilmington tempted them and they were desirous of getting the sense of the East Carolina truckers. For that purpose, they called the conference at Wallace. This conference, Commissioner Patterson says, really threw no light on the situation, the committee being practically a tie in that President Hill, of the Truckers' Association, as chairman of the executive committee, while he did not vote, really favored Willard, so that there were in reality three of the committeemen for Wilmington and three for Willard. In view of this situation, the State Board and special committee which has the matter in hand with power to act, do not feel that they were helped out of the dilemma at all by the Wallace conference. State Horticulturist Hume, under whose direction the farm is to be cultivated, is known to be decidedly in favor of the Willard place. It further develops that Wilmington parties really want more a "modern farm" an "experiment farm" and the State Board has provided to establish a purely experimental. This will be against Wilmington in the final disposition of the matter. It looks now like the farm will certainly remain at Willard unless there is yet more weight brought to bear on the Wilmington side of the balance.

Editor of the Star, Wilmington, N. C.—Gentlemen:—If in your opinion the information contained in the following letter should have a bearing on the location of the Test Farm, I should be glad to have you publish it. This is in no sense a personal matter, and I agree with Commissioner Patterson that it is unnecessary to attach importance to private views, but as Mr. Patterson has referred to the letter in a public meeting, and as the letter deals only with facts, it seems to me that it is absolutely the duty of the public to understand the situation. Wilmington should not be discredited in this matter either from a standpoint of quality of soil, or from the point of view of the reasonableness of the request for the location of the Test Farm here. Yours respectfully, HUGH MACRAE.

Wilmington, N. C., July 6, 1905. Hon. S. L. Patterson, Commissioner of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C. Dear Sir:—In considering all of the facts which have come before me during the past Winter and Spring in regard to the location of a Test Farm in the trucking region, I feel that through some cause or other, and the source unknown to me a very serious injustice has been done to the section around Wilmington, and to the group of citizens in Wilmington, who have been advocating the location of the farm here.

In the first case, because it has been frequently stated, and copied in newspapers in other parts of the State, that the land at Willard is absolutely sufficiently rich; and in the second case, because there has been an evident attempt to make it appear that the citizens of Wilmington were not in favor of someing which was unreasonable to expect at the hands of your Department. Knowing the facts to be quite the contrary in both cases, I feel that it is unfair for this impression to be allowed to exist, when your Department is in full possession of the facts, which I personally know have been furnished you, to absolutely controvert both of these points.

I am further forced to take this position because the Governor of the State was advised by your Department that he did not have the land at Willard, and he volunteered this information to the writer, coupled with the statement that he was given to understand by your Department that that was the only reason why the farm was not located here.

In placing the following facts before you, I will only make statement which can be proven by reliable witnesses. Mr. Hume first wrote to me, as I understood with the authority of the Committee, that the points were located in the selection: Land Accessibility, and Price.

PRICE.—In this direction, Wilmington has done far more than any other locality. They have offered 200 acres of land, which is worth not less than $15,000, and can be sold at that price for one-tenth of that sum, or $1,500, the County, City and individuals subscribing the difference. We have offered to Mr. Hume tracts of land of undepicted quality as a gift; and agreed further, where lands were not cleared, to clear and ditch them free of charge, so that they would be ready for cultivation. These latter tracts were turned down by him only because he said they were too uniform in quality of soil, and because he stated that the Farm should contain a variety of soils.

LOCATION.—As to location, anyone who will take a railroad map of North Carolina can see that the Garrett Farm is easily accessible to every part of the trucking belt, and is really the only place which is easily accessible to

The defendant's attorneys at once filed a motion for an appeal to the Supreme Court, which convenes in Raleigh in September. A bond of $40,000 was required which was immediately given, signed by Charles Dewey, E. B. Dewey, F. K. Borden and E. B. Borden, Jr., of Goldsboro.

AN EXCITING COLLAPSE

Section of Porch at Seashore Hotel Gave Way Precipitating Young People to Sands Below.

While a score or more young ladies and gentlemen attending the week end dance at the Seashore Hotel were closely grouped last night about 10 o'clock on the porch between the ball room and the dining room during a heavy thunder storm, the rain undermined the pilings under the piazza and a section of it, between ten and fifteen feet in length, gave way, precipitating the young people down the incline of the section which gave way a distance of six or eight feet to the sand below. Fortunately no one was hurt but for five or ten minutes the wildest excitement prevailed. Ladies and children screamed and fainted while men and boys hurried to and fro in confusion, seeking to ascertain the cause of the trouble.

Miss Tallulah DeRoset, Miss May Bell Sneed and Miss Thurber Gore, who were among the young ladies precipitated down the incline, suffered worst but neither of them was seriously hurt. Miss DeRoset and Miss Sneed fainted and were brought up unconscious but after attention by Dr. Thos. M. Green, of Wilmington, and a physician in the hotel, they were revived all right. Miss Gore suffered a slight fracture of the nose. Miss DeRoset and Miss Sneed after recovery from the faint were suffering so with nervous shock that they remained at the hotel during the night, but Miss Gore returned to the city on the late car. Mr. Louis Moore received a slight bruise of the leg in assisting with getting the ladies from the wreckage, but the others were unhurt. Among those who fell but were not hurt were Mrs. E. H. Sneed and Miss Nellie Robertson of Chapel Hill, a guest of Miss Sneed; Miss Charlotte Pennell, Mrs. W. T. Sears, Misses Bessie and Lillie Sears, Miss Edna Toomer, Messrs. J. F. Post, Jr., Louis Moore, S. C. Potts, A. P. Adrian, James Everett, Nellie Moore, Norwood Orrell and Louis Orrell.

On the porch when it gave way were a number of chairs and benches and they went down with the mass of lumber into the hole in the floor, making an ugly looking collapse. That more were injured is indeed fortunate. Manager Hinton and all the attaches of the hotel did all in their power for the injured ones and every thing possible to allay the excitement. The orchestra continued to play in the ballroom and very soon, when it was found that no one was seriously injured, the dance was resumed. A very heavy rainfall had just occurred when the collapse took place, the young people grouped in the passage way being there to keep out of the weather further out on the porch.
