per bushel.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.) this fact prompted some covering of lars 47. shorts put out during the decline. Hence the midday rally in the market. There was some recurrence of liquidation late in the day. The distinctly easier tone of the call money market in the last day or two does not serve as assurance against such exigencies on the occasion of the maturity of time loans. The whole problem of maturities of outstanding loans obligations offers somewhat formidable possibilities for specclative confecture, especially in view of the conviction that nearly universal indulgence has been shown during the period of practical paralysis of credit from which business has suffered.

The ultimate outcome when the mainess body begins to feel the cur mats of life circulate again and when in consequence liquidation must be re newed, is the subject of solicitude The development of the day which was least liked was the renewed ris in the premium on currency and the resulting signs of disorder in the foreign exchange market. The post ponement of dividend action on the Atlantic Coast Line stock caused some special weakness in the South ern group. The calling in of loans by the banks, which ran the call loan rate up to 15 per cent. was attribu ted in some quarters to preparations by the banks for subscriptions to the United States Treasury certificates The effect was to weaken the whole market again.

Bonds kere irregular. Total sales par value $3,722,000. United States 3: declined 3-4 and the 4s one per cent on call. Total sales 465,000 shares.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.) New York, Nov. 20.-The cotton market was quiet today but ruled gen erally steady, closing at a net ad-Vance of 7 to 12 points. Sales were estimated at 175,000 bales. The market opened firm at an advance of 12 to 15 points on higher Liverpool cables, bullish private estimates of crop and reports that wet weather in the central was damaging unpicked cot ton. SIN OF THE STREETS.

Young Criminals In the Making and New York's Juvenile Court. A day spent in New York's children's court will never be forgotten. Here all the youthful offenders are tried. Into this court crowds more of human interest than in any other court in the world. Before its bar is constantly passing a great procession of human incongruities, scenes vibrant with pathos and humor, for both pathos and humor consist in the perception of incongruities. It is the sins of the parents and the sins of the living conditions that the overcrowded city forces on its children that here stand out most strikingly. The real culprit is more often the delinquent parent than the delinquent child. The sight of a child trotting to a saloon two or three times a day, pail in hand, to procure the family supply of beer-a familiar one in a great city-impeaches Small wonder that the child's moral perceptions are obliterated and his instincts perverted in such surroundings. It is in the streets, the vice sown streets, that the child learns to gamble, to swear, to steal. He cannot help it. He must employ the ways of his companions if he is to survive among

An Almanac of 1500 Shows the Dutch Putting at Holes.

England did not borrow golf originally from France, but from Holland, whence the Scots used to buy balls, if not clubs, till a crushing duty was placed on Dutch golf balls.

Indeed, there is abundant evidence, including that of Froissart, to prove that the Scots got everything from Holland ready made in exchange for raw materials.

However it was managed, we got golf balls from Holland and adopted This was the most brilliant invention of the Batavian genius.

All continental people played at an iron hoop or at a fixed object like the pin in croquet, but an illuminated almanac of about 1500 shows that in the Low Countries players already putted at holes.

The other kind of game, driving with hammer headed clubs and lofting through an iron ring instead of putting at the hole, reached England from France in the sixteenth century, but died out after the revolution of 1688. It is still played in the neighborhood of Montpellier and in a rude fashion, with a queer iron headed club, in the north of France.-London News.

Belle of Virginia Rye deserves its name, and the name is certainly one of distinction and old-time aristocracy. It's a whiskey we are proud of on account of its purity and high quality and its hosts of admiring friends who will drink nothing else. Belle of Virginia is a blend-a scientific, uniform blend of pure, old goods. It's a whiskey with a flavor, and a fine, invigorating after-effect long to be remembered by those who drink it. Try it and you will make no mistake.
