Says the Greensboro Record: "Money is tight," even if a man cannot get tight—a case where prohibition does not prohibit. This simply opens up the opportunity for the remark that when money is tight it does less talking, wherein it differs from a man when he is tight.

An exchange says: "Men are opposed to the slaughter of birds to get plumes, egrettes and feathers for the hats of women." They may hate to see the birds exterminated, but if a pretty girl were to ask him to join her the average man would go with her and chase humming birds all day.

The Charleston News and Courier declares its belief that even Hades may incorporate under the laws of New Jersey. Lots of folks would like to see New Jersey grant the charter with provision for the stock to be watered to such an extent that it will put a damper on any kind of confagration.

A story was sent out of Atlanta on Sunday alleging that "before leaving Atlanta for Birmingham, that afternoon, Grace George, the actress, found that a thief had taken from her a diamond ring and a diamond bracelet valued at $1,000." It is not stated whether this item was sent out by Atlanta's press agent or Grace's press agent.

"Is love getting to be a thing of the past?" asks a story writer. Not in Philadelphia. A girl in that city is sending her love to her sweetheart: "I send you as many kisses as Rockefeller has pennies." As Rockefeller is said to be worth a hundred million dollars or more, that fellow can go to using figures to find out how many pennies there are and thus ascertain that he has literally been smothered with kisses.

The panic in New York has served to again emphasize the fact that the United States have a monetary system that is totally inadequate and incomparable to that of European countries. A New York paper says that for forty years or more we have been doing business under a makeshift financial system, yet the G. O. P., which pretends to know it all, has been doing business at Washington and doesn't know anything more than when it was saddled with the crow.

WED AT ST. ANDREWS

Miss Katherine Shepard Kelly
Attractive Bride of Mr.
Paul Baker Bell.

PRETTY EVENING SERVICE

Church Thronged With Friends and Relatives of Popular Young People—Reception at Home of Bride's Parents.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Shepard Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John James Kelly, and Mr. Paul Baker Bell, formerly of Richmond, Va., but now of this city, yesterday evening at a quarter past six o'clock in Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church, is described as one of the prettiest ceremonies celebrated in Wilmington in several seasons. The church had been most attractively decorated with palms, ferns, potted plants and flowers, pink and white having been the prevailing colors, and the large auditorium was thronged with relatives and admiring friends of the young people to the marriage vows. Pink chrysanthemums and ribbons divided the aisles of the church and every detail of the arrangements was carried out perfectly and with delightful precision.

A wedding march from the large pipe organ in the church heralded the approach of the bridal party. Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Annie Kelly, while the bridesmaids were Miss Lucile Williams, of Kenansville, N. C., a cousin of the bride; Miss Sadie Denmark and Miss Annie Fonville, both of Wilmington. The groom was attended as best man by his friend, Mr. Alfred Fitzgerald Seiden, Jr., of Richmond, Va., while the groomsmen were Messrs. W. B. Drake, H. H. Elliott and A. R. Forbes, all of this city. The bride entered the church upon the arm of her uncle, Mr. Charles S. Southerland, immediately following other members of the party with the exception of the groom and his best man who entered from the Sunday School room and was joined by the bride at the altar, where the young people formed a graceful assembly. The words that made the bride and groom man and wife were impressively spoken by the pastor, Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D. It was a very pretty wedding picture and it was quite agreed by all in attendance that Wilmington has witnessed few ceremonies that were more charming to look upon. Mendelssohn's Wedding March served most fittingly to usher the party from the church, following which a brief reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, Third and Market streets.

The bride was charmingly attired in a visiting gown of violet chiffon broadcloth with hat and gloves to match. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor wore a lovely creation of cream silk trimmed with violet ribbon and lace and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums tied with white tulle. Miss Williams, of Kenansville, wore cream silk with lace trimmings and she carried pink chrysanthemums caught with tulle. Miss Denmark wore cream silk with lace trimmings, as also did Miss Fonville, while each carried bunches of pink chrysanthemums caught with tulle.

