

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Winston Journal: It is rumored here that Mr. R. Don Laws, editor and proprietor of The Yellow Jacket, published at Moravian Falls, has bargained for property here and will move his plant here at an early date.

—Winston Sentinel: Ex-Governor R. B. Glenn will leave Friday for a two months' lecturing tour through the South. He will speak in Charlotte that night and on Sunday will fill three pulpits in Knoxville, Tenn.

—Newbern Sun: The reporter was informed today by one of our prominent seed dealers, that there is one of the greatest demands for seed Irish potatoes known in Newbern in many years. It seems that the desired stock vanished from the market all of a sudden, and the farmers are given rush orders for the seed.

—People's Paper: Mr. Ben. J. Council, of Watauga county, appears to have unusual success as a sheep raiser. He reports he has 10 ewes that have 23 lambs. One ewe has four lambs, the others have two and three. By and by when the dogs get among the flock Mr. Council won't have as many sheep as he now has.

—Evening Post: Hinton Rowan Helper, was for years a resident of Salisbury, and a man of great ability. Mr. Helper while living here wrote a book, "The Impending Critics," in which he predicted the civil war. This community was so outraged by the views of the author, who wrote his book in the house on East Innis street now occupied by Captain Richard Eames, that he was compelled to leave the town.

—Lincolnton News: Mr. Lawson A. Dellinger, of Iron Station, spent several days last week with his son, Mr. R. H. Dellinger. While here Mr. R. H. Dellinger had his commission as first lieutenant in the Confederate army framed and placed in Memorial Hall. The commission bears the signature of Z. B. Vance, Governor, and was carried through the war. It bears blood stains from a wound that the owner received at the battle of Gettysburg.

—Concord Tribune: A certain Cabarrus farmer was in the city today, having brought to market his 1907 crop of cotton consisting of 14 bales. It is said to be the finest lot of staple that has been brought to this city in a number of years, grading as strict good middling. On January 21st, 1908, the seller was offered 12 3/4 cents a pound for it, but refused, holding for a higher price. The staple was sold today at 9 1/2 cents, the seller sustaining a net loss of $17.50 per bale, or in the neighborhood of $245 on the entire lot.

—Salisbury Post: Rich Wilson alias Thompson, a bad negro, was arrested here yesterday and taken to Hamlet this morning by the chief of police of that place. The negro has been evading the officers for four months running in and out of Salisbury and Spartanburg, S. C. The crime for which Wilson was arrested was committed at Gibson, five miles from Hamlet, last November. A posse went after the negro and he opened fire on them shooting Policeman Livingston and blazing away upon five other officers who were in pursuit.

—Wadesboro Messenger: J. W. Beachum, Esq., one of Lanesboro township's oldest and best known citizens, spent Tuesday in Wadesboro, and while here remarked to a representative of the Messenger and Intelligence that he served as juror at a term of Anson county criminal court in March 1851, 58 years ago. He was then 21 years of age and remembers the circumstances well, as he was called out and fined for not being present when court opened. Later a gentleman, who was better acquainted with public affairs than Uncle Jerry at that time got the Judge to remit the fine, charging for his service a glass of grog. Mr. Beachum says that Judge Strange, of Wilmington, presided over the court.

—Asheboro, March 11.—Jonah Yow, a young white man of Cedar Falls, was found dead by the roadside a few yards from his home Wednesday morning. His death is surrounded with mystery. The young man was found with a bullet wound in his forehead, the ball passing through his skull. He was 18 years old and is survived by a young wife. The young man was at his father's house a short time before 9 o'clock Tuesday night, and seemed to be in fine spirits, it is not thought that he met death at his own hand. If so no cause can be assigned for the rash act. Foul play was suspected and the sheriff and coroner were notified and an investigation was made this morning. After examining several witnesses the sheriff turned the body over to relatives, finding that the young man died by his own hand.

—Winston Journal: One of the most important cases to come before Wilkes court is that of Freeland Tharpe charged with secret assault upon, with intent to kill, Miss Mary Ball, a popular young lady of Elkin. This assault was committed, it will be remembered, last August at the home of Mr. Hoots, in the lower section of the county. Miss Ball, who was teaching in the family of Mr. Hoots, had made the acquaintance of young Tharpe and he had fallen in love with her and been rejected by her. In a jealous rage, he lay in wait for her one Sunday evening as she was returning from church and shot her the ball going entirely through her body within one inch of her heart. The life of the young lady was despaired of, but she miraculously lived and is now appearing against the young man in court. The defense is pleading insanity. The prominence of the families makes the case a very interesting one.
