The subscription price of the WEEKLY STAR is as follows: Single Copy 1 year, postage paid, $1.50; 6 months, $1.00; 3 months, $0.50. Clubs of 10 or more subscribers, one year, $12.50 per copy, strictly in advance.

No Club Rates for a period less than a year.

At the above prices the WEEKLY STAR is, we think, the cheapest paper in the State, and its circulation will be doubled in twelve months, if those who have worked for its success in the past will increase their efforts in the future.

The meeting of the Trustees of the University of North Carolina came to a close on Wednesday. The news states that there was much enthusiasm in the Board and entire confidence of success. A scheme of re-organization was adopted, and a committee was appointed to solicit contributions from the alumni and other friends of education in the State and elsewhere for the revival of the institution. The doors will be opened for pupils on the first Wednesday in September. A Faculty will be elected the 10th of June next, when the Board will reconvene for that purpose. Before adjourning, the Board agreed to borrow $5,000, to be used immediately in repairs of the college buildings and professors' houses, and showed their faith in the success of the University by signing their names as sureties on the note.

The publication of this good news will inspire with new courage the friends of higher education, throughout our borders, and even beyond the bounds of the old Commonwealth will be the cause of much rejoicing. Now let the people heartily back the endeavors of the Board of Trustees. With proper encouragement the efforts now making must surely culminate in a splendid success. There is greater necessity now than ever in the South for progress in education, and we feel that whatever previous shortcomings there may have been, the people will now respond with alacrity to the calls so urgently made by our leading minds and so demonstrably necessary to our physical as well as mental condition if we would improve our pace in the general forward march. Let the case be cogently presented at every opportunity.

SOME OF OUR NORTHERN EXCHANGES, not having the fear of the President, before their eyes, are sanely making suggestions to that functionary as to how he should proceed in the event of trouble in New Hampshire, when the Legislature meets next month. The Philadelphia Times says the banditti are organizing among the Granite hills. That wide-awake newspaper briefly explains the situation. At the election in March last, which looked like an immense Administration victory the first day, and two days afterwards developed into an inconsequential skirmish, which only served to show the desperation of the Administration leaders and the indisposition of the party to fight under their command, the result on the Legislature was so close as to leave its complexion a matter which has not even yet been cleared. Under the township plan of representation, each town in the State elects one member, and when its population is beyond a certain figure two members. Many towns which are not entitled to an additional representative this year voted for one, and there are forty members of the Legislature more than ever before, many of whom are not entitled to seats, but who will all appear and claim them. Again, under the laws of the State, the clerk of the last House, who in this case is a Democrat, has the exclusive right to decide what towns are entitled to one or two members as the case may be, in other words he is a whole Louisiana Returning Board in himself. Now, both parties claim to have a legal majority, and the Democratic clerk asserts that he will seat one of his party, while the Republicans declare that if he does, they will forcibly seize the House. The question, after all, is a serious one, and it is further complicated by the evenness of the Senate, two counties having failed to elect, and the declaration by the Democrats of a purpose to throw out the votes cast for a Republican candidate, whose Christian name, Nathaniel, was spelled "Natt" on his ballots.

Now we do not apprehend anything like a coup d'etat growing out of this affair, for the Grant party got enough of that in Louisiana, and we imagine those solid old Franklin Pierce Democrats feel as little disposed to get up a State House riot as the Republicans. But there is one little suggestion we could make to Grant, if he wishes to Sheridanize New Hampshire he will have to send after Pigeon Phil. He can't make a janitary out of W. S. Hancock, who commands that Department.

SOME NEW SOUTHERN POETRY.

One of the best known inhabitants of our Southern Parnassus is Paul H. Hayne. For years he has sung of the scenes, the loves, the hopes, the worth of this sunland of the South. And he has chanted the praises of beauty every where, through book and press. Mr. Hayne will issue during this month, through E. J. Hale & Son, of New York, a new work entitled "The Mountain and the Lovers, with Poems of Nature and Tradition." The volume will contain some quite original features in its delineations of life and scenery in the pine lands of Georgia, a field that has hitherto been comparatively unworked. Some of the contents of the volume appeared first in the Atlantic Monthly, where they attracted marked attention.

We hope that the work may find many purchasers. Only by buying the books of our authors can we hope to build up a substantial literary fame for the South.

MR. WILSON HUNTING FOR THE PRESIDENT.

The Vice President is hot after the Republican nomination for the Presidency. Recently he has engaged extensively in letter-writing (that fatal blunder of so many politicians) and interviewing. He has also had some conversations with the President, who does not seem to be forcibly impressed by Mr. Wilson's views. Sphinx-like, Grant will not give a hint of his intentions further than to let Mr. Wilson know that his plan of still further employing the powerful machinery of government patronage to restore the fortunes of the Republican party could not be entertained. We suspect this was said to discredit Wilson. It is pretty evident Grant will tax this machinery to the full extent of its capacity in electing himself or whoever he chooses to have nominated.

