NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.) New York, Nov. 12.—The impression not abroad in the stock market today that the kind of operations which began to make themselves felt yesterday were approved by the conservative financial powers, whose letters are all bent at the present time to the mending of the situation. There was a continuance of the small ventures on margin which came into note yesterday. This left the market uncertain and especially unsupported. There was a disposition to bring into question in a comprehensive way the effect on earning power of corporations and probable dividend payments of the set back to trade which must follow the financial entanglements. Reports from various quarters of reduction of operating forces by factories furnished food for the dissonance. It has been remarked also that an upward movement in prices of securities leads to an early discontinuance of any present portion of the investment demand for small lots of stocks, which has been so influential a factor in the absorption and definite removal from the market of a floating supply of securities. The demand for currency reflected some additional urgency early in the day but the devaluation of currency again stimulated an easing of the strain. The reported failure of one of the larger banks in Portland, Oregon, came late in the day and helped to keep prices down to the end. Bonds were irregular. Total sales per value $3,488,000. United States 2s declined 1/2 cent on call. Total sales of stocks today were 419,300 shares.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.) New York, Nov. 12.—After a higher opening, the cotton market became weak and unsettled during today's trading with the close easy at a net decline of 8 to 15 points. Sales were estimated at 275,000 bales. The market opened firm at an advance of 11 to 15 points on covering by shorts and fell support which was encouraged by better cables than expected, and the firmness in the Liverpool spot market, but bullish private advices from English houses, and cold weather in the belt. There was good selling from the start, however, and after an irregular morning, the market broke sharply during the afternoon on reports that cotton was beginning to arrive here in delivery on December contracts and rumors of unfavorable conditions on Wall Street. The close was practically the lowest level of the year. Private wires from Boston claim that 10,000 factory hands have been shown out of employment in New England recently owing to slackness. It was reported that 100 bales of cotton arrived here from New York on contract and there are persistent rumors of large shipments in the direction from the South. On the other hand 5,000 bales have been withdrawn from the local stock for export so far this month and it is reported that freight room for 10,000 bales has already engaged. Receipts at the ports today 70,157 bales against 85,335 last week and 20,115 bales last year. For the week 360,000 bales against 363,976 last week and 412,341 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 18,042 bales against 21,541 last year. Spot cotton closed steady 10 points higher, middling uplands 10.80; middling 10.55; sales 1,100 bales. Futures opened firm and closed

As an Incentive to Save

what could be more persuasive than a pretty woman—a fiancée, for instance? Women are pretty good savers themselves, at times, and they appreciate the man who provides for future rainy days by saving when the sun shines. This is probably a hint to YOU. If you are not now saving, get the habit. Our Bank affords you every facility and offers you every inducement.
