There is no news of the kidnaping of Bryan, but since Hearst captured New York little has been heard of Nebraska.

There is a painful rivalry between Republicanism and Democracy as to who will shake most at the knees of the elected Governor of New York on the 6th of November.

On this day of howling against plutocracy we should state that if we were immensely wealthy we give advice right here that we will not be "predatory" or bust with contentment.

On fairy tales are produced now, a reviewer of books. That is a reflection on the fanciful picturesque yarns spun by the media to keep things quiet at home when they do not come in on the whole time.

The people of North Carolina will give the Republican party such a thrashing on the 6th of November that it will never again be so prestigious as to believe for an instant that Secretaries Taft and Shaw can come into this State and make boots of Tar Heels.

The Raleigh Evening Times queried when a pickpocket is arrested when he practically admits his guilt he shall be no prosecution, what has a magistrate to release him? No right at all. That would be a law compromise with villainy.

It is said that men sooner or later have to face and take a stand on the question of woman suffrage. There is no use for anybody to suspect that married men will oppose woman suffrage, because they might get women get to voting married men would be whipped out at the polls just the same as they are at present.

The New York dispatch on Thursday says some leading Democrats will be in one great movement and they expect to induce Mr. Hearst to abandon his attempts to rupture any wing of the Democratic party. It's a good experience shows us that the Democratic's various wings should be together when landslides are lying around loose.

It is said that the boycott of American manufactures by the Chinese has been organized by Tsi Ann's ball-bats. The Celestials buying home products instead of those made by "foreign devils." In that respect a Chinese boycott and an American boycott can agree that a boycott of China answers the same purpose as a tariff in America.

STATE FAIR CLOSED

Rain Seriously Interfered With All Departments of the Exhibits at Raleigh.

THE COTTON ASSOCIATION

New Schedule, Raleigh to Wilmington—Suit Against Trading Stamp Company—North Carolina Synod at Statesville.

(Special Star Correspondence.) Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 20.—President C. C. Moore, of the North Carolina Division of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association, held a conference today with members of the Board of Directors and determined to, for the next several months, devote their efforts to district rather than county organization. President Moore will go to central points in the North Carolina cotton belt and gather together the county officers in the adjacent counties for conference and carry on through them the work of education in the bringing of the rank and file of the cotton growers into the fullest possible co-operation in the work of the association. The first of these district meetings is to be held within the next week or two.

The marshals ball which formally closed the social features of the North Carolina State fair last night proved a most brilliant and successful affair. The special german figure during which the ceremony of presenting regalia on the part of the marshals to the young ladies of their choice for this special honor, took place about one o'clock and was a beautiful sight. The chief marshal, Mr. J. V. Blades, presented his regalia to Miss Nell Hinsdale, of this city. The ball was attended by at least four hundred people.

The rain the past week completely broke up the trials of speed that were to have been a usual feature of the State fair. When the rain was not actually falling the track was so heavy that it was impossible for the horses to be put on to any advantage. Tomorrow the Raleigh & Southport begins operating under its new schedule, which, with its close connection with the Atlantic Coast Line at Fayetteville, gives the quickest run between Raleigh and Wilmington yet known. The audience that heard Madame Nordica last night in the auditorium concluded on Page Six.)

IN FAMILY LIQUORS UNPROVOKED ATTACK MEETINGS CONTINUE

Morris Distilling Company Now Open On South Front Street—Fine Old Kentucky Product Being Handled By Wilmington House.

The Morris Distilling Company, which recently opened business at No. 6 South Front street, is already receiving a large patronage, both from in and out of the city, and has one of the prettiest and most complete family liquor stores in this section. Mr. Morris Bratzfelder is in charge of the sales department of the business outside of the city and Mr. G. P. Wahl has charge of the store. The stock carried consists of fine whiskeys direct from two registered distilleries of the Fifth District of Kentucky, and the firm well lays claim to having the whiskeys that uphold the reputation of the Blue Grass State. In addition they have a large stock of wines, cordials and everything else usually carried in the first class family liquor store. Everything is sold in original packages, no drinking is allowed on the premises and the store in every respect might be visited by ladies with impunity. The wholesale and retail trade is catered to and the company does quite a large business in out-of-town shipments.