Finding that the President is not to be advised, Mr. Wilson opens his mouth and speaks a little piece on any occasion that offers. In the first place he acquiesces President Grant of being responsible for the losses in the recent elections, and that it will also be his fault if the party is not rallied for the spirited joint and general contests during the present and next year. He says that the office-holding power in this country is becoming too great, in fact, but little less than a ruling class, but the people are beginning to discover this, in fact have discovered it already and are on the verge of open revolt.

that is, through the ballots, and are clearly bent upon breaking down this encroachment upon their freedom of action. For this reason the Vice President says he is opposed to the election of a President for a third term; that while Grant has made a safe President he should not be elected to a third term. He believes that there is a project on foot to renounce the President. He thinks this movement is encouraged by Conkling and several other Senators, who look to their own interests solely by withholding a large share of the immense patronage of the government to the accomplishment of their own ends. He thinks that they deserve the condemnation of the party for fostering these pernicious political doctrines. The Vice President thinks that the President has been extremely unwise in harboring any such inclinations as a candidacy for a third term, and should make haste to correct the party already done by making an open and formal declaration of a determination not to be a candidate for a third term. This the Vice President thinks would thoroughly reunite the party and would ensure a restoration of its former ascendancy in the political scale.

All of these expressions show that Henry Wilson is not by any means a third-termer. We think they also establish a clear case of President-seeking on the part of the venerable cobbler-statesman of Natick. There are many slips between the cup and the lip, but we do not think we will be far mistaken in our prediction that if things get no worse for Grant than they are he will receive the nomination of the office-holders' convention and be beaten by the electoral vote and the people. There is hardly the ghost of a chance for Mr. Wilson, or any other man not in love with the President, to get the nomination.

REVENUE MATTERS.

It is stated that revelations have been made recently which show great corruption and inefficiency in the management of the internal revenue of the country. A Washington dispatch says that for six weeks the President and the Secretary of the Treasury have been conducting with the utmost secrecy an investigation into the methods of the manufacture and sale of distilled spirits. This investigation has been superintended by Secretary Bristow in person, and by the most trusted confidential special agents in the service. Secretary Bristow's frequent visits to New York have had reference to the inquiry. The basis of the investigation has been the remarkable fact that high wines can be purchased in open market in New York and New Orleans for considerably less than the cost of production, including the government tax. This fact has excited the surprise of the President and Secretary Bristow, and they determined to discover the cause. On account of the great mystery in which the investigation is involved the exact situation cannot be stated, but it is positively known that both the President and Secretary Bristow are convinced that there has been an immense system of illicit distillation. This is for the most part confined to Western distillers.

Which whiskey has become so common that the special detectives report that it is regularly known among dealers as "extra." The following order recently made by a large house to a Western distillery firm is probably a sample of many others: "Send us a good many extras; we can make use of more of them." Two of the special agents charged with this inquiry have made full reports upon this subject. The result of their inquiries is summarized in what precedes. It is not unlikely that a further result will be numerous removals in the service, adds the correspondent from whom we have borrowed this statement. It appears that the deposed Commissioner is not connected with these developments even by the remotest indirection.

General Spinner concedes that Mecklenburg, N. C., was the first to proclaim the independence of the States. It certainly looks as if Gen. Spinner was right. "Courier-Journal."

Gov. Hendricks is to be at Charlotte on the occasion of the Centennial. Hendricks would make a grand Centennial candidate for the Presidency. And he would be elected.

WHAT AN ARMY WOULD MAKE OF US.

We copy from the Petersburg Express from the Proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday, held at adjourned meeting. The report of the Auditing Committee was submitted, approved, and ordered upon the minutes. The salary of the County Attorney was fixed at $400 per annum. It was ordered that the Finance Committee report at the next meeting of the Board as to the disposal to be made of the papers from Fender county, now in the New Hanover Poor House, and report. The Poor Committee were instructed to take immediate steps for the discharge of the County Poor House and Hospital of such paupers as in these institutions as can properly be removed and discharged and to report at the next meeting of the Board the names of all miners now in those institutions, that they may be dealt out according to law.

It was ordered that the Chairman take such steps as may think proper to obtain possession of the missing criminal docket of the Superior Court, and all other property belonging to the county of New Hanover which were under the control and in the possession of James C. Mann, late Clerk of the Superior Court of New Hanover county. After which the Board adjourned.

Terrible.

Mr. Wm. R. Terry, of Rockingham, requests us to say that he was not a candidate, especially a Republican candidate, for the Mayoralty of that city at the recent election. Well, William, we cheerfully give you the benefit of this correction. "While the lamp holds out to burn," you know, William!

The Springfield Republican, the foremost journal in New England, in closing an article on the Mecklenburg Centennial, remarks: "The North Carolinians have a good record in the Revolution to recall, and we hope they will have a first class celebration." Thank you, that is our intention. The preparations are going on handsomely, and we hope to greet hundreds of our thousands of our Northern friends, North Carolina's Centennial of Independence is theirs as well.

HESTER KICKED OUT.

That superlative sneak and gad-fly, J. G. Hester, has been dismissed the service of the Department of Justice by the new Attorney General, Pierpont, though he commenced well!

