Slocumb, of Fayetteville, was here yesterday. Mr. Jno. W. Thompson, of Raleigh, spent yesterday in the city. Miss Kate Boney is the guest of friends and relatives at Chadbourne. Messrs. J. M. Russell is in Charlotte attending the State Board of Medical Examiners, and the sessions of the North Carolina Medical Society. Southport Herald: "Miss Annie Price, of Wilmington, passed through here Sunday on her way to Suburb, where she will visit friends for a while."

Yesterday's Fayetteville Observer: "Mrs. C. C. Covington, of Wilmington, arrived in the city today, visiting her sisters, Mrs. T. H. Sutton and Mrs. D. H. Ray."

Miss Fannie Starr Mitchell left yesterday to attend the commencement at the State Normal in Greensboro. She will be a guest of her sister, Miss Mary Baldwin Mitchell.

Mr. W. A. Fowler, the popular travelling representative of the Keystone Type Foundry, Philadelphia, is here calling on the trade. Mr. Fowler is always a welcome visitor to Wilmington and his visit this time is no exception to the general rule.

Mr. J. T. Foy, of Scott's Hill, was here yesterday. He brings most discouraging news of the blight of crops by the drought in that section. Potatoes and beans, he said, are already ruined and field corn is withering up for the want of moisture.

Capt. John C. McLaughlin, one of Wadesboro's oldest and most honored citizens, died very suddenly Friday morning at 12:30 o'clock. He retired apparently in his usual health and the cause of his death is unknown. Deceased was for 28 years clerk of the Superior Court of Anson county, was one of the founders of the Wadesboro Presbyterian church, and was, until his death, one of its most faithful members.

REV. T. J. GATTIS DEAD.

End Came in Charlotte Early Yesterday Morning.

Charlotte, N. C., May 25.—Rev. Thomas Jefferson Gattis died at his home, 506 East Fifth street, this morning at 4:45 o'clock. Mr. Gattis had been in declining health for several months and his death was not unexpected. The funeral services will be conducted to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Tryon Street Methodist church. Mr. Gattis was 68 years of age and had been a member of the Methodist conference for 45 years. Surviving the deceased are a wife and seven children.

BRILLIANT FINALE

Concluded From First Page.

The Senior Brigade, won the second, a very pretty scarf pin, given by Victor E. Zoeller & Co. They came within two of selling the same number of tickets.

Children's Afternoon.

Children's Afternoon yesterday was a great success. The tots came from far and near and all of them had the time of their lives. Mrs. George P. Cotchett, Miss Margaret Gibson and Miss Wiswell were in charge and everything possible was done to contribute to the pleasure of the little folks. The prize in the Donkey contest, a handsome silver handled umbrella offered by Capt. Geo. W. Huggins, was won by Master Tom Pritchard and in the Buster Brown contest the prize, a handsome silver cup offered by J. T. Burke, the jeweller, was won by little Miss Nestle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nestle.

Cakes For Captains.

A pleasing little incident of the close of the bazaar was the presentation of handsome cakes, one each to Capt. J. J. Loughlin, of the Senior Brigade, and to Capt. Alonzo Burriss, of the Junior Brigade. Mrs. Martin had previously taken a collection among members of the two commands and they all contributed willingly to the compliment for their captains.

SUNDAY STAR TO-MORROW.

Interesting Instalment of Lowry History—Capt. Jno. N. Maffitt.

The instalment of the Henry Berry Lowrie History to be published in the Star to-morrow will deal with some of the most notable murders and robberies perpetrated by the famous outlaw band. The reader, from preceding chapters, has a general idea of the character, life and habits of these bandits who infested the southeastern section of the State just after the war, so hat accounts of the real outrages by the robber band will now possess unusual interest. The murder of James P. Barnes, J. Brantly Harriss, the latter growing out of the refusal of the Croats to work on the fortifications below Wilmington, the plundering of the houses of Mrs. Alexander Bullard, Mr. John McNair, Mr. Richard Townsend, Mr. Jackson Townsend, Mr. Henry Bullock, Jr., Mrs. Martha Ashley and others make up a chapter of the history this Sunday that will be found of real interest.

Another story of interest in the Sunday paper will be some reminiscences of the life and deeds of Capt. John Newland Maffitt, Confederate States Navy, by Mr. James Sprunt. Capt. Maffitt was "native and to the manor born" and in view of the prospective biography of the celebrated naval commander, by his widow, Mrs. Emma Martin Maffitt, these reminiscent sketches will be read with great interest.

In giving an account of the Children's Day services at Bladen Street M. E. church last Sunday, the name of Mrs. John A. Barnes was inadvertently omitted from the committee in charge of the arrangements. Mrs. Barnes was a faithful and untiring worker and much of the success of the exercises was due to her.