Five men are on the road in the Carolinas, Virginia and Georgia and a large part of the product of the two Kentucky distilleries will be handled through the Wilmington house. The trade mark "Hygrade" is an indication of the quality of the goods put out and every order is guaranteed to be according to label. The "Indian Head" brand of whiskeys carried by the firm is strikingly emphasized in a large figure which forms a part of the window display on South Front street. The gentlemen in charge of the business are well and popularly known in Wilmington and are already doing a fine business.

Freight Yard Wreck.

On the lower yard of the Atlantic Coast Line about 3 o'clock yesterday morning a string of freight cars broke loose on one of the sidings next to the freight warehouse on Nutt street and a combination caboose and passenger car was thrown against the wall of the building with such violence as to wreck the car almost completely. The track was torn up for some little distance. The wreckage was cleared yesterday.

Mayor's Court Yesterday.

There were no cases of particular interest before the Mayor yesterday. Jno. Hart, a sailor, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was given 12 days on the county roads at the request of the captain of his hip who reported him a very disagreeable fellow. Mr. Rogers, of the firm of Rogers & Thomas, contractors, was charged with obstructing the street at a new building near Fourth and Chestnut streets. The case was left open for further information.

Cutting Affair in Onslow County An Outrageous Affair—Three Negroes Sentenced to Terms on New Hanover Roads.

Judge E. B. Jones, Solicitor Rodolph Duffy and Woodus Kellum, Esq., returned yesterday from Jacksonville, N. C., where they have been attending Onslow Superior Court. From them was received the first authentic account of the cutting of young Mr. Lee Kellum, a brother of Mr. Woodus Kellum, meagre particulars of which have been previously given.

It appears that some negroes had been tried in the court for assaulting a young white boy and his mother in the Kellum neighborhood of the county about 6 miles from Jacksonville and that the negroes were angry with Lee Kellum about his testimony in the case. At night as Mr. Woodus Kellum and his father in a buggy ahead. Mr. Lee Kellum and a cousin behind in another buggy, were returning home, six negroes in a wagon overtook them and asked to pass. The road was narrow and Mr. Kellum's father told them they could pass a little way down where he intended to stop for some fish he had bought. When the place was reached, the buggies turned out and as the negroes were passing in the wagon they fouled the buggy in which Mr. Lee Kellum and his cousin were riding. The negroes with an oath jumped out and said they wanted young Lee Kellum anyway and one of them held the horse while the others assaulted him in the buggy, cutting him seriously but not fatally. Later further down the road they assaulted a young man who had been sent for a doctor for the injured man. Four of the negroes were subsequently arrested and given immediate trial in Onslow court. Three of them were sentenced to 18 months each on the New Hanover chain gang and they will be brought here this week. The fourth did not leave the wagon and succeeded in getting off in that way. Two others have not yet been captured, but officers are in search of them.

Young Mr. Kellum was given surgical attention at the house where the cutting occurred but has since been removed to his home and is now doing very well. He will recover without a doubt unless some complications set in. The affair caused much excitement in the county and was pronounced by those who learned the circumstances a most outrageous occurrence.

Judge Jones and Solicitor Duffy are on their way to Clinton to attend Sampson Superior Court.

Three Services and Conference of Workers To-day at Revival Now in Progress at First Baptist Church—Strong Sermons.

The end of the second week of the great revival in progress at the First Baptist church sees no abatement of the interest in the services, which will no doubt be continued throughout the present week. Dr. Hamilton, the evangelist, is preaching with great power each day and not only are the unsaved being gathered into the fold, but the church is being built up and strengthened in many ways. Dr. Hamilton has won the hearts of all who have heard him and though there is nothing sensational about his pulpit utterances, he has the happy faculty of riveting the attention of his hearers and sending the truths straight home.

At the service last night, the congregation was necessarily not large on account of the weather, but those who were present heard an excellent sermon and there were several requests for prayer. The theme of the sermon was the picture of Jesus as He stood on the highway above Jerusalem, the text being found in the nineteenth chapter of Luke, a part of the 42nd verse: "If Thou Hadst Known." It was a strong appeal to the unsaved and to Christian men and women to re-dedicate themselves to the higher life.

The services to-day will be of especial interest to all. At 10 o'clock in the lecture room of the church there will be a prayer service and conference for Christian workers. At 11 o'clock, at 3:30 o'clock in connection with the Sunday School and again at 7:30 o'clock Dr. Hamilton will preach. All are invited to come early and occupy seats as near the front as possible so that the work of the ushers may be facilitated and the other members of the congregation may not be disturbed by those who come late. All Christian people are invited to come and take part in the services.