Following the brief reception at the home of the bride's parents where Mr. Bell and bride received the warmest felicitations of the large number assembled, they were accompanied to the station by members of the bridal party and the couple left on the 7 o'clock Atlantic Coast Line train for an extended bridal tour North, returning to this city where they have a great host of friends and where the groom has the position of superintendent of the Bradstreet mercantile agency. They have the very best wishes of a host of friends for their continued happiness and prosperity. Their popularity was evidenced by the large number of very handsome wedding gifts received.

Monday evening members of the bridal party were elegantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, Third and Market streets. Mr. and Mrs. Bell are among the most popular young people of the city. The groom is a young business man of parts and since his coming to Wilmington has impressed all with his gentlemanly bearing and his many fine traits of character. The bride is much loved in a wide circle of friends for her many charms of personality and manner. The wedding yesterday was one of much interest for a great many friends here and elsewhere throughout the State.

WACCAMAW TRIBE NO. 83

New Branch of Improved Order of Red Men Instituted at Wallace, N.
C., by Team From Wilmington—Charter List.

The fifty-odd members of the three tribes of Improved Order of Red Men in Wilmington, who went up to Wallace on a special coach attached to the northbound Atlantic Coast Line train Monday evening for the purpose of assisting Great Chief of Records W. Ben Goodwin and Great Council officers in this city in the institution of a new tribe of the order in that progressive town, returned yesterday morning enthusiastic over their trip. The new tribe will be known as Waccamaw No. 83 and it will start off with a charter membership of 73. These include among the best people of the town and the list of officers is first-class. The new tribe was instituted largely through the instrumentality of Mr. W. B. Brice, who connected himself with the order in this city and is a most enthusiastic Red Man.

The institution ceremonies took place in the Odd Fellows' Hall at Wallace and began immediately upon the arrival of the train there. The degree work and the raising up of the chiefs to their respective stumps required until after 12 o'clock at night and the Wallace Red Men served a fine collation in honor of the visitors. The three degrees were given in full and the work is spoken of as having been as pretty as was ever put on by a tribe in North Carolina. The team from Wilmington from the three tribes, Boyota, Cherokee and Laxipolka, was composed as follows: Sachem, H. A. Field; Senior Sagamore, J. Winberg; Junior Sagamore, C. Strunk; Prophet, W. H. Lane; First Sannap, L. Burris; Second Sannap, W. L. West; First Scout, W. L. Burkheimer; Second Scout, C. M. Pridgen; First Warrior, D. H. Brothers; Second Warrior, J. H. Davis; Third Warrior, W. C. Biggs; Fourth Warrior, C. T. Powell; First Brave, C. Skipper; Second Brave, W. M. Troutman; Third Brave, Martin VanOesen; Fourth Brave, W. F. Johnson; Guard of Wigwam, R. B. Fatch; Guard of Forest, George Hansley.

The order is now firmly established at Wallace and the Wilmington warriors, braves and chiefs will always welcome their brethren from the Duplin reservation.

INTEREST IS DEEPENING.

Violett Revivals at Tabernacle Being Largely Attended Still.
(Reported for the Star.)

Monday night Evangelist Violett spoke again to a house full of people and in his clear, forceful, eloquent earnest way preached the gospel in its simplicity. One was reminded of Paul on Mars Hill when he preached Christ to the ancient Athenians and brought conviction to many. Mr. Violett spoke on the all-important question: "What Must I Do to be Saved?" He said that man was dead in trespasses and sin but not in the sense in which the undertaker uses the term. But the man who is alive enough to walk into a saloon, pay 10 cents for a drink and go staggering home to abuse his family, was alive enough to go to church and hear the gospel and obey it. He said that he had no opinion of men to offer his hearers as to how to get religion but instead what God said man must do to secure pardon. That God no place promises to pardon man by the prayers of Christian men or the prayers of the sinner alone; that God demanded of men to do something. The scriptural requirements were to hear the Word or Gospel, Rom. 10:17. Believing the Gospel, Acts 16:31. Repent, Luke 10:3 and 5. Confess Christ, Mat. 10:32-33 and be baptized, Acts 2:38 and 10:48. He said these are the things God demands of men to be saved from past sins and then when one lives Godly in Christ he will be eternally saved. This is not man's way but God's way and one had better read his Bible and see whether these things are true before one gets angry with me. That won't help it for you to get mad.