According to a Washington correspondent Hester says he was dismissed, not because he did anything wrong, but that he informed the Attorney General that he intended to publish a book entitled "The Wandering Jew in America," which is an inside history of the Credit Mobilier frauds and other celebrated national fraudulent and corrupt cases. He also intends to show up the whole system of manufacturing Ku Klux outrages, White League murders, &c., and in fact let daylight into the whole Southern outrage factory, the headquarters of which is under (not in) the Department of Justice. He fancies that his book will create a stir, and if he publishes all he knows in regard to these cases it will beyond the probability of a doubt. He says that after he gets his book out he will remain in Washington and practise law. He don't like the idea of returning to the South, as the Force bill did not pass.

The election of Hon. B. H. Hill to Congress in the Ninth Georgia District to fill the seat of Hon. Garnett McMillan is highly acceptable to the country. Mr. Hill is one of the great men of the land, and will be felt in the larger field to which he goes. He has long been a man of high in Georgia.

In this time of comparative quiet the news of the appalling accident near Bishop's Hook, on the south coast of England, falls like the first stroke of an alarm bell falls on the ear on a still night. Two hundred lives gone out! These marine accidents are truly fearful.

Spirits Turpentine.

Mr. F. Busbee has been chosen City Attorney of Raleigh. Raleigh has arranged quite an elaborate programme for Memorial Day. Judge Kerr being the Centennial orator, there will be no Duplin Court until the second week.

W. G. Galt has been putting a beautiful symbolic flag for the Steam Rescue Fire Co. of Raleigh. Elected in LaGrange Monday: Mayor—G. G. Grady, Commissioners—Dr. J. M. Hadley, D. C. Hutchinson, J. J. Haden, J. B. Hendrix, and J. B. Hendrix.

Whitaker's Mill elected H. V. Whitaker Mayor and J. P. Elliott, Alex. Hillman and M. C. Whitaker Commissioners—all Democrats. As the orphanage situated recently in Tarboro by some of the orphans for the Asylum about $1000 and other contributions were realized.

Eagle: Mr. J. Armstrong, aged 63, a resident of Gaston county, was thrown from a horse and killed. He was returning from Dallas to his home. Rev. A. W. Mangum has been invited to deliver the address before the Greensboro Female College at the commencement on the 1st Tuesday in June.

A son of Gen. D. H. Hill is dangerously ill in Baltimore. The General and his wife left Charlotte for his bedside Tuesday evening and write that he is better. Dr. Tucker, who shot Col. Robt. Hamilton, in Henderson a few months ago, was tried at the last term of Orange Superior Court and fined $500.

Hon. Joseph J. Davis, of Louisville, has consented to deliver the commencement address at the Wilson College Institute on the 28th of June, says the Advertiser. Rev. Robby Mount elected Mayor, Dr. R. C. Tillery, Commissioners, W. L. Tillery, Jno. D. Battle, Benjamin Dunn, Jno. P. Tillery and G. W. Smith—all Democratic Conservatives. The case of John C. Powell, indicted for the murder of Mr. Cohen, has been removed from Edgecombe to Halifax and set for trial next Thursday. The trial of John Williams has been continued till next week. The following was the ticket voted for and elected at Raleigh Monday, For Mayor—G. G. Whitaker, For Commissioners—John T. Gregory, H. J. Stallings, F. A. Newbury, F. E. Register, W. J. Carroll. Greensboro Patriot: We understand that Col. Buford has signified to Gov. Brogden his intention to begin the change of gauge on the North Carolina coast at Greensboro. This is perhaps the shortest way to test the validity of the recent legislative enactment.

The suit of sundry persons vs. the Scotland Neck and Weldon, N. C., Transportation Company, will probably be taken up at the North Carolina Court of Appeals, Portsmouth, before which tribunal it has been moved. At the election held on Monday in Weldon, the following were elected a Board of Commissioners for the town of Weldon for the ensuing year: J. C. Eason, T. L. Enry, L. P. G. M. Ransom, J. C. Eason, Jesse Lanier, J. W. Nunn, J. C. Eason.

The Tarboro Board of Commissioners will consist of Messrs. Jesse A. Williamson, Jacob Feldenhimer, Frederick Phillips, Daniel W. Hurt, Alex. McComb and Joseph Cobb; the four first named being Democratic Conservatives, which will ensure a decided victory majority. Mr. W. F. Hatfield, one of the editors of the Wadesboro Argus writes for that paper over his signature of "Breedsome" an interesting article on the funeral of the great Calhoun which he witnessed. Of the pall-bearers only Jefferson Davis and Abram W. Venable remain, both loved honors.

Concerning the death of Hon. Jas. T. Morehead, Sr., announced in the Star yesterday, we have the following additional particulars from the Greensboro Patriot: He returned from Rockingham county about 2 o'clock P. M., Monday, complaining of chills, cast his valve and went home, and took remedies. The following morning the chills were very severe, followed by fever. During the day the chills continued, and he died at 10 o'clock P. M. He reached his 70th year on the 11th of last January, and in his time was one of the first men of his native State. He was an able lawyer, a prudent thinker, a deep student of the Bible, and a devotee of public truth known to himself and with benefit to his State.