THE EAGLES' CARNIVAL.

One Big Week of It Beginning on November Nineteenth.

The committee in charge of the arrangement for the Eagles' Carnival to be given the week of November 19th, is succeeding very well indeed with all the preparations. The location will be on North Fourth street and the committee is satisfied that one of the best companies on the road has been secured to furnish the attractions. A big souvenir programme is being gotten out to advertise the event and the country contiguous to Wilmington will be worked to the end that the fair will bring a large number of visitors to the city for the week. It will not be a carnival of the every day sort, but will be away above the average and will be brought here directly from the North at some considerable expense. There will be a number of meritorious free attractions.

The Polvogt Co. will give two trading stamps for one this week.

NORTHEAST STORM

Second Disturbance Prevailed Off This Coast With Some Severity Yesterday.

LITTLE DAMAGE, HOWEVER

High Water at Wrightville But Trestle and Beach Property Safe Effects of Blow Probably Worst at Southport.

A northeast storm of considerable severity prevailed along this coast yesterday and a part of last night. While the gale was nothing like as severe as the storm of a few weeks ago, the tides ran almost as high and some little damage was done along the coast. It is feared that there have been many disasters to shipping though there were no reports of such up to last night. The maximum velocity of the wind did not exceed 38 miles an hour in Wilmington, but at Southport and at the beaches fifty miles an hour is unofficially reported. The course of the wind was such as to pile the tide up and at Wrightsville Sound it was almost as high as during the morning of the terrible storm which imperilled so many lives and did so much damage at the beach about a month ago. At Southport the tides were even higher but the wind was not so great. Comparatively little damage was done at the beaches, though at one time the Wrightsville trestle was threatened and not a few of the cottages on the narrow strip of land there were endangered.

The storm here was the passage of the tropical disturbance up the coast, continuing its northerly course with less severity. The storm centre is supposed to have been at sea somewhere off the coast else the effect would have been more disastrous on land. The maximum velocity of the wind was reached between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but was not sufficiently violent to do any damage. The rain was driven under roofs in some instances and numerous leaks were reported, but otherwise the city felt none of the ill effects of the blow.

The Storm at Southport.

The storm is reported as having been quite severe at Southport, all the harbor craft there passing up the river for a safer harbor where possible. Several of the fishing steamers also passed up from the fisheries at Old Brunswick as the wind and tide was quite high there. The tug Blanche left Southport about 10 o'clock and came up to the city towing the steamer Sea Gate to this port for a safer anchorage. The steamer Wilmington was due to leave at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Southport, but Capt. Harper and Capt. O. D. Burris having received advices from there that a part of her wharf had been carried away, it was decided to abandon the trip. The steamer will leave for Southport at 9:30 o'clock this morning and will return at 5 o'clock this afternoon, giving everybody an excellent opportunity of viewing the ravages of the storm. The following telegram was received from Southport last night:

Southport, N. C., Oct. 20.—What at one time threatened to be one of the most destructive storms that has visited our city in a number of years, struck Southport this morning about 3 o'clock. The prevailing wind from the northeast increased in velocity until about 10 o'clock, and every steam vessel in the harbor that possibly could, moved up the river for safer harbor. On account of the extreme high tides at this season from the wind blowing a direction that caused the tides to be even higher, considerable damage has been done to the water front property in the way of damaging wharves, breakwaters, etc.

No vessels are reported ashore up to this time, only the steam yacht Palm Beach, bound from New York to Palm Beach, that came into harbor Thursday to wait more favorable weather for her journey.

The Palm Beach, while endeavoring to reach Cove Creek in the marshes in the western end of the harbor, struck a rock and grounded. She is now in a precarious condition, and should the wind become more southerly, as is feared at this time, she will receive serious damage and probably become a total loss.

The wrecking tug Rescue with one barge and two pontoons, of the Merritt Chapman Wrecking Company, of Norfolk, here at work raising the fishing steamer Atlantic, are reported safe with no damage at present.

At Wrightsville Beach. Wilmington people were deeply interested in the storm news from Wrightsville Beach and there were many wild reports as to the trestle over the Sound having been carried over. Concluded on Page Six.)