The singing by Prof. Marks and the large chorus and congregation was inspiring. Mrs. Violett rendered that beautiful solo: "The Home of a Soul," in a most pleasing way. Come tonight to the Tabernacle, Seventh and Orange streets.

PENNY'S PANIC SALE.

"The Big Red Front" Inaugurates
Great Occasion This Morning.
The "panic sale" advertised so extensively by W. J. Penny & Co., in Sunday's papers will be inaugurated this morning at 9 o'clock and a season of rare bargains is promised. The sensational half hour sales begin from 9:30 to 10 A. M. today, when children's hose will be offered at two cents per pair with corresponding features each day during the week. The firm frankly admits that it "needs the money" and to realize upon the immense stock which has been bought for the Fall and Winter trade, this sale has been inaugurated. Remember the place—the sign of "The Big Red Front." There'll be no mistaking it if you follow the crowds.

ON TRANSPORTATION

Executive Committee of Truckers' Association Confer With Coast Line Officials.

QUESTION OF BERRY RATES

Alleged Discrimination in Favor of Tennessee Growers—Minimum
Car Load Shipment—Action is Deferred.

There was a full attendance of members of the Executive Committee of the East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers' Association for the conference here yesterday with Atlantic Coast Line officials in regard to transportation matters, especially with regard to an alleged discrimination in rates on strawberries in favor of the growers in Tennessee which was brought up and referred to the committee at the last annual meeting of the Association. While nothing definite was accomplished in correcting the alleged discrimination or reducing the minimum car load shipment of berries, the two important subjects which brought the committee together, it was stated after the conference that the way was paved for action later, and a future conference will be held to finally determine the questions at issue between the railroad company and the representatives of the growers.

Members of the committee present for the meeting were President William E. Springer, of Wilmington; J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn; W. L. Hill, of Warsaw; J. S. Westbrook, of Wallace, and J. A. Westbrook, of Mount Olive. There were also present Secretary Bauman, of the Association, and Editor Z. W. Whitcher, of the Truckers' Journal and author of the resolution at the annual meeting to investigate the alleged discrimination in rates. The committee met during the morning at the office of the Association and after carefully going over the situation from the standpoint of the grower, adjourned until 3 o'clock in the afternoon for a conference with President Emerson, of the Coast Line. Mr. Emerson, however, was unwell and the delegation was met by Second Vice President John R. Kenly and Freight Traffic Manager R. A. Brand. The railway officials neither admitted nor denied the alleged discrimination, stating that they were not sufficiently informed as to the Tennessee rates and asking the committee to furnish any figures that they might have gathered on the situation. A large number of averages from Tennessee points was desired and these the committee at the moment was not prepared to give, but signified their purpose to furnish all this data later. The whole matter was finally postponed until the committee can secure from the Interstate Commerce Commission the different schedule of charges from Tennessee and other basic points to New York. As soon as these figures are in hand the matter will again be presented to the railway officials.

The reduction of the car load minimum on strawberries from 250 crates to two layers deep in the car, regardless of the dimensions of the car, the truckers claiming that this is all that can be properly refrigerated anyway, was next taken up and discussed at length. No agreement was reached but the railway officials promised to take the matter under advisement and announce what decision they have reached at the postponed conference to hear further the matter of discrimination. The question of the minimum car load shipment of cantaloupes was deferred until the later conference.

