THE BEN GREET PLAYERS.

At Academy of Music To-night in "The Merchant of Venice."

Seats are now on sale for the production of "The Merchant of Venice" by the Ben Greet Company of Players at the Academy of Music to-night under the auspices of the North Carolina Sorosis for the benefit of the public library.

The object of the Ben Greet players in giving the plays of Shakespeare in what—for lack of a better term—is called the Elizabethan manner is not to demonstrate how the works were given during the poet's lifetime, but to act them, as far as possible, as they were written, as Shakespeare intended them to be acted, and to give the complete text of the plays.

Some 500 performances of Shakespeare's plays have been given in this manner in America by the company, and the pronounced success of the tour of the past season indicated a greatly increased desire on the part of the public as well as students, to see Shakespeare's plays for their own sake. In addition to the continued interest evinced by the leading colleges co-operation was received from the New York City Board of Education, the Boston School Committee, the Philadelphia Teachers' Association, and similar organizations who acknowledged the educational value and scope of the presentations in a manner not heretofore shown. This was particularly gratifying, since by these means the students of the schools were brought into closer touch with this conception of Shakespeare and it is the manager's wish to establish these performances on a permanent basis of co-operation with the schools as well as the universities of the country.

"THE LITTLE GRAY LADY."

Channing Pollock's Play at Academy of Music To-morrow Night.

Miss Helen Grantly in Channing Pollock's play "The Little Gray Lady," will be the offering at the Academy of Music to-morrow night and seats for the production go on sale at Plummer's this morning. Of Miss Grantly's appearance in Norfolk last week the Landmark, of that city says:

"Helen Grantly in Channing Pollock's play entitled 'The Little Gray Lady,' scored a hit at the Academy of Music last night.

"Miss Grantly, always good in whatever she attempts, was exceptionally clever last night in the role of Anna Gray.

"The play is a simple story of simple folk, is of a peculiar charm, and one which goes straight to the heart, and the manner in which it was presented by Miss Grantly and her company last night was clever to a fault.

"The reception to Miss Grantly was warm and generous, the gifted actress receiving several curtain calls."

Parker, pastor of Bladen Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

JUDGE O. P. MEARES

Legislature established the Criminal Court of New Hanover county and Judge Meares was called to preside over that important branch of the courts of the State. He held that position until the adoption of the new constitution in 1868. The new constitution did not provide for a criminal court and his office was terminated. He again turned to the practice of law and continued his career until again called to the bench by the re-establishment of the criminal court, serving with conspicuous ability for eight years. In 1865 the Legislature created the criminal circuit, composed of Mecklenburg and New Hanover counties, and he presided over that for twelve years. In 1895 the court was abolished but the courts held that the act was void and Judge Meares retained the position until the following year when the Fusionists and Republicans made the district vacant. Judge Meares served in the meantime by the appointment of Governor Carr, of North Carolina. Judge Meares resigned the position before the act went into effect and retired to private life with a consciousness of duty well performed for the period of about 25 years. His record as a judge was unblemished and he served the district and State with conspicuous dignity and ability.

He was married in 1850 to Miss Ann Elizabeth, the daughter of Dr. Thomas H. Write, of Wilmington, N. C.; Mrs. Ann Eliza Baltzer, wife of Mr. E. V. Baltzer, now residing in Savannah, Ga.; Mr. Oliver P. Meares, Jr., who resides in Baconton, Ga., and Miss Catherine G. Meares, who has been in these latter years his constant and devoted companion. All members of the family were with Judge Meares when he died except Mrs. Baltzer, who found it impossible to leave Savannah, on account of sickness of a little son, and Mr. O. P. Meares, Jr., who arrived last night. Mr. Walker Meares, a brother of the deceased, arrived Tuesday from Hartsville, S. C.

The funeral services of Judge Meares will be conducted this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from St. James' Episcopal church and the interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

THE ANSON LYNCHERS.

Supreme Court Renders Decision—The Seaboard Changes.

(Special Star Telegram.)
Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21.—The Supreme Court reverses the lower court in State vs. Lewis from Union county, so that it will be necessary now for Zeke Lewis to stand trial in Union county for participation in the lynching of J. V. Johnson of Wadesboro on May 28 last. The court holds that the force and effect of the statute against Lynching Laws of 1893 is not impaired by being split up in sections under appropriate headings in the revision, and that authority to try the case in Union is ample and it was an error to quash the bill at the former trial in either county.

The morning train which used to leave Charlotte at 4:45 and get to Hamlet at 7:40 will get to Hamlet in time to make the connections mentioned and leave as before at 7:50, reaching Wilmington at 12:35 noon. The train between Rutherfordton and Charlotte arriving at Charlotte in the morning and leaving in the afternoon, will be discontinued.

A NEEDED ENTERPRISE.

Typewriter and Typewriter Supply House With Repair Department.

A new and important enterprise which will soon be included in Wilmington's list of commercial enterprises will be a first class typewriter and typewriter supply house with repair department attached. The style of the firm is the "Typewriter Supply Company" and it will have headquarters at No. 205 1-2 Princess street. A professional repair man will be in charge of that department and the company will be in a position to make machines as good as new or almost right in its own shops. In the supply department will be carried the standard writing machines, and all necessary parts with supplies of ribbons, etc. The company will have a New York connection with one of the largest establishments in the country and will carry a full and complete line at all times and will cater not only to the city trade, but that in this territory.

The enterprise should be encouraged not alone because it will fill a long felt want but because a popular young Wilmingtonian is at the head of the enterprise—Mr. J. T. Runge. Mr. Runge will have charge of the business and will leave in a short time for New York to gain practical knowledge of writing machines in the factory and select a large and varied stock. The Star wishes him all possible success in the undertaking.

B. G. Caagna, receiving teller of the First National Bank of Cincinnati, was arrested last night by United States Marshal Lewis. It is alleged that Caagna is short $31,600 in his accounts.