In this connection the leading editorial in the issue of the Carolina Truckers' Journal, which will be issued today, will be of interest. The Journal takes a rather rosy view of the outlook for next year's crop and the results. July and August were ideal months for setting new plants while the seasons since that time have been bright and dry and as nearly ideal for clearing the original fields of all weeds and grasses of any kind. The vines never looked more clean or more promising for the season in the experience of the Journal. It states its belief that the next North Carolina berry crop will be fully up to the average of former seasons in point of quantity and very likely in quality. Here and there the Journal finds instances of strawberry fields plowed up and cotton planted instead but going to the next neighborhood the average is increased in about the same as it has been decreased elsewhere. The average the Journal does not think will be as large as 1906 when the season was not a success on account of the poor transportation facilities. Substantial improvements are predicted, however, in transportation for this year or the companies had as well get ready to pay for the losses. The Journal says that all talk of abandoning the strawberry industry in this section is premature. It has been profitable so long as the railroads properly handle the traffic. The railroads can now be made to perform their proper functions and the Journal thinks that the situation is altogether favorable to the grower.

Discussing the lettuce crop the Journal says the movement in a few days will reach solid car proportions; the acreage is about the same as last year but slightly smaller than the Spring crop. The Thanksgiving trade will be good and growers are getting in shape with some fine headed stock for that week. The shipments thus far have been well headed, clean, free from dirt and attractive. Growers are urged to ship no stock but that well headed, as any other kind is delivered in the worst condition and has to be kicked about as so much garbage.

MONUMENT TO MR. JACOBI

Movement Inaugurated by Winston-
Salem Odd Fellows to Honor
Memory of Wilmington Man.
A State Work.

(Special Star Telegram)

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 12.—At a regular meeting of Salem Lodge No. 36, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Winston, held tonight, a movement was started for the erection of a monument to the memory of the late Mr. Nathaniel Jacobi, father of the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home at Goldsboro.

Without a dissenting vote a resolution was passed by the lodge to contribute a sum of money toward the erection of the memorial. Mr. Jacobi died at his home in Wilmington last week, the burial being last Wednesday. He was not only the father of the Orphans' Home, one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the South, but was a most enthusiastic Odd Fellow and one of the most prominent business men of the State. The splendid work of the institution at Goldsboro is well known to all the least bit familiar with Odd Fellowship in North Carolina. The Home has grown from year to year and many homeless and friendless children have been taken in, cared for and equipped for life's service. The records made by the children from the institution have been enviable ones.

Several members of the lodge tonight made enthusiastic speeches in which they eulogized the life and character of the father of the Home. The following named were appointed as a committee to draft suitable resolutions regarding the action of the lodge and forward copies of them to the press of the State: Messrs. Eugene P. Albee, W. E. Beck, W. F. Keith, the latter being the first individual contributor to the monument fund.

REV. BYRON C. CLARK, D. D.

Installed as Pastor of First Presbyterian Church at Salisbury.

Many friends in this section of the State will be interested to know that on Sunday the Rev. Byron C. Clark, D. D., who was recently called from an important pastoral charge in Baltimore, was installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Salisbury. The services were largely attended and were participated in by Rev. C. M. Richards, D. D., of Statesville; Rev. J. M. Wharey, of Hickory; and Dr. W. J. Martin, of Davidson College.

Dr. Clark is a native North Carolinian, having been born at Clarkton, where he was reared. He was a member of a well-known Presbyterian family, and entered the ministry early in life. In 1893 he graduated from Princeton University with the degree of M. A. Two years ago the degree of D. D. was conferred upon him by Providence University of Providence, N. J., in recognition of his ability and fitness in his chosen profession. Dr. Clark was pastor of the Old Makemie Church at Accomac, Va., from 1893 to 1896, this being the oldest Presbyterian house of worship in America. Prior to his call to Salisbury he was for ten years pastor of Mt. Washington Presbyterian Church in Baltimore where he was eminently successful. He is a successor to the venerable Dr. Jethro Rumble, who was pastor of the Salisbury church for more than forty years.

KING STOCK COMPANY.

Best Bill of the Engagement at Academy Last Night.

The King Stock Company pleased an audience which was small last night on account of the inclemency of the weather but which should have been much larger if judged by the excellence of the production which all agreed was the best the company had given during its engagement here. The specialties between acts were splendid and the house was continually applauding.

Tonight the company gives as its farewell performance "David Garrick." This is said to be the best production of all those offered and a crowded house is expected. Seats are now on sale.

Stricken With Appendicitis.

The many friends of Mr. Ernest S. Bulluck in this city will regret to know that on yesterday it became necessary for him to go to the hospital of the University of Maryland in Baltimore where he is a medical student, for an operation for appendicitis. Dr. D. W. Bulluck, father of the young student, left last night to be with his son, though he did not expect to reach the hospital in time for the operation which was performed at once. Hundreds of friends here will hope that Mr. Bulluck's recovery will be swift and sure.

COMPANY IS SILENT

No Word or Intimation Yet From
The Water Works
People.

SAID THEY WILL DECLINE

Property Now Being Operated Under
What Might be Termed Trusteeship as Neither Side Claims Ownership.

Diligent inquiry in municipal circles yesterday revealed the fact that as yet the Clarendon Water Works Company has made no response to the city's amended offer of $140,000 for its plant in this city under the terms and conditions as outlined in the original proposition. Indeed, it is doubtful if a reply will be received today, as there is more or less difficulty in getting a full meeting of the stockholders which would be necessary in a trade of this kind. The impression is growing that the offer of the city will not be accepted as the company has all to gain and nothing to lose by adhering to its position that the property is already in possession of the city and bringing suit to enforce the sale. The amended proposition is a straight reduction of $15,000 on the property. With this amount of money and very much less, the case could be fought out in the courts and in the meantime the city would be estopped from laying a new system and the plant would suffer no deterioration in value on this account. Should the case be decided adversely to the company, there would still be a possibility of a sale with an incoming administration, and should the company gain its suit and force the sale upon the city, it would be in pocket the difference between the cost of the action and the $15,000 it is proposed to reduce the price.

But on the other hand the situation would invite some most interesting complications and all told, it is doubtful which policy would be the best for the company to pursue, looking at it from that point of view. It is stated, however, that the company has legal advice that the position in regard to the former sale is perfectly tenable and that the company's attorney would advise against the sale at the reduced consideration. In the meantime Superintendent Robertson is managing the affairs of the plant under some sort of a trusteeship. He is arranging personally to meet operating expenses and the business of the concern is being carried on just as if there was no controversy. Superintendent Robertson holds that he is in the employ of the city, but however the matter may be straightened out, the wages due would be a laborer's lien on the property and the plant will doubtless be managed until there is some kind of settlement.

BIG LOSS BY FIRE.

Capt. R. W. McKeithan, of Supply,
Brunswick County, Suffers.

News reached this city yesterday of the burning of the gin and saw mill of Capt. R. W. McKeithan, at Supply, Brunswick County, one day during the past week. The fire originated supposedly from a spark from the engine and the buildings burned fiercely, a turpentine distillery belonging to Capt. McKeithan and situated near, having been saved with great difficulty. Capt. McKeithan's loss is about $3,000 against which he had not one cent of insurance. There were also burned in the conflagration about thirty bales of cotton belonging to Capt. McKeithan and other parties who had brought the staple to the plant to be ginned. The loss falls very heavily on the owner as he has several times suffered by fire within recent years and his many friends in this city extended sympathy upon his visit to Wilmington this week.

Another severe loss by fire in the country during the week was the store and general merchandise stock of Messrs. Boggs & Pender, at Gum Branch, near Jacksonville. Their loss is also several thousand dollars with not one cent of insurance. They have a number of Wilmington business connections and the news of their loss was received with great regret by friends here.

ACCEPTS GROZET PASTORATE

Rev. Mr. King to Preach in Virginia
Baptist Church.

(Special to the Times-Dispatch.)
Crozet, Va., Nov. 9.—Rev. A. T. King, of Wilmington, N. C., M. A. of Richmond College, and full graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, has accepted a call from the First Baptist Church here, to begin his pastorate at once. He has served the Memorial Baptist Church, Richmond, Va., two years. Mr. King is now taking a medical course at the University of Virginia preparatory to taking work in a foreign mission field. He will fill the pulpit of the First Baptist Church here, but continue his studies at the university.
